DISTEMPER EPIDEMIC KILLS 30 SPCA DOGS

Highly contagious distemper of near-epidemic proportions has hit dogs of this area, SPCA inspector Edward Heywood said today.

At the SPCA kennels alone more than 30 dogs had to be destroyed within the last week.

Symptoms are general listlessness and loss of appetite by dogs affected.

The inspector urged all dog owners to get their animals inoculated. Without inoculation, distemper often kills.

The disease is not infectious for humans.

Grey Cup Jinks Hit Vancouver

Traffic Snarled as City Welcomes Montreal Majorettes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fifteen high-stepping majorettes from Montreal snarled morning traffic today as they twirled their way through downtown Vancouver streets.

The girls, part of the Montreal Alouette contingent attending the Grey Cup festivities, arrived as Vancouver swung into step with the celebration.

Trucks, buses and cars ground to a quiet halt as the majorettes marched from the CPR station to their hotel.

Nancy Roland, Miss Alouette in the Miss Grey Cup contest, held her usual spot in the ranks of the majorettes. (See page 3.)

Also aboard the train bringing the majorettes to Vancouver was Miss Edmonton Eskimo—Barbara Beddome, 18.

Loudly dressed Montreal and Edmonton fans were first to pile off the train and be greeted with cheers from the near-thousand spectators gathered at the station.

Miss Eskimo, 36-25-36, was wearing a full-length white nylon parka. Miss Alouette, by contrast, was wearing her official costume of a short white skirt and red majorette jacket.

PIG STEALS SHOW

Majorettes arrived with a mascot—a young pig—in tow. The pig, Miss Ella Wetta, stole the show momentarily as it snuggled in Miss Alouette's arms.

A close Edmonton victory over Montreal was predicted by Miss Eskimo. Miss Alouette made no comment.

J. C. Carrique, chairman of the Montreal football council and in charge of special events and the band, arrived with the 15 girls. Mrs. Carrique is head chaperone of the group.

The majorettes performed at all major stops on the way out.

Mayor Fred Hume, scheduled to be at the reception, did not appear. A desk set, sent by Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal to be presented at the station, was held for presentation later.

TORONTO (CP)—As far as Bill Earley is concerned, put your money on Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup classic.

FANS LINE UP ALL NIGHT FOR GRID TICKETS

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—Some 3,500 standing-room tickets to Saturday's Grey Cup game were on sale here today, and several hundred die-hard football fans stood up in an all-night downpour to buy them. At dawn the queue was more than a block long.

Several fans brought folding chairs to wait out the night, while others played cards to pass the time.

Everybody In Act on Cup Weather

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forecasters from one side of the continent to the other have been calling the signals for Grey Cup day weather.

"It won't be too unpleasant," said the public weather office forecaster here.

From Washington, D.C., a long-range weatherman said "almost no chance of fog."

In Montreal, a businessman with an interest in such things says it looks like rain Saturday.

Bernard Power, vice-president of a rain-making company, expects two minor storms to affect Vancouver for the rest of the week.

A watery snowshower fell on the coast city Tuesday and more rain mixed with snow was predicted Tuesday night.

Light winds are expected Saturday with the temperature in the high 30s or low 40s.

Communist Kicked Out Of Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (UP)—France today kicked the leader of the outlawed Communist party out of Morocco.

Police nabbed party secretary General Ali Yata when he got off a plane at Casablanca airport Tuesday night while demonstrators roamed the streets of the great port city they shut down with a general strike.

Yata was held overnight in the airport police station and authorities put him back aboard a plane this morning for France. He has been barred from Morocco since 1952.

Violence was widespread in the protectorate. French troops and planes battled a punitive expedition by extreme nationalists

Political Parley

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower today called Republican national chairman Leonard W. Hall to a political conference here Nov. 28. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the president wants to talk to Hall about "matters dealing with the Republican party."

'Hot-Rod' Bandit

WHO IS TEACHING WHOM?

That might well be the question at Sir James Douglas elementary school today as substitute teacher Mrs. J. McCammon substitutes for regular teacher in grade five where own daughter Eileen studies (above)—then has talk with Eileen's usual teacher, Miss Marlene Vance, on progress of daughter's work. City-wide project saw thousands of parents visiting schools today. (Times photo.)

Men 'Cherry-Picked' Off Radar Tower

BOSTON (UP)—A sea-going tug arrived here today with a cheering group of air force officers and technicians who were marooned six days aboard a storm-lashed Texas tower radar island, the nation's first offshore radar warning station.

The men had gone to the steel island-on-legs last Thursday for a "brief" inspection trip. The storm marooned them till Tuesday.

Transfer of the men for the Texas tower to the tug turned out to be a slick piece of seamanship. Heavy seas Tuesday made it rugged for the lumbering vessel.

The marooned men were lifted by crane from the "deck" of the triangle-shaped tower and set on the heaving El Sol, where even experienced seamen had difficulty keeping their footing.

They were transferred six at a time in a specially-constructed basket. A big, grinning New Yorker, Tom Barrett, swung the crane with the accuracy of a man threading a needle to the deck of the El Sol.

Several times the basket overturned, spilling the occupants to the deck, but there were no injuries. Tug captain Patrick Carlough of Seattle said that it was "a pretty tricky operation."

Three Quit Campbell River Commission

Up-Island Town Lacks Government

CAMPBELL RIVER — Jack W. Baikie, chairman of the Campbell River village commission, today followed the lead of two other commissioners and resigned his post because a firm with which he is connected did business with the village.

On Tuesday, Commissioners Sidney Waterfield and Carl Thulin resigned, saying they were "being unjustly accused of irregularities." Their firms also dealt with the village, it was charged here.

They could be held liable for heavy penalties.

Mr. Baikie resigned, fearing disqualification because of dealings of Baikie Lumber Co. with the village.

NO GOVERNMENT

The mass resignation has left the village without a government, since the two remaining commissioners, John Lambie and Charles Granholm, do not constitute a quorum.

Department of municipal affairs officials have not yet made a decision on immediate administration of the village because they have not received Mr. Baikie's resignation, nor have they checked on the commission seats that would be open in the normal course of events in the December elections.

The two-year terms of Mr. Waterfield and Mr. Thulin were due to expire in December, and elections would be held to fill their seats. Mr. Baikie had another year to serve.

Disqualified office holders face heavy penalties if the corporation or any ratepayer brings suit. Under the Municipal Act, he can be fined $2,500 if the court finds they were conducting dealings with themselves, and can be fined $50 per day for every day they sit or vote as a member of the commission after having disqualified themselves.

The matter was discussed on Tuesday night at a well-attended meeting in the village hall when commissioner John Lambie discussed the situation.

CAST VOTES

He said the two commissioners had voted Aug. 8 as members of the finance committee for payment of village accounts to private firms. They called for payment of $477.68 to Van-Isle Logging Equipment Co. Ltd., of which Mr. Waterfield is a partner, and Pioneer Hardware, of which Mr. Thulin is a partner.

It is understood Mr. Baikie's resignation followed a meeting Tuesday with J. E. Brown, deputy municipal affairs minister.

Mr. Lambie said he also had conferred with Mr. Brown, and had been instructed to "give them the works."

CHIEF DEAD

Chief of Oak Bay Fire Department for over 17 years, Edward G. Clayards died at his home today. Mr. Clayards had been chief of the department since it was organized in 1938. (See story Page 21.)

Nurse Acquitted On Drug Count

LILLOOET (CP)—Joyce Babcock, 29, was acquitted Tuesday in County Court of a charge of illegal possession of narcotics.

Trial of the nurse, formerly on the staff of Lillooet Hospital, lasted five days, two days of which were taken up by argument over the admission of two signed confessions, said by police to have been made by the accused at the time of her arrest.

The prosecution conceded the confessions had been obtained while she was being held on a charge of vagrancy, and that she was later charged with illegal possession.

Drugs missing from the hospital dispensary were found buried in a sawdust bin in the hospital furnace room.

Judge Henry Castillou ruled there was insufficient evidence to convict Miss Babcock.

Austria Wins Soccer

WREXHAM, Wales (AP)—Austria defeated Wales 2-1 today in an international soccer game.

Foreign Office Probes Action Against Britons

LONDON (UP)—Chinese Communist troops seized two British mountain climbers and their Sherpa guide high in the Himalayas along the Nepal-Tibet border, the expedition's sponsors reported today.

The foreign office confirmed that it has ordered urgent inquiries into the fate of the three men.

Their capture was reported in the Liverpool Daily Post, co-sponsor of the Himalayan expedition with the Mountaineering Club of North Wales.

HELD SINCE OCT. 22

An emergency dispatch from the remaining four members of the party reported the three were seized Oct. 22 near Urai Langa pass on the largely uncharted Tibetan-Nepalese border, the paper said.

Tibet is claimed by Red China as an "autonomous region." Red Chinese troops occupy the relatively inaccessible nation.

The foreign office said it has asked the governments of Nepal and neighboring India for information on the arrests.

15-Year-Old Girl 19th Polio Case

City health authorities today announced the 19th case of polio in the Victoria-Esquimalt area this year.

Admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital Tuesday was a 15-year-old Esquimalt girl. This brings to almost 40 the number of cases admitted in 1955 by the hospital, treatment centre for all of Vancouver Island.

ABANDON HOPE FOR 24 MEN ON FREIGHTER

BOSTON (UP)—Hope was abandoned for 24 crew men today when a Coastguard plane failed to spot any trace of the Liberian freighter Daytona, which has been missing three days in the stormy Atlantic.

Soviet Chiefs Get Big Hand At Bombay

BOMBAY (Reuters) — Huge crowds today raised thunderous cheers as Soviet Premier Bulganin and Russia's Communist party chief, Nikita Khrushchev, arrived by air for a two-day visit during their tour of India.

Thousands of children, waving Soviet and Indian flags, threw flowers at the Russians, and a flock of white doves was released over the airport.

Bulganin inspected a guard of honor provided by the Indian navy and mounted a platform where Indian officials made welcoming speeches. The Soviet premier replied by extending to the people of Bombay "the friendly and warm greetings from the people of the Soviet Union."

CROWD SHOUTS SLOGANS

Throughout the welcoming ceremony, the crowd kept shouting slogans for Indian-Soviet friendship.

The scenes were similar to those upon the Russian leaders' arrival in New Delhi last Friday, and contrasted with violence in Bombay only two days ago.

That city was the scene of riots Sunday and Monday. Twelve persons were killed and 250 injured as Communists and other left-wing groups demonstrated against government proposals to divide Bombay state into three parts.

State of Siege Nears In Brazilian Crisis

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Provisional President Nereu Ramos Tuesday night asked congress to declare a state of siege—modified martial law—throughout Brazil.

In a message delivered to the lawmakers as the country apparently weathered its second grave political crisis in two days, Ramos asked that the state of siege be set for a 30-day period — the maximum allowed by the constitution.

The message was read first to the Chamber of Deputies and then sent to the Senate. Although such declarations are limited to 30 days each, Congress can extend state-of-siege laws indefinitely.

The provisional president's request came just a day after Joao Cafe Filho precipitated the latest crisis by attempting to end his sick leave and return to the presidency.

His demands for reinstatement in a message to Congress Monday night were met by prompt military action. The army under Gen. Henrique Lott, war minister in the provisional cabinet which was installed in a coup last week, seized control of the capital.

SUPPORT RAMOS

Both houses of Congress then passed a formal resolution rejecting Cafe's claim that he could resume presidential functions. The resolution said Cafe's leave of absence could be ended only by congressional decision.

In a joint statement Tuesday night, the army, navy and air force ministers pledged their backing to Ramos and said the "armed forces maintain their firm decision to assure the public tranquility and stability of the regime."

Israel Premier Sick

TEL AVIV (UP) — Israeli Premier David Ben Gurion was confined to his bed at the President Hotel in Jerusalem today with influenza.

City Tug, Tow Battle Through Gale, Blizzard

The Victoria tug Sudbury, towing the Greek freighter Makedonia, fought her way through a blizzard and easterly gale overnight in the Bering Sea, and early this morning cleared Unimak Strait. Tug and tow are now in the north Pacific, headed for Vancouver.

Capt. Harley Blagborne of Sudbury reported to the owners, Island Tug & Barge, by radiophone that the blizzard was "a real dandy." He did not give wind velocity.

Despite adverse winds, the tow is averaging six knots, because temporary repairs are enabling Makedonia to turn her damaged propeller slowly. If all goes well, Vancouver will be reached in about 10 days.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS

Compromise Urged

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—India today urged the Arab nations to accept a compromise which would eliminate UN debate on the touchy Algerian question and bring France back into the general assembly.

Pope 'Bronzed, Fit'

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (UP)—Pope Pius XIII, looking bronzed and fit, made his first public appearance today since the announcement of his vision of Christ, but he did not refer to it in his cheerful conversation with pilgrims.

Byrne, MP, in Hospital

KIMBERLEY, B.C. (BUP)—James Byrne, Liberal MP for South Kootenay, is in hospital here awaiting an emergency operation. Nature of his illness was not revealed but it is believed his condition is not serious.

Attlee Quits Soon?

WINNIPEG (CP)—George Darling, Labor member of the British House of Commons, said Tuesday night Labor party leader Clement Attlee will be replaced "within a few weeks."

Temperatures To Dip But Snow Unlikely

A storm immediately off the B.C. coast is drawing cold Arctic air from the mainland to launch a "minor league" cold snap, weatherman William Mackie said today.

"We are heading for lower temperatures, but nothing like the cold spell that started Nov. 11," he said.

He expects precipitation tonight, with some snow mixed with rain early Thursday morning. Precipitation on higher levels will be snow, he said, adding that "it's too warm here—40 degrees—for snow."

Snow was reported today at Port Alberni, Campbell River, Comox, and Nanaimo.

Temperature range tonight and Thursday will be from 28 to 38 degrees, Mr. Mackie said.

PROMOTIONS BRING CONGRATULATIONS

Esquimalt Force Gets Corporals For First Time

Esquimalt police force will include the rank of corporal for the first time in its history, starting January 1.

Two senior constables were promoted to the new rank at a special ceremony Tuesday night in which police commissioner Elvan Walters pinned corporal's stripes on James Owens and Arthur Burton.

Need of the rank, to supplement constables and a force sergeant, has grown over the past four years, during which time size of the department has increased more than 200 per cent.

New ranks which will initially be those of "acting corporal" replace the former system of classifying senior constables as "grade A."

There are now 10 men, who double as firemen, under direction of Chief Constable Gilbert Stancombe.

TRAINED MEN

At the same ceremony nine constables were presented by Mr. Walters and Reeve A. C. Wurtele with certificates. They qualified as trained policemen in a basic training course offered by the municipality last summer.

Offered for the first time and presented by former provincial police inspector, Richard Harvey, the course included four subjects—evidence, statutes and by-laws, elementary criminal law, and police force procedure and duties.

Average mark for the program, which ran from July 12 to Aug. 15, was 78 per cent.

Insp. Harvey told the men: "I was more than pleased with the effort you put into your courses. I hope that the board of police commissioners will see that you continue to get training."

SUGGESTIONS WELCOME

Chairman of the ceremony, police commissioner Frank Mitchell, invited more suggestions for improvment of the department.

Constables who received certificates were: Arthur Burton, James Owens, William Dawson, Robert Pringle, Bryan Sweeney, Robert Duncan, James Mayzes, Kenneth Hatherley and Archie Browning.

Const. F. W. Wenden of Central Saanich police also took the course and will receive his certificate probably at the next meeting of Central Saanich police commissioners.

Reeve Wurtele announced a new constable will be hired Dec. 1 to replace George W. Newton, who has resigned. Peter Doherty was chosen from 27 candidates for the job.

EX-BIG LEAGUER DIES

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Danny Murphy, 79, a major league baseball player in the early days of this century, died Tuesday. Murphy, in the majors for 16 seasons, was a second baseman originally and later switched to the outfield.

THIRD TRAFFIC LANES FOR HILLS ON MALAHAT

All upgrades on the Malahat will have a third lane to accommodate slow-moving traffic, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said Tuesday.

Mr. Gaglardi told R. B. Wilson and William J. Clark of the Victoria Automobile Club the slow lanes will be similar to that now in use on Suicide Corner at Goldstream.

"It's the policy of this department to provide three lanes on every upgrade in the province," the minister said.

New British Car Uses 'Direct Drive'

By STANLEY GODFREY

LONDON (AP) — The new "wonder" car developed by Harry Ferguson has set Britain dreaming of a way out of her sagging position in the world's car export rankings — even though details of the car are secret.

Government, industrial and military officials are said to be excited over the new auto.

Harry Ferguson is the tractor magnate whose patent battles with Ford Motor Co. won him $9,000,000 in infringement costs.

Reported to be completely new in concept, the Ferguson car is said in British press accounts to threaten to revolutionize the auto-making industry.

SELL FOR $1,300

Already four big motor manufacturers are said to be courting Ferguson for a share in mass producing the new auto which does away with conventional brakes, gear box, clutch and transmission.

Government experts who have watched a military version of the car on exhaustive tests are reported convinced it is the biggest advance in military transport since the first tank lumbered over the top in Flanders in the First World War.

So far no details of the new auto have been made public—but a number of "leaks" over the last few days has enabled the following picture to be pieced together.

One report said the car could be built to sell for about $1,300.

The secret of the new car is a large pressure chamber pumping out hydraulic fluid to drive—and brake—all four wheels by small turbines and to operate the independent suspension system and other power units.

The engine is merely a subsidiary of this hydraulic system. It could be carried on a trailer hooked behind the car and linked to it with a single oil pressure cable.

The motor is close-coupled to the hydraulic pump, which compresses oil in a pressure chamber.

From this chamber, high pressure oil jets are taken to small turbines which drive all four wheels through short, flexible couplings.

Braking is effected by a simple, two-way valve. When the brake pedal is depressed, the power jet is directed to the reverse side of the turbine to produce an even stopping pressure on all four wheels.

COULD BE WORLD BEATER

The engine and pressure chamber are under the rear passenger seat, giving improved road holding characteristics.

Last weekend Sir Miles Thomas, boss of the state-owned British Overseas Airways Corporation, joined Ferguson as a top sales and production director with full government blessing.

"Mr. Ferguson's car could give us a world beating lead in motor exports," he told newspaper men.

Bookie Jury Questioned

VANCOUVER (CP) — An RCMP investigating team, looking into charges of corruption in the Vancouver police force, has been interviewing jury members of the 1951-52 bookmaking conspiracy trial who acquitted the 26 suspects.

The former jury members—10 men and two women — disclosed here Tuesday they were questioned by the four-man team as to whether they took bribes or favors.

They said the investigators asked them:

"Did you take a bribe or favor or present from anyone while serving as juryman."

"Did you notice anyone—any stranger—trying to influence members of the jury?"

ASSISTS PROBE

In another development, Det.-Sgt. Archie Plummer, one of the city's top detectives, has been assigned to assist the Tupper royal commission in its wide-scale inquiry into all phases of the 750-man police department.

The royal commission, headed by city lawyer Reginald T. Tupper, was appointed last June and the oft-postponed hearings were indefinitely adjourned more than a month ago.

Mr. Tupper said he is awaiting a report of the special RCMP squad he assigned to the case shortly after the hearings began. Sgt. Plummer was a witness in the hearings and also headed the investigation which launched the 22-day bookmaking trial in 1952.

Jewish Couple Hides Catholic Foster Daughter

BOSTON (AP)—Should four-year-old Hildy McCoy, born a Roman Catholic, be taken from her foster parents because they are Jewish?

That question was on the calendar in Massachusetts Supreme Court lay as Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. Ellis legally began a new effort to keep Hildy.

For nearly five months the Ellises have been in hiding to avoid complying with a lower court order to surrender the child. Whether they would appear in court and risk arrest remained problematical until the last moment.

A week ago a New York Post reporter quoted Ellis as saying: "There's fear hanging over us all the time. We feel hunted and haunted."

Today's action was based on a petition by the Ellises for a high court review of proceedings in Norfolk county probate court, where the Ellises last June were ordered to surrender Hildy to the Catholic charitable bureau in Boston.

At the heart of the matter is the Massachusetts adoption law which requires that, "where practicable," a probate judge must give a child in adoption only to foster-parents of the same religious faith.

BORN OUT OF WEDLOCK

Feb. 23, 1951, Hildy was born out of wedlock in a Boston hospital. When her mother was discharged from the hospital—March 5—she signed an adoption petition. Her story is that she did not know the identity of the adopting couple. The Ellises say she did.

In any case, Hildy went to live with the Ellises in a Boston suburb when she was 10 days old. She has lived with them ever since.

The mother says she learned for the first time in late March, 1951, that her child had not gone to a Catholic home. She moved to revoke the adoption.

In September, 1953, Judge James F. Reynolds in Norfolk probate court nullified the adoption. The Ellises appealed and finally, last February, the full bench upheld Judge Reynolds' action.

The Ellises quickly sought a stay of execution, offering to bring up Hildy in the Catholic faith. Judge Reynolds ordered them to surrender Hildy within 48 hours.

But the Ellises still did not comply with the order. They disappeared, and the court ordered their arrest. Recently, in an effort to bring Hildy before it, the court appointed a state detective as the child's temporary guardian. But Hildy remained hidden.

Tongay Says His Cancer Was Ignored

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP) —Russell Tongay said Friday he is dying of cancer and will fight extradition proceedings "to the limit."

"I'm desperate," Tongay said. "They gave me the run-around in Florida and wouldn't treat my condition. A doctor told me my lung trouble was caused by cancer, but they wouldn't help me."

Tongay, 38, said he had "all the symptoms" of cancer and had lost 100 pounds since entering prison in May. He was sentenced to one to 10 years on a manslaughter conviction for the high-dive death of his "aquatot" daughter, Kathy, 4, during an exhibition.

Tongay, an ex-swimming instructor, said he felt that Florida's Raiford prison was not operated properly. Tongay added he would have "plenty to say" if extradition is attempted. But he would not elaborate immediately.

RECORD SNOWFALL AT WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP) — Freezing winds sent fresh snow swirling over Manitoba highways today as work crews attempted to clear away the record snowfall.

More than eight inches of snow fell in some sections Tuesday, including Winnipeg. By Tuesday night Winnipeg's total for the season was 33.9 inches. In November alone a record 31.9 inches has fallen to date. The previous record, 26.6, was set in 1881.

French Troops Riot Over African Service

PARIS (Reuters)—About 100 French national servicemen due to go to North Africa broke out of their barracks in a Paris suburb today and began demonstrations in Paris.

Police at Courbevoie police station near the barracks said the men demonstrated on the Champs Elysees, where many of them were arrested.

The soldiers were draftees whose demobilization had been postponed so that they could be sent to North Africa.

They burst through local police who had been guarding their barracks gates since incidents Tuesday night when a rowdy demonstration took place inside the barracks.

Sustained Cold Grips Prairies

No Break Sighted as Mercury Hits 40 Degrees Below Normal

EDMONTON (CP)—Prairie residents shivered today in temperatures about 40 degrees below normal in some places with no major break in sight in the November cold spell.

The predicted high temperature here today was 10 below, while 18 below was recorded overnight. The average maximum temperature for this time of year is 33 above and the average minimum 16 above.

The morning low was the second coldest on record for Nov. 23, only two degrees above the 20 below mark set in 1890.

Other low temperatures today were 32 below in Whitehorse, 36 below at Fort Nelson, 20 below in Fort St. John, 22 below in Whitecourt, 19 below in Grande Prairie, 20 below in Red Deer, 11 below in Calgary, four below in Lethbridge, eight below in Medicine Hat, 13 below in Moose Jaw, 14 below in Regina and Saskatoon and 19 below in Prince Albert.

NO RECORDS SET

The weather office said a preliminary check indicated no records were set by the frigid overnight temperatures.

The mercury reached 49 above in Edmonton a year ago Tuesday but on Nov. 22 this year the maximum was five below.

The chinooks made a good effort to erase the frigid temperatures last weekend but collapsed in face of the cold air from the north and retreated rapidly back into southwestern Alberta.

The chinook reached Lethbridge Friday, Calgary and Medicine Hat Saturday and Red Deer, Alta., and Swift Current, Sask., Sunday. By Monday only Cowley, Alta., in the Crowsnest Pass, had chinook temperatures.

EDEN PLANNING VISIT TO U.S.

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Anthony Eden may visit the United States to discuss free world policy with President Eisenhower, informed sources said today.

The sources said discussions regarding the possibility of such a trip had started. Timing would be dependent, among other things, on the President's health.

MACMILLAN WOOS LEBANON

BAGHDAD, Iraq (UP)—British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan flies to Beirut today for crucial talks that may bring Lebanon into the Baghdad defence pact.

Moves also were underway to get Jordan and Libya into the five-nation defensive alliance whose councils of ministers ended their first two-day meeting here yesterday.

The pact links Britain, Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Pakistan in a "northern tier" defence organization stretching along the southern frontiers of Russia from the Mediterranean to the Himalayas.

New Pact Brightens Mid-East Peace Hopes

Baghdad Defence Alliance Seen as Means For Arabs to End Egypt-Israel Dispute

By VINCENT BUIST

BAGHDAD, Iraq (Reuters) — Prospects for an Arab-Israeli settlement are brighter following the inaugural conference here of the Baghdad pact council, authoritative British quarters said here today.

The preditcion came as delegates of the five pact powers—Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Paksitan and Iran—hailed their success in setting up the machinery for a new Middle East defence structure. They reported agreement on every issue under discussion.

One key British figure here said that indications are mounting that the Arabs feel the need for a permanent settlement with Israeli over what he described as "this running sore in the Middle East."

Iraq, only Arab League member belonging to the pact, has urged her sister Arab states—so far without success—to join the new organization. At the same time, Iraq has pledged countries against any Israeli aggression.

TWO BOYCOTT PACT

Egypt and Saudi Arabia boycotted the Baghdad pact. The other Arab countries have not committed themselves so far.

A conference communique on Tuesday announced that permanent political, military and economic committees have been set up to defend the security of the pact region and to develop technical assistance.

Launched originally by Turkey and Iraq, the defence chain along the Soviet Union's south Asian frontier links up with NATO through the membership of Britain and Turkey in that Western lineup, and with the Southeast Asia pact countries via Pakistan and Britain.

WOODSMAN SUFFOCATED BY TREE

WEST FALMOUTH, Me. (AP)—A lumberjack was suffocated by a tree here Tuesday. The body of Theodore Thomas, 37, was found under a fallen tree that had pinned his face in the dirt. The tree, an 18-inch pine which had been partly uprooted in a storm, apparently fell on Thomas as he was trying to free his power saw.

S-D DAY LEAVES OUT BIGGEST CITY

MONTREAL (BUP) — December 1st is safe driving day all over North America, but as far as the Montreal police department is concerned, it's just another day.

It seems someone has neglected to include Canada's biggest city, in its plan for an accident-free day. All the city's police officials know about the project sponsored by Canadian Highway Safety Conference is what they've read in the newspapers. A top official said today that his department hadn't been asked for any kind of co-operation.

3.4% Tourist Boost, Record Year Indicated

On the basis of 10-month figures, 1955 will be a record year for British Columbia's tourist industry, according to Trade and Industry Minister Ralph Chetwynd.

Volume of tourist traffic to the end of October was up 3.4 per cent over the same period in 1954. The same rate of increase was experienced across Canada, Mr. Chetwynd said.

The minister said the steady growth in the B.C. tourist industry can be largely attributed to the improvements in accommodation throughout the province, "the total investment in which is close to $100,000,000."

Mr. Chetwynd said two-thirds of the investment represents hotels, and the balance motels, auto courts, and guest houses. B.C. now has 58,000 beds for tourists, half of them in hotels.

One Appeal Won, One Dismissed In Chinese Shopkeeper Slaying

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada today ordered a new trial for Donald Keith Cathro on a charge of murdering a Chinese shopkeeper in Vancouver. It dismissed, however, an appeal by Chow Bew against his murder conviction for the same slaying.

Both Vancouver men had been found guilty in B.C. courts of murdering Ah Wing, shopkeeper who died of strangulation during an attempted robbery in his store last Jan. 6.

The Supreme Court judgment in the Cathro appeal was a split four-to-three decision, with Justices Robert Taschereau, C. H. Locke and Gerald Fauteux dissenting. Those who ordered the new trial for 26-year-old Cathro were Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin, Justices Ivan C. Rand, J. W. Estey and J. R. Cartwright.

Mr. Justice Cartwright dissented in a six-to-one decision which confirmed the murder conviction of Chow Bew, 44.

Two other men had been indicted for murder in the slaying. Eng Git Lee, 37, was acquitted and the charge against Richard Wang, 17, later was dropped.

Lawyers for Chow Bew and Cathro argued before the court in last month's hearing that the convictions should be set aside because the trial judge did not mention in charging the jury the possibility of a manslaughter verdict.

The convictions were upheld by the British Columbia Court of Appeal by a four-to-one ruling in the Chow Bew case and three-to-two in the Cathro case. The two men were tried and appealed separately.

Chow Bew is scheduled to be hanged Jan. 10. He was convicted March 30. Cathro was found guilty March 25.

SEATTLE AIRLINER SLAYING

'Bury Me in Her Coffin' Love-Mad Killer Pleaded

SEATTLE (AP) — A request that he be buried in "the same grave and coffin" with Sally Shedd was written by Robert D. Clendenin before he shot and killed the pretty airline stewardess Monday night, Sheriff Tim McCullough said Tuesday.

McCullough said the request was in a letter written to Charles F. Shedd of San Francisco, the dead girl's father, found in Clendenin's effects after the shooting at the Seattle-Tacoma International Airport.

Clendenin, 26, son of a Salt Lake City attorney, fatally wounded Miss Shedd, 25, aboard a loaded United Airlines plane, then shot himself. He died in a hospital three hours later.

McCullough said the note gave details of his meeting with the stewardess, told of his falling in love with her and their subsequent breakup.

"I talked to her Friday," the note read, "and she told me it was all over and for me to forget it . . . For her, Mr. Shedd, I would give up my job or do anything. I'm going to get her or die trying."

". . . I also write this because if something goes wrong and the two of us die together, that she and I—and I feel I can speak for her—would like to be buried in Coeur d'Alene (Idaho) in the same grave and coffin."

Miss Shedd's friends told McCullough they doubted she would have married Clendenin. They said she had "never been serious about him at all."

Duplessis Threatens Newsprint Controls

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Duplessis said today if Quebec province newsprint manufacturers "want newsprint price control, they're going to get it."

Mr. Duplessis made the statement while commenting on a brief presented to the cabinet by the Quebec Federation of Labor AFL-TLC. The brief urged the government to enforce the Quebec Sunday Observance Act in industry.

Mr. Duplessis congratulated the union for its stand on Sunday observance. He stressed the necessity of Sunday observance in the forest industry and then broached the newsprint issue.

"The Quebec newsprint manufacturers must provide newsprint to the Quebec newspapers and at price conditions that take into account their status as co-owners of the forests," he said.

DOUBTS SHORTAGE

"Those people would like to lead clients to believe there is a shortage of newsprint so they can boost their price and insinuate that if production is not increased they will be unable to supply the industry.

"Well, if those people newsprint manufacturers want price control, they're going to get it."

"We set up rent control for tenants," Mr. Duplessis said, "and we can just as easily set up controls for the tenants of our forestry limits."

Who Controls the River?

BRITISH COLUMBIA HAS become the focal point of an extraordinary dispute between the Canadian and American Governments. Does Canada control the upper reaches of the Columbia in this province or does it not? That is the unexpected question raised in Washington—unexpected because it has never been raised before.

Until now no one disputed the right of Canada and the United States to control all sections of an international river within their territories. But the United States has suddenly reversed its own position and is endeavoring to reinterpret the Boundary Waters Treaty of 1909.

This demarche was precipitated by Canada's plan to divert the freshet waters of the upper Columbia into the Fraser system for power purposes. The United States argues in a recent document that Canada has no right thus to interfere with the normal course of the great interior stream.

If English means anything, however, the existing treaty leaves no doubt about Canada's rights. Article 11 of this instrument says,

"Each of the High Contracting Parties reserves to itself or to the several State Governments on the one side and the Dominion or Provincial Governments on the other, as the case may be, subject to any treaty provisions now existing with respect thereto, the exclusive jurisdiction and control over the use and diversion, whether temporary or permanent, of all waters on its own side of the line which in their natural channels would flow across the boundary or into boundary waters. . ."

That should be plain enough. Each signatory controls the waters on its side of the boundary and can divert them at pleasure.

Where any diversion in one country causes damage in the other the treaty provides a remedy. The injured parties in one country are given the rights to seek compensation in the courts of the other just as if they were local citizens.

In other words, neither country can be prevented from damaging the other by the management of an international river, but compensation must be paid for that damage, if it is proved in the courts.

The United States, not Canada, wrote those provisions into the treaty. The Laurier Government in 1909 objected strongly to this doctrine, fearing that it would work to Canada's disadvantage. So it did in the case of two rivers—the St. Mary in Montana and the Allagash in Maine—which were diverted by the United States. The American Government insisted, however, that the treaty must be written in its present form and Canada reluctantly consented.

Now Washington holds that Clause 11 does not mean what it seems to mean and what the United States always said it meant.

The American argument must strike the layman as extraordinary. The treaty, it is argued, refers only to persons and private companies and not to the United States Government in cases of damage. This nice distinction is read into Clause 11 because "High Contracting Parties" are mentioned in capital letters while "injured parties" are mentioned in lower case letters.

Hence, says Washington, the High Contracting Parties are in a category quite different from that of private individuals. The American Government thus is not restricted to damage suits in case of injury but can prevent Canada from creating the damage, by the diversion of the Columbia, before that damage occurs.

This new doctrine strikes at the roots of a friendly arrangement by which the two nations have managed their international rivers without friction for nearly half a century. Canada no doubt will reject the latest American contention. But it does not follow that the Columbia will be diverted into the Fraser.

That project will depend on surveys now under way. In any case it should be understood—as it is not understood widely in the United States—that Canada does not propose to deprive the American power plants on the lower Columbia of a single drop of water now used there. The Fraser diversion, if constructed, will carry only flood waters now wasted south of the border.

The United States, of course, would like to see those wasted waters stored in Canada and fed systematically through the American turbines and this may be the result of the present dispute. If so, Canada will naturally expect some payment for costly works of great downstream benefit to its neighbor. Under Canadian policy this payment should be in the form of electricity carried back across the border into Canada.

Hard Thinking for Saanich

SAANICH RESIDENTS HAVE been informed, through the newspapers, that their municipality is in trouble. Following reports of presumably unauthorized gravel removal from a municipal pit comes word of higher costs in sewer construction which will create a substantial financial deficit.

In neither case has there been any suggestion to date that difficulties are due to any dishonesty within the municipal employ. The inference, and it has been clear, is that staff has been too small to handle the job imposed upon it.

Whatever may be the outcome of further investigations, this is a point which demands study.

During the postwar years Saanich has undergone spectacular changes. Residential areas have sprung up in mushroom growth. Industrial and commercial development seems to be on the way. The older farm appears to be yielding to surburbia in ever widening regions radiating out from the city.

This spells more work for municipal staff and more expense for taxpayers as new residents call for services formerly considered non-essential.

The time has come for Saanich to take a good, hard look at its methods of doing business. It must decide now whether or not it is driving old Dobbin along an autobahn—or more definitely, if it can continue with policies of administrative frugality which, in the recent gravel pit trouble and sewer construction project, seem penny wise only.

Restoring the Old Park

Plans for the re-establishment of the old B.C. Electric park at the Gorge under the jurisdiction of Esquimalt council make good reading for this community.

The proposal will revive happy memories among older Victorians who can recall pleasant summer days at the old amusement centre.

The new park, it is assumed, will be substantially different from that which was popular two or three decades ago. Changing times call for different concepts in parks development.

However, if the natural setting is maintained as far as possible and if swimming, boating and canoeing can be made appealing there again, some of the charm of a younger city will be restored.

The entire community will benefit if the simple enjoyments of the park can be revived for use of young people too long denied this potentially valuable recreation area.

Another Token Vote

JUST 28 PER CENT OF THE eligible voters turned out Saturday to mark ballots on a $660,000 school building by-law for Cowichan's District 65. Enough favored the scheme to authorize the expenditure.

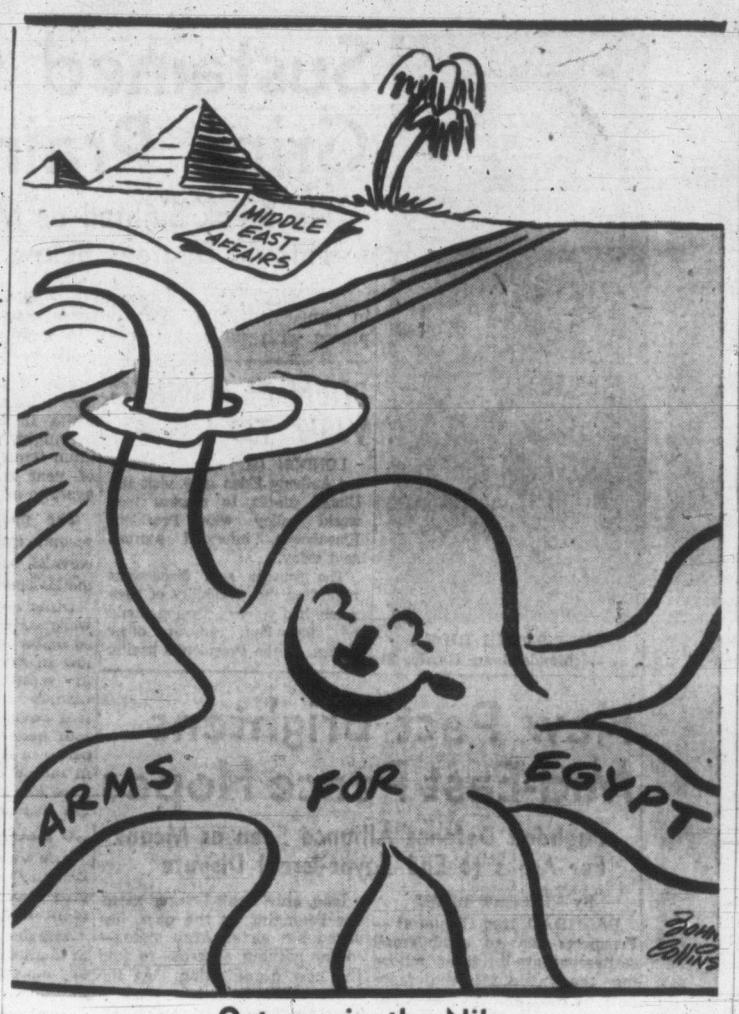
Probably the result would have been the same had the vote been more fully representative. As it was, the district has committed itself to the expenditure of two-thirds of a million dollars (including the Government's share) on little more than a sample poll.

This is not an unusual development in municipal voting. At civic and municipal elections it is frequently a matter of gratification when half the voters turn out.

Yet these are the polls which determine vital public affairs at the level of government closest to the people.

The point is often made that in a democracy, the people have not only the right to vote, but the right not to vote if that is their inclination.

At some date in the not too distant future, the public may draw an analogy between this privilege and the option given to a man who falls overboard in deep water. He too has a choice. He may choose to swim or he may choose not to swim. For the sake of survival—in the one case of the system of government we supposedly cherish, in the other, his own—it seems about time that he should make the affirmative choice.



Octopus in the Nile

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

WE shall now hear about Uncle Dave's stamp collection (O boy). At the moment my collection consists of only one stamp, but it is a highly unusual one. Any stamp that I collect is unusual, because it is unusual of me to be collecting it. The stamp I am now collecting is a current French one, of the face value of 25 francs . . . call it six cents, or eight. The picture is the head and shoulders and left arm of a young woman in evening dress. Behind her is a fountain, and I expect she is on the porch of the Paris Opera House. Anyhow, the most striking thing in the picture is her long black glove. And below the picture is the word GANTERIE. Which means gloves in general . . . the glove business.

I SUPPOSE this stamp is a bit of Public Relations . . . most stamps are. When we want people to buy their mooses in Canada, we print a Canadian stamp all covered with moose. Even though we don't write MOOSERIE under the picture. And when the French want us to buy French gloves (which many of us are happy to do, and were doing anyway) they say it with postage stamps. Most of which fall into the hands of teenagers who don't buy gloves and who think "ganterie" means a frame for carrying a crane or derrick.

I HAVE been trying to think of what we should advertise next on our Canastamps. Wheat is no good . . . people have quit buying it. Newsprint is no good . . . people have to buy it, but they're cross about the price. People are anxious to buy the Canadian part of the Columbia River, but if we decide to sell the river down the river (so to speak) and thus leave ourselves up the creek (so to say), we can do it without advertising . . . in fact, the less said the better, really.

Canadian Christmas trees would make a nice product to plug. I believe this is now a respectable industry, carefully farmed and husbanded and so on. It has nothing to do with the wholesale destruction of yore. (I don't have much to do with the old word "yore," but it does nicely at the season which people still insist on calling Yule. In fact, you could start a dandy little no-good carol with the words "O Yule of yore, O Yule of yore.")

I KNEW a man who bought a Canadian Christmas tree in Caracas, Venezuela, a year or two ago, and it cost him only $15 because it was quite small. Prices in Caracas being what they are, this came to less than the price of a bottle of Canadian whisky in a good hotel. If we planned our postage stamps right, I bet we could sell Christmas trees in Caracas at maybe $75 or $100. That is, provided we all got lots of pen pals in Caracas to read the stamps. The trouble is, most pen pals are in Nigeria or the Gold Coast, where there is a perfect frenzy of letter-writing but a rotten market for Christmas trees.

But on the whole, I think our biggest chance lies in advertising Canadian poetry (for export only).

IT is our greatest raw material. . . I am speaking of quantity, you understand, not quality. In Canada, the true north strong and free . . . no other country is allowed to be north, and no other country is allowed to suggest that mere northness by itself doesn't prove a thing . . . in this true north strong and free, poetry is both strong and free. It is free because nobody will buy it. But maybe foreigners will be too dumb to expect to get it free, and we can charge them up to (who knows?) $15 a sonnet. In Caracas, anyhow.

Incidentally, talking about our monopoly or northness, I heard a man (and saw him too) on TV the other night, telling us to buy savings bonds, and he tried to get me to feel patriotic by telling me that Canada is about the only place in the world where leaves turn red in the autumn. The boys down in New England wouldn't like this. Oddly enough, neither would the boys in the high country of eastern France. I had just had a letter from a traveller who told me the red and yellow leaves of eastern France, at the end of October, were quite as good as anything he had ever seen in Quebec. He had better not tell this news to anyone who feels too possessive about red leaves, or too virtuous about them.

OH yes, and this man on TV was funny about something else, too. He said that as he spoke, somebody was buying a bond every three seconds. And he took out his watch to show what he meant by seconds. And he kept looking at his watch to show HIMSELF what he meant by seconds . . . he seemed to have forgotten, for when he glanced at the watch he looked both interested and puzzled. Well, what's the come-on about "everybody's doing it"? Why does it make you want to buy a bond yourself when you hear one is being sold every three seconds? Buying bonds is something you do on your own, like being born or dying. As far as the purely selfish aspect of it goes, I mean.

AS for the sense of duty, if there is a duty to buy bonds in peace-time . . . and there may be, to delay inflation . . . then why does it make you eager to do your duty when you hear everyone else has already done it for you? I have seen Community Chest campaigns killed dead by premature shouts of victory and the cry of "everybody's doing it." "Everybody's doing it" is the way to get people out to see a show, and "nobody's doing it" can make a show go broke in a matter of days. But "nobody's doing it" might work very well in a campaign for funds. It is worth trying. And nobody's trying it.

Where were we? Oh yes . . . plugs for Canadian poetry on our postage stamps. If you can write a short poem on the head of a pin, I should think you could write an immensely long sample on a big postage stamp. And most postage stamps are huge these days . . . little monsters, they are, in every sense. A solid block of Canadian verse on every stamp could make them into bigger and better monstrosities than ever.

As Our Readers See It

NE PARLEZ PAS

Where authority in all its grandeur has poisoned minds with infallible gas it is a brave man who questions such authority. The British people for generations have questioned all but God and conscience.

There has been a suggestion French be made compulsory in B.C. schools. I trust it will remain merely a suggestion. There are many reasons why it should. The main one is the fact 160 million English-speaking Americans may not even wish to learn French.

On the other hand Spanish would open many doors south of the U.S. borders. Let's be sensible. Who wishes to make Spanish compulsory? Spanish is much easier to learn than any other European language — hence its rising popularity.

MARRIAGE VOWS

In Friday's "Chips," Mr. David Brock seems to think the Christian church has power to change the teachings of its founder (the Truth in the Flesh) in view of modern conditions and truth does not change.

However, countries once solidly Christian change. It would be better if they refused to call themselves Christian if they wish to put their private views in opposition to the teachings of Christ, for real Christians who love God, and solemnize their marriage in the church, and take solemn vows, love their partners in God, and intend to observe their vow even if one should go insane, till death.

The state, however, has to legislate in a democracy according to the will of the majority, often far from Christian, and it would be a great (Communist) error to think that the will of the majority is necessarily the will of God, or right. The church, in distinction from the state, is obviously concerned with this, together with the maintenance of true Christian marriage, as a means of grace.

STRAIGHT THINKING,

PARTISANSHIP

The premier of this province denies the charge of Mr. Ernie F. Allistone, resigned president of Shaughnessy South group of the Point Grey Social Credit Association, that government appointments are made on a political basis as well as partisan, and cites the appointment of Dr. H. F. Angus to the Public Utilities Commission as an outstanding example of his political probity.

Now for a little history:

1927—Mr. D. K. Penfold enters the service of the B.C. Gov't. of which the slogan is "Promotion from the ranks."

1949—Mr. Penfold promoted and appointed to the P.U.C.

1950, 1951—Mr. Penfold acting chairman without recognition for more than a year during the illness of the late and brilliant Dr. Carrothers.

1955—Mr. George steps down from the chair, remaining a member of the commission.

1955—Dr. Angus appointed chairman on full salary from July while Mr. Penfold carries on as acting chairman until Dr. Angus completes his full time position at the UBC and reaches retirement age at the end of next June. No cries of disapproval from Mr. Bennett this time, but some from the taxpayers who wonder why multiple salaries are handed out so freely to one individual.

I am glad The Times of Victoria reaches this valley, as from its clear editorials one gains an excellent analysis of the muddled activities in the legislative building. Is there a copy of "Mein Kampf" in the Government library, and are Messers Bennett and Bonner often to be seen poring eagerly over its pages?

'HOME IS WHERE . . .'

That letter of R. Barclay Shaw's in your paper regarding qualifications of aspirants for civic office should give us food for thought.

The present slate of candidates for civic office in Victoria is indeed a study in contrasts.

We now have Claude Harrison, Percy Scurrah and Bill Scott, all Oak Bay residents, running for mayor and Joe North for police commissioner. That must be the reason they want to annex Victoria, Saanich and Esquimalt and centralize power in Oak Bay.

The next move may be that we will have candidates for civic office in Victoria coming over from Vancouver and they will want us to tear down the arena, because it leaks, and suggest we amalgamate with Vancouver and have one good police force, directed from there.

Then we have the dentists wanting to put something in the water, so they can all retire, but Lydia Arsens says she is going to see about that and have those guys keep on working.

Sounds like the ideas Hitler had.

From Our Files

Nov. 23, 1895 — The Dominion steamer Quadra was dry-docked this morning to learn how much she was damaged when she grounded on Fulford reef. About half a dozen plates were slightly dinted.

Nov. 23, 1915 — The early closing by-law is giving the police a good deal of work, as there are many cases in which store owners who are also shop assistants keep open after the required closing hour.

Nov. 23, 1935 — Grilse fishing is good in Brentwood Bay and creditable catches have been made on 100 feet of line, six to eight ounces of lead and a No. 4 silver and brass Tom Mack. Springs have been taken in Mill Bay.

HOW MUCH FOR WHAT? — By B. A. TOBIN

Cows and Costs Curdle the Milk Industry

FROM the Fraser Valley comes most of the milk produced in British Columbia, and most of the problems of the milk industry.

Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne says in his recently completed report on milk production and distribution, "the evidence shows that British Columbia is lagging far behind other parts of this continent in enforcement of sanitary regulations and in modern concepts of milk-marketing."

Both these factors have direct repercussions on costs and prices, and therefore are of immediate concern to the consumer, quite apart from considerations of health.

The report of the Commissioner adds that "the present system of pricing is clearly wrong and is not serving the best interests of the producer, distributer or consumer."

What lies back of these difficulties?

ANTAGONISTIC CAMPS

One major reason, as Mr. Justice Clyne has pointed out, is that the great Fraser Valley area is divided into two antagonistic camps, engaged in commercial rivalry that goes back a generation.

The Fraser Valley Milk Producers Association is a co-operative composed mainly of small producers who ship two cans or less a day of milk. The FVMPA is also engaged in the distributing end of the business and has facilities for manufacturing milk products. The co-op accounts for 70 per cent of the Valley's milk output.

The remaining 30 per cent is produced by independent farmers, most of them operating on a large scale. They sell their milk to independent distributers.

But here is the problem. The independents, who supply only 30 per cent of the total volume of milk, sell 51 per cent of the fluid milk on the market. The price of fluid milk to the mainland producer is $5.03 per 100 pounds (with 3.5 per cent butter-fat); milk for manufacture into powder, ice cream and other products brings him, under Milk Board regulations, only $1.96 per can of 100 pounds.

Thus it will be seen that the independent producers enjoy more than their proportionate share of the fluid milk market, with its higher revenues.

AVERAGE PRICES

The co-op producers, although they supply more milk, in total, have only 49 per cent of the fluid market; the rest goes into processed products. Members of the FVMPA, through a special arrangement, get less than $5.03 for their fluid milk, but somewhat more than $1.96 for their "surplus."

In general the independent producer averages about $4.12 for all his milk, the co-op farmer about $3.40. This is a discrepancy that has caused intermittent trouble for many years.

Vancouver Island top price is $5.90 a hundredweight, the difference equalling the freight cost from the mainland.

Although the provincial Milk Board is charged with the duty of setting a price that must be paid to the producer, it has run into difficulties in the Fraser Valley. Due to the fact that the co-op producers are also members engaged in other aspects of the business, they have never received the full $5.03 for their fluid milk.

BASIC FLAW

The Clyne enquiry brought out the fact that "it is not possible" to enforce price control at the producer level against a co-operative that is also in the retail trade. Hence, the whole price system in British Columbia has a flaw at its very base.

Another pricing problem unearthed by Mr. Justice Clyne is the fact that it is practically impossible to obtain reliable figures on the cost of producing milk.

Farmers' accounts furnished to the Commission ranged from $3.20 up to $7.13 per 100 pounds. Mr. Justice Clyne suggests between $4 and $4.40 might be a fair average cost. But the lack of exact figures makes the Board's job of setting prices little more than "intelligent guesswork."

Another faulty aspect of the B.C. situation is that milk of exactly the same quality and value may sell at two different prices.

If taken by the distributor for fluid sales, it is worth $5.03 a can to the farmer. But when fluid requirements are met for that day, a second can of the same milk would bring him only $1.96. This variation, and the more or less arbitrary price standards in any case, provide another fundamental cause of trouble in the industry. Every farmer tries to get as much of his product as possible into the fluid milk category, with its higher returns.

QUALITY PREMIUM

Mr. Justice Clyne sees the higher return for fluid milk as partly a bonus for keeping the supply abundant and on a year-round basis, and partly as a premium for the greater costs involved in supplying top quality milk for drinking purposes. It adds about $1 per hundredweight to the cost, he estimates, to establish the clean and healthful farm conditions which ensure sanitary milk.

But due to the breakdown of the inspection system in the Fraser Valley area, blamed on lack of adequate personnel, many farmers are shipping inferior milk and claiming premium fluid prices for it. This, as the Commissioner notes, results in the consumer paying top prices for less than top-grade milk, and it also causes an over-supply of milk with consequently more being relegated to the $1.96 category.

A weeding-out of inferior products, Mr. Justice Clyne suggests, would have the effect of ensuring a greater proportion of the high-price market for high-quality milk, and might enable producers of the latter, because of their increased sales, to lower the price to the consumer.

As far as basic producer prices are concerned, the Commissioner advocates a computation based on changes in producers' costs, fluctuations in the purchasing power of money, and a factor reflecting supply and demand. A discussion of this process will be continued tomorrow.

LONDON LETTER By WALLACE REYBURN

They Turn to the Newspapers

LONDON—It is a novelty to see on the newsstands here great piles of the latest issues of U.S. magazines. It seems that magazine distributors here have managed to make some sort of dollar deal whereby the restrictions on the import of U.S. periodicals have been eased.

Formerly, at an English newsagent's (what we would call a newsstand) you saw the occasional Colliers and Saturday Evening Post and not much else. But now—stacks of Holiday, Redbook, Coronet, Look, Charm, etc., etc. Prices are about twice what one pays for them at home which makes them, by English standards, somewhat costly.

Reyburn

* * *

I couldn't help feeling, when looking at this array, how my wife and I have got out of the magazine habit since we have settled over here. In North America, magazines play an important part in the way of life. There one feels one is rather out of things if one has not at least scanned the current issues of Time and Life and is not following some big fiction serial or series of articles being featured in one of the monthlies. The furnishings of no North American home are complete without a magazine rack crammed with the publications the family subscribes to.

Here the people are not so magazine conscious. On the North American continent the big circulations are magazine circulations, with no newspaper getting anywhere near the big sellers. In this country it is the newspapers which are big and the magazines very much second fiddle. Here's an interesting fact: despite Britain's 50-million population, there is no general magazine with a circulation as big as the Canadian periodical WEEKEND.

Apart from the women's magazines here, several of which have a fair standard, the periodicals are a pretty liveless, uninspired bunch. They don't get themselves talked about and they are not on show in quantity in the home as in Canada and the States.

* * *

There are two simple reasons why they don't have much importance here.

In the first place, the daily and Sunday newspapers are national and thus take the cream off any news or features the magazines might try to tackle. With their huge circulations and advertising revenue they've got more money to spend and can cop the best writing talent and outbid the magazines on any big serial or series that's available.

And the second thing—which is a key to the weakness of English magazines—is that periodicals here cannot offer special subscription rates. If you subscribe to a magazine you have to pay more than the newsstand rate—to cover the postage. This prevents them from piling on circulation and thus getting bigger advertising revenue and having more money to spend on improving themselves.

* * *

Reason: all the newsstands on Britain's 9,000 railway stations are a one-firm monopoly, by government charter. If any magazine publisher dared to offer a bargain subscription, that firm would say: "Okay, we'll throw your magazines off every railway station throughout Britain."

Bit of a problem publishing a magazine in this country.

YOUR HEALTH By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Need for Repeated Reassurance

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

Recently, I saw a young woman in her '20's with what almost certainly was a nervous ache in her chest due to great anxiety and fear of death. Can one have a pain due to fear or anxiety? Most certainly, yes. In the awful influenze epidemic of 1918, when for three days I thought my little daughter was going to die of pneumonia, I had a severe pain in the pit of my stomach.

Dr. Alvarez

I remember a woman whose daughter had a severe form of pulmonary tuberculosis. Every time the daughter had a hemorrhage, the mother got a severe pain in her stomach. When an able surgeon removed the girl's bad upper lobe, and she got well, the mother lost her pain!

Significiantly, the young woman I saw with the ache in her chest got in when, within a few days, her mother and her aunt dropped dead with heart disease. Then she became sure that she was about to die with a bad heart. I had her examined thoroughly by the best heart specialists I knew, but, as I expected, their reassurances did not help enough.

The young lady doubtless sensed that all of us doctors were satisfied that her trouble was due to fright, and she sensed that we hated to waste our time and her money on repeated tests. She could not know, as we did, that a coronary thrombosis, such as killed her old mother and aunt, practically never strikes down a woman under the age of 30—if she has a normal blood pressure as this girl had. There hasn't been time yet for much wear and tear to have taken place in the body: Not enough to produce an ulcerated artery.

SHE CALMED DOWN

Finally, after much effort, the heart specialists and I got the girl to promise that she would calm down and stop hunting for a physican who would fall in with her idea of a bad heart, and thereby scare her into a mental depression.

What worries me now is that she may be shopping around, looking for a pessimistic doctor who will agree with her that she has a bad heart. If she finds him, her life can be ruined. I asked the girl for a while to keep coming back once a week or so for a bit of encouragement. As I told her, the great difficulty with cases like hers is that the physician can cheer the patient for only an occasional half-hour; the rest of the time the ache in her chest keeps insinuating the idea that "the doctor did not examine long and hard enough; probably he missed something; or he found something which he did not report.

"Remember that mother was told that her electrocardiogram was all right, but she dropped dead just the same. Your doctor thinks you are just a 'neuro' and hence he has not taken your trouble seriously enough."

Is it any wonder that, under these circumstances, an ache in the chest often wins out while the doctor loses? Fortunately, there are many sensible and mentally normal persons who accept their doctor's encouragement: They go back to work; they stop worrying; they get well, and they stay well.

NEW TYPES OF ARTIFICIAL LIMBS

My friend, Capt. Thomas J. Canty, chief of amputee service at the U.S. Nava Hospital at Oakland, Calif., has just sent me a picture of Ray Dvorak, directing a big band, with a baton wielded by an artificial right arm and hand. He lost his arm some years ago in a railroad accident. Obviously, to have made an artificial arm usable by a bandmaster is a great achievement.

It is wonderful what Captain Canty and his associates now are doing in the way of devising new and ever better artificial limbs which will work like a real arm or a real leg. Often now, a surgeon will fashion a little ring covered by skin, at the lower end of a muscle in, let us say, the end of an amputated arm. When the man voluntarily contracts the muscle the ring moves and pulls on artificial tendons that work a complicated artificial forearm and artificial hand. Some artificial arms are able to do almost anything with a hook-like hand, the two halves of which come together to grip small objects. Big ones can be carried by the hook.

I am always thrilled when I go into a shop where expert mechanics and inventors are working on the problems of making new and ever more efficient limbs for amputees.

HOME GARDEN By HILDA BEASTALL

Cold-Hit Plants Need Careful Inspection

It was at six o'clock on the coldest morning of last week when I began to notice the severe damage to the plants in the garden. After a long night watch it was hard indeed to believe that anything would recover.

Hilda

The Christmas roses (Helleborus niger) were my only hope. I felt that regardless of blackening frost, their blooms would rise above withered leaves with the advent of milder days.

As the milder days came and it was possible to get around to other gardens it became evident that the group of plants most extensively damaged was perhaps the broad-leaved evergreens.

In this group is laurustinus (Viburnum tinus), Portugal laurel (Prunus lusitanica), aucuba, pernettya, camellia, and, of course, the rhododendrons and azaleas.

The advice being publicized by the local nurserymen might well be repeated here. Do not cut back or prune any damaged parts of trees or shrubs, or any of the woody plants.

In the case of herbaceous plants (those perennials which normally die down to soil level each fall and grow again each spring), the soft, blackened leaves should be carefully removed.

But do not, in a frenzy of tidiness, dig up and discard all the plants which appear lost.

Some may produce growth in the spring from below the snow line, and beauty will once more reign in the garden.

World Fair For New York

Nerve Weakness

How common is it among men and women over a certain age?

Nerve Weakness—Nerves—Nervous Exhaustion. There are many words for it, including the Greek word Neurasthenia, meaning Nerve Weakness—a term often used to describe a condition that can affect many people over forty. After that age, you may complain of being easily tired. You feel "all in", irritable, moody, poor appetite. At such times, many people wisely turn to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for dependable help.

How long should you take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food?

It may have taken months for your body to become "run-down", sending distress signals many people call "nerves".—Although Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helps to build up Nerve energy quickly, for best results you should take Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for at least 6 weeks. This gives your body a chance to get the full benefit of the Iron, Vitamin B-1 and other valuable medical ingredients in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

At the end of 6 weeks you must be able to say to yourself: "I feel like a new person" . . . or we'll refund every penny you paid. Why not get started today? NF-38

Driver-Training in High Schools Urged by Victoria Traffic Chief

Driver-training in Canadian high schools to cut the toll of traffic accidents was advocated by Sergeant Brooke Douglass when he spoke to the YMCA Young Adult Club on Tuesday night.

Sgt. Douglass, head of the city police traffic division, noted that the under-25 age group forms 15 per cent of the driving public and causes 32 per cent of all accidents.

"It is time we began teaching driving skills and correct attitudes to young people," he said.

"Driver training in high schools did get a modest start in Vancouver and the Fraser Valley some years ago.

"The sooner it is started again, and gains momentum right across the country, the better," he told the group.

Sgt. Douglass said he felt that if students were given an opportunity to take a course none would grudge a $10 fee for equipment.

He said accidents took 2,700 lives across the country in 1954.

New System Needed In Saanich?

Saanich municipal business is in need of overhaul and organization, council candidate C. H. MacMillan said today.

Mr. MacMillan, a carpenter residing at 971 Lodge, is one of nine men who have announced they will contest three Saanich council seats in December.

He said thorough organization is necessary to gain efficiency and harmony amongst employees as a whole.

The matter of municipal efficiency should be tackled by a council committee or a private firm "to advise council as to the best procedure to take to bring about efficiency in the whole structure of municipal government," Mr. MacMillan said.

"I am in favor of promotion of any staff where it is capable, but feel that making an open examination of men in these positions to get the best men for the job is a much fairer way."

Additions to staff would be made in the same manner, the candidate said.

He attributes growth of Saanich as a municipality to the fact that many people are building there because of advantages available, "just like any other community."

Credit for such expansion should not go to council for whatever actions it may have initiated, Mr. MacMillan said, "or to any one person or persons."

The candidate favors a new municipal hall as part of the organization program he advocates. He was one of the instigators of Sooke Community Association, and for several years was a storekeeper there. Mr. MacMillan has lived in Greater Victoria since 1910.

To Review UN Charter

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United Nations General Assembly voted today to hold a conference to review the UN charter, but set no specific time for the meeting.

London Paper Urges Britain To Leave UN

LONDON (Reuters)—The Daily Express says the United Nations is "an agency for stirring up hostility" and calls on Britain to renounce it.

"When will it be realized that internationalism has failed?" this Empire - conscious, right - wing newspaper asks.

The Express, which has a circulation of more than 4,000,000 copies a day, complains that Britain has had enough trouble from the concerted activities of the present members of the organization, but now it is supporting the entry of 18 more countries. Canada is the sponsor of the package move to admit the 18.

"Has Britain not suffered enough from mischief-making at U N O without widening the field? Yet here is Britain asking for more."

The Express says there would be more trouble from the newcomers "for they include Ireland, who will complain about partition, Spain, who will demand Gibraltar, and Ceylon, who will vote with the anti-colonials."

TLC's Gervin Speaking Here Tonight

Vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, R. K. Gervin, will speak on the merger of the TLC and the Canadian Congress of Labor and structure of the new joint organization tonight at the Monterey restaurant at 7 p.m.

His address to TLC members is part of a course on labor education.

Speakers from both groups are interchanging as part of a "get acquainted" program encouraged by the pending merger of the two union congresses next April.

Tuesday, Howard Conquergood, director of education and welfare for the CCL, lectured a TLC group here, the first time a local TLC group has heard a talk from the rival organization.

French Reinforced for New Morocco Violence

RABAT, Morocco (UP)—France poured in troop reinforcements today to quell a new uprising in the Riff mountains and Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssff began a race with revolution to establish an independent Moroccan government.

New violence also threatened in Casablanca. Thousands of grim Moroccans shut down their shops and left their jobs in that city to mass in a menacing throng at the funeral of three political prisoners slain in a prison mutiny.

Boom in Moon Real Estate Under Probe

NEW YORK (AP)—A "corporation" formed to sell acreage on the moon found out Tuesday it will have to sell the state attorney-general's office on the idea first.

The attorney-general's office launched an investigation to determine whether anyone is being victimized, "even for small sums."

The development corporation already is reported to have found some 4,500 customers willing to invest $1 each for an acre in the moon's Copernicus crater.

Robert R. Coles, former chairman of the Hayden Planetarium in New York City, and others set up the lunar real estate firm recently after filing a court claim to the entire moon.

Boy Jailed; Slew Brother With Ball-Bat

VANCOUVER (CP)—Peter Murray Williams, 16, pleaded guilty Tuesday to a reduced charge of manslaughter in the slaying of his 21-year-old brother.

Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson in assize court sentenced the youth to two years less a day and thereafter an indeterminate period of two years less a day.

Williams admitted the baseball-bat killing of his brother David in suburban North Vancouver Oct. 13.

Mr. Justice Wilson told Williams: "I will send you to a place where you will have a chance to get out of your mind the thoughts which induced you to do what you did and become a useful member of society.

"If you co-operate, you almost surely will never be called on to serve that second term."

Mr. Justice Wilson said the New Haven Borstal in suburban Burnaby was "a place where there is hope."

Pontiff Displeased Over Vision Publicity

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Pope Tuesday let it be understood through Vatican circles that he is displeased with the publicity given to reports of a vision of Christ which came to him a year ago.

At the same time, a letter was published in Rome in which the late opera composer, Pietro Mascagni, credited the pontiff with having brought about a miraculous healing of his tuberculosis-stricken niece.

The Pope's displeasure was directed against the publicity first given last week by the Italian magazine, Oggi, and later by the press of the world. The Vatican Monday confirmed Oggi's article reporting that the pontiff saw a vision of Christ at his bedside while praying during the worst of his grave illness last December. His recovery started the following day.

An influential newspaper, Corriere della Sera of Milan, says the pontiff not only saw the vision but that it clearly and distinctly spoke to him, saying: "The Master is present and calls you."

The Rome newspaper Giornale d'Italia Tuesday published a letter from Mascagni, composer of "Cavalleria Rusticana," declaring that "the Pope brought about a miracle." The letter was left behind when the musician died in 1945.

He had decided there was no hope for the survival of his little niece, in bed for four months with tuberculosis. He therefore decided to seek an audience for his wife and himself with Pope Pius XII.

Mascagni wrote that "the child whispered in my ear, 'do you know, uncle, as soon as I got the rosary blessed by the Pope, I felt much better, and day by day I have improved'."

CBC COLLECTS $284,500 FROM RADIO STATIONS

OTTAWA (CP)—Private television stations paid a total of $9,000 in broadcasting licence fees for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1955.

The revenue item was listed for the first time in the CBC's annual report issued today.

The CBC also collected $284,500—up from $274,500 in 1953-54—in radio broadcasting fees. The money was collected by the transport department, the government's licencing authority, and turned over to the CBC.

The fees, based on a station's profit, range between $100, for profits up to $25,000 a year, and $6,000, for profits of $400,000 or more.

Big Radio Loss Looms for CBC

TV Surplus Due to Taxes Also Expected to Vanish

OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC, which received about 80 per cent of its revenues from the public treasury, spent $29,103,587 in television and radio operations in the 1954-55 fiscal year. It received $6,263,190 from commercial revenues and other sources outside the government.

However, the publicly - owned corporation received $27,719,947 from the federal treasury in government grants and allocation of taxes and ended the year with an excess of income over expenditures of $4,267,668 after depreciation.

The CBC's financial report for the year ended March 31 contained a hint the corporation may operate at a loss in 1955-56, but suggested no way of getting more public funds.

Its television operations produced an excess of income over expenditures of $4,479,421 after depreciation. A total of $15,915,901 was spent on the service, including $9,016,850 on programs. Commercial revenues and minor outside income sources brought in $4,315,840 while TV - earmarked taxes produced $16,959,965 for a total TV income of $21,275,805.

Spending on radio, with $8,822,016 in program costs, totalled $13,187,686. Of the total income of $13,459,983, commercial revenues and other outside sources brought in $2,700,001 with the rest from the treasury, leaving a loss of $211,573.

Broadcasting licence fees—amounts paid by privately-owned stations for licenses to operate—brought the CBC $293,500, an increase of almost $10,000. Interest on investments yielded another $247,639.

The CBC's $13,500,000 radio service operated at a loss of $211,753. Nearly half the service's income consisted of a $6,250,000 federal grant, while $4,509,982 came from the excise tax on radio sets and parts.

No Money to Extend Radio Net

The report said the CBC faces "A deficit of considerable size in radio to maintain the service against some increasing cost rates . . . "The CBC was not in a position to make further commitments to extend radio service in areas still without it."

The television service, the report said, received $16,959,965 from the excise tax on TV sets and parts, bringing its total income to $21,275,805. Television expenditures were $15,915,901. The service showed a net surplus of $4,479,421 after depreciation.

Looking to the current year in TV, the report said "it was apparent that the surplus built up in 1953-54 and 1954-55 would have to be used to maintain operations in 1955-56."

Last year's net surplus brought to $10,772,557 the CBC's accumulated surplus from past years.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC board of governors, has forecast a deficit of $10,805,000 for the current fiscal year. His estimate was given last spring at hearings of the Commons broadcasting committee.

The last fiscal year's net surplus of $4,267,668 was down about 35 per cent from the $6,567,862 surplus of 1953-54. The drop was due mainly to reduced income and increased spending for radio broadcasting and to higher television expenditures which outstripped advances in TV revenues.

In 1953-54, the CBC spent $19,896,238, less than the $23,009,894 it received in government grants and allocation of taxes. Total revenues then were $27,430,725.

Increased spending for both radio and television programs and engineering works helped boost expenditures by almost $10,000,000, to $29,103,587 in 1954-55 from the previous fiscal year's total.

This left a gross surplus of $5,632,201, down from $7,534,487. A revision of the corporation's system of allowance for depreciation and obsolescence resulted in a larger amount being deducted from the gross surplus.

Depreciation costs were $1,364,533, based on what the CBC's financial report described as scientific rates varying between five and 20 per cent, depending on the type of assets.

In 1953-54, the depreciation allowance was $966,625, based on rates of 2½ per cent on buildings and 10 per cent on equipment.

The CBC's income from commercial broadcasting was $6,263,190, up from $3,806,254. The higher income was due to larger payments by sponsors of television programs.

Program Costs Outstrip Revenue

These revenues from sponsors fell far short of program costs—the largest single expense item—which totalled $17,838,866, a rise from $11,703,316.

This $6,135,550 increase in program expenses was almost as large as the commercial revenue itself. The program costs included $4,000,000 each for radio and television talent, including artists, musicians, singers, actors and script writers.

For the first time since the CBC started its television service in September, 1952, television programs cost more than radio programs.

The CBC spent $9,016,850 on television programs, more than double the $4,128,139 it spent in 1953-54. Commercial television revenues tripled to $4,157,325 from $1,334,765.

The radio service, with revenues of $13,459,983, spent $8,822,016 on programs. Expenses of $13,187,686 and a depreciation allowance of $484,050 left a deficit of $211,753.

In 1953-54, the radio service had a net surplus of $1,283,896 after revenues of $14,359,969, expenditures of $12,531,857 and a depreciation allowance of $544,216.

The report said the corporation foresees some increase in commercial television revenue.

The tax, collected by the revenue department and turned over to the CBC, last year brought in $21,469,947, an increase from $16,759,894 in 1953-54.

The income from the excise tax on radio sets and parts dropped to $4,509,982 from $5,056,745. On television sets and parts it increased to $16,959,965 from $11,703,149.

Engineering costs in 1954-55 increased to $6,120,875 from $4,207,941. The CBC opened two new television stations — CBHT, Halifax, and CBWT, Winnipeg—bringing its total to seven. In the current fiscal year it added CBOFT, the French-language TV station in Ottawa.

The CBC also opened seven low-power radio relay stations.

At last March 31 there were 19 private stations. There now are 24 on the air. Four more have been licensed.

A government loan of $3,000,000 in 1954 for television services brought to $19,000,000 the amount owed by the CBC. The total includes $3,250,000 borrowed for radio and $15,750,000 for television.

The CBC international service, operated by the CBC for the government, cost $2,095,939, an increase from $1,983,862.

Legion Awards Scholarships

LANGFORD — Scholarships for continuing studies at Victoria College were presented to Laurence Kitching and John O. Dell at the annual dinner of Prince Edward Branch, Canadian Legion, Langford, held in the Legion Hall, Dunford Road.

The boys were sponsored by Prince Edward Branch, and making the presentation was Col. R. D. Longridge, zone commander.

Mrs. S. McDonald, first vice-president of the provincial women's division, was a special guest.

The dinner, attended by 120, was prepared and served by the newly-formed women's auxiliary to the branch.

Funeral Thursday For G. R. Grieve, Former Mailman

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held here Thursday for George Raeburn Grieve, 75, former rural mail carrier who died at his Price Place Road home early Monday.

Born in Fyfeshire, Scotland, he settled in Duncan in 1920.

He is survived by his widow, a son, Alexander, and two daughters, Mrs. J. W. Haslett, Vancouver, and Mrs. W. Hamm, Edmonton.

On the executive are J. Espitalier, Ray Knight, William Low, Robert Fuller, Shelby Saunders, Chester W. Swanson, and Mr. Thompson.

Jail Sentence Imposed in Impaired Case

NANAIMO—Convicted of a second offence of driving while her ability was impaired by alcohol, Mrs. Ruth Clara Trautman was sentenced in police court here to 14 days in jail.

She also was fined $25 and $3 costs for driving without a licence.

Defence counsel Ronald McIsaac said she should have been charged with being an incompetent driver, not an impaired driver, but Crown counsel Hugh Heath claimed evidence showed the accused had the ability to drive.

Magistrate E. D. Strongitham presided.

Card Party Aids Langford Scouts

LANGFORD—A card party will be held Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Legion Hall, Dunford Road, by the group committee to Cubs and Scouts.

There will be a door prize as well as prizes for whist. Refreshments will be served.

Members of the group now are taking orders for Christmas trees which will be delivered by the Scouts and Cubs.

Trustees Honor By-Law Deadline

SIDNEY—Trustees of School District 63 this week rejected a proposal that they act ahead of the deadline on their recent successful school construction by-law and hire architects immediately to prepare plans.

Trustee J. Helps said the board could not move legally on the by-law until Dec. 21. The board, will, however, hire an appraiser to select new school sites and estimate values.

NANAIMO QUEEN SEEKS 'MISS GREY CUP' WIN

NANAIMO—Glenda Sjoberg, Nanaimo beauty queen who was chosen Miss PNE and Miss B.C. Lions, left here today for Vancouver and competition for the honor of being Miss Grey Cup.

Wishing her "good luck" at the CPR terminal, where she left at 11 a.m., were Mayor George Muir; E. L. Hodson, Nanamo Chamber of Commerce president; and Frank Ney, president of the junior chamber.

Duncan School Likely Start For New Cowichan Program

DUNCAN — First project to be undertaken under the newly-approved $660,000 school construction by-law passed here Saturday likely will be the proposed $128,000 elementary school in the city.

Scores of Duncan pupils now are being transported by bus to Fairbridge School, five miles away, over a road that includes one hazardous hill.

It has been stated, though, that no actual priority has been established.

Largest single item will be the south Cowichan high school. To cost $263,500, it will have six classrooms, a gymnasium, and home economics and industrial arts rooms.

CHAIRMAN DEFEATED

The by-law passed 1,196-492. At Cobble Hill, where school board chairman George E. Bonner was defeated 77-68 as he sought election for his ninth term as representative of the area, the by-law was approved 60-29.

"Personally, I am happy the ratepayers have taken this action after eight years," he said following passage of the contentious by-law. "It should now be possible to develop real unity among the three components of School District 65."

A similiar by-law, calling for a building program to cost $727,800, was defeated April 23 by a vote of 879 to 462. Support for the new by-law was attributed to better publicity and support of the PTA groups in the district.

Trustee Stands For Re-Election

NANAIMO — Mrs. Marion Ricker has confirmed the report here that she would be a candidate for re-election to the board of school trustees of Nanaimo School District 68.

Now vice-chairman of the board, she also is chairman of the Vancouver Island section, B.C. School Trustees' Association.

Hospital at Ganges Goes to Vote Dec. 8

Residents of the Gulf Islands will vote December 8 on a plebiscite to authorize the borrowing of $98,825 for construction of a hospital at Ganges.

The plebiscite will be held in the Gulf Islands Hospital Improvement District, and ballots will be cast at North and South Galiano, Ganges, Mayne, Saturna, Fulford, North and South Pender and Musgrave polling districts.

The plebiscite was authorized today by the provincial cabinet.

The amount represents the hospital improvement district's share of construction and equipment costs. The federal and provincial governments share in the cost.

Celeri Honored

TORONTO (CP) — Triple-threat quarterback Bob Celeri of Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen added another crown to his growing list of Canadian football laurels Tuesday.

He was named winner of the Imperial Oil Trophy as the outstanding player and best sportsman of the Ontario Rugby Football Union this season. It is the second year in a row he has won the trophy, awarded on the basis of a player vote.

2 B.C. Soldiers Among 5 Injured

OTTAWA (CP)—Five Canadian soldiers were seriously injured Tuesday when an army truck skidded on a wet road near Werl, West Germany, and crashed into a tree.

Army headquarters today listed three of the men as dangerously ill and two as seriously ill. All are members of the 2nd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, stationed at Hemer in Germany.

Dangerously ill:

Gnr. Martin Hynes, 36, Stephensville, Nfld.;

Gnr. George Johnson, 27, Yarmouth, N.S.;

Gnr. Lloyd Graves, 26, Hubbards, N.S.;

Seriously ill:

Bdr. John Campbell, 33, of Vancouver and Banton, Scotland, whose wife lives in Germany;

Gnr. Eric Edwin Helgren, 20, of Lulu Island, Vancouver.

Eleven other Canadian soldiers on the truck escaped injury. The injured were taken to the British military hospital at Iserlohn.

Board Appoints Commissioner

BRENTWOOD — William J. Fortune has been appointed water commissioner for the Brentwood Waterworks District, it was announced to-day.

He succeeds Ernest Lee, who resigned to take the post of building inspector for Central Saanich municipality.

Fun For Girls —Nightmare For Victims

Four Months Of Phone Calls

WINNETKA, Ill. (AP) — What two young girls "thought was real fun" turned into a extended nightmare for a middle-aged couple in this Chicago suburb.

For nearly four months, the telephone had been an instrument of torture for Maurice Franks, 56, and his wife, Violet, 47

There were seven to 10 anonymous calls a day. Once there were 30.

Sometimes the callers, who sounded like women, would hang up. Other times they would tell Franks or his wife of a delivery being made to their home.

The deliveries came—unasked and unwelcome.

Once Franks came home to find a load of sand. Another time, a load of gravel.

And so it went.

A truck rolled up with 80 folding chairs; another arrived with 350 cement slabs. A rug cleaner's truck arrived to take away the Franks' rugs for an unordered cleaning. A market sent a shipment of fish Franks knew nothing about.

FOUGHT ON ALONE

Franks, meanwhile, fought his battle without outside help. He kept sending back the "deliveries" as mistaken orders but declined to inform authorities of the strange happenings.

A month ago the callers threatened, Franks said, that they would "grab the boy." Franks started escorting his 13-year-old son to and from school.

Finally he reported the calls to the telephone company. A round-the-clock tap was put on the Franks' phone. Most calls were too brief to be traced. But Friday, one of the mystery callers talked to Mrs. Franks for 22 minutes.

The call was traced to another Winnetka home. Police took a 12-year-old girl into custody. She admitted making the calls and implicated another girl, age 13.

The girls were questioned and released to their parents without formal charge. A hearing is scheduled Friday.

"We did it just as a prank," police quoted them as saying. "We didn't have anything against Mr. Franks. We just picked him at random.

"We thought it was real fun.'

Wild Plane Kills Six On USN Ship

WASHINGTON (UP) — A fighter plane careened out of control down the deck of the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga Monday night, killing six men and seriously injuring another.

The accident occurred in the Mediterranean where the Ticonderoga is operating with the sixth fleet.

Navy headquarters here said an F2H Banshee, piloted by Ens. Otis C. Lightner, Altus, Okla., was making a landing on the carrier after a night navigation flight. When its tail hook failed to engage an arresting wire, the plane bounced over a barricade, careened down the deck and over the bow.

The pilot was picked out of the water 20 minutes later by a motor whaleboat from the destroyer Goodrich. Lightner suffered only scratches and bruises and was not seriously injured.

Kinsey to Probe Sex in Europe

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Dr. Alfred E. Kinsey said Tuesday he is going to send an American research team overseas to inquire into the sex life of European women. The American author of best-selling books on the sexual behavior of men and women in the United States stopped off here briefly en route from Scandinavia to Spain.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Notes from a dirty shirt cuff:

Pat Abbruzzi has been named backfielder of the year in Canada, or whatever became of Jackie Parker?

Edmonton coach Frank "Pop" Ivy had little to say on the matter at this particular moment the question was put:

"I was hoping it would be one of our boys," he said.

Frank Ivy

He may have said more later on. He appeared as if he might want to say more.

Jackie Parker, you see, is his boy. And Jackie didn't get the tumble.

But Jim Brooke of the Edmonton Journal said plenty. He said it today in the Edmonton paper. Well, at least he said he was going to say it, in the paper. You see, up in Edmonton they take this thing seriously. Edmonton foes have taken Parker seriously. He has been called the best quarterback in Canada. But now he isn't the best backfielder. They have voted Abbruzzi that honor.

But then, who is this fellow Abbruzzi?

He's 5 feet, 8 inches in height and weighs 200 pounds. He scored 19 touchdowns this year. He comes from Rhode Island.

But let Gorde Hunter of the Calgary Herald tell the rest.

"Sure, ask Calgary who he is," Gorde shouted. "They know. They got a letter from a fellow from some little university in Rhode Island this year. But where is Rhode Island. They didn't even bother to answer the letter. The letter was from Abbruzzi!"

Well, that was the unadorned part of what Gorde said. But Brooke didn't really have to remind Hunter that he was welcome to watch a "football team" again. (You'll pardon the reference Gorde, but some fans here might not recall where the Stamps finished; and never mind the crack about hockey; ouch!)

Normie Kwong got the Canadian award. Normie's dimensions: 5' 7", 195 pounds. Where have we heard that before? Normie and Pat (Abbruzzi) meet Saturday.

No, the Eskimos don't play—off the field. The entertainment program for the Grey Cup champions has been washed out. There's other business at hand. Then the party!

But city entertainment convener Gordie Williamson may have hit the jackpot, nevertheless. Word is that Gordie has been called back to his old love, radio. Edmonton, his former home, wants him as a standby for an ailing compatriot. He should be in his glory.

His word is law, Frank Ivy's word, that is. When Times photographer Bill Halkett wanted some pictures, he went to Ivy. Ivy barked the names. The names stepped forward. Bill got his pictures. The drill resumed.

The co-operation is appreciated, and a lesson to others.

Football editor Annis Stukus of Vancouver picks the Esks. His opposite, Al Pollard, hasn't committed himself. Our pick will come later . . . The visitor was Hub Bishop, out west for you know what. His brother is Leo Bishop, 3045 McAnally, the same Leo Bishop who took the Battleford Millers to Japan in 1935 . . . Seems, too, that a couple of fellows in town, Bob McCutcheon and Hal Bowen, know something about the make-up of the Melville Millionaires, 1913 Allan Cup champions . . .

He'll play; he won't play. That's the status of Kurt Burris, Edmonton's all-Canadian, and Oklahoma's all-American . . . or as you like it. . . . Nobody's saying nothin', but the thinkin' is he won't play. . . . Bob Dean was back kicking field goals Tuesday. . . . He's one of the import question marks. . . . Take the drill for what it's worth. . . . Yes, the Cougars are still with us, in spirit, but as we said before that "one line" can't carry all the load. . . . Jackie Parker of the Esks has his shoes made especially for him . . . where? In Scotland!

A FACE TO BE FEARED

Johnny Bright's bushy eyebrows, when pulled into a threatening scowl, can strike fear into the hearts of opposing linemen. It was Bright's six feet, 210 pounds, however, that did the most damage this year as Johnny had a great season with Grey Cup champion Edmonton Eskimos. Bright works out of the lethal double-fullback formation with Chinese-Canadian Normie Kwong.

Alouette Injuries Don't Move Ivy

'Heard Stories Before'

"Pop" Ivy politely, quietly, but emphatically pooh-poohed such thoughts when he heard that Montreal Alouettes were hard hit by injuries.

The Edmonton Eskimo coach, on hearing the anguished cries from Montreal that Hal Patterson, J. C. Caroline and Jacques Belec, among others, are on the tape-and-bandage list, said, "Yes, I've heard those stories before.

"These guys are supposed to be crippled but they show up on Saturday and score more touchdowns against you than anyone."

All this week, Ivy has been running his club through pass defence drills with his passers throwing out of the Montreal patterns.

On Tuesday afternoon, Esks scrimmaged lightly with Oak Bay Drakes intermediate team as Ivy wanted to check his plays against a club that had never seen them. Chief scout Eagle Keys, who scouted last Saturday's Montreal-Toronto, deployed the Drakes into a Montreal pass defence and Ivy modified several plays during the scrimmage.

PROBLEM REMAINS

Still, the big question around the Eskimo camp is the matter of the two imports who must be dropped for Saturday's game and more, and more, it appears that former All-American centre and linebacker Kurt Burris will be one of the two.

Burris gamely tried his injured leg in Tuesday morning's session, jogging around the field while the team practiced. However, he was still able to run only straight ahead and at less than half speed.

Ivy could take a chance on using Burris on Saturday but would have to drop another healthy import in Burris' favor. The possibility that Burris might last only a few minutes in the game, and then have to be taken out, would leave the Esks with three of their imports out of action.

Burris is taking twice a day whirlpool treatments on the leg.

In addition to Burris, guard Frankie Morris and halfback Rollie Miles have been regular visitors to hospital but their ailments are not as serious as Burris' knee. Morris has a bruised knee while Bright is attempting to shake off a slight charley-horse.

IVY WANTS THE BEST, OKLAHOMA STYLE

Frank "Pop" Ivy, Edmonton Eskimo coach, is a perfectionist, a man to whom the best is none too good, especially as he may need the best Saturday against Montreal Alouettes.

One day this week, Ivy was on the telephone, talking long distance to University of Oklahoma line coach, Gomer Jones.

After considerable mystifying talk about "split 6's, middle guards shooting the gap, tackles head to head and linebackers blitzing," Ivy wished Oklahoma the best of luck in Saturday's big game with Oklahoma A & M and cautioned Jones.

"If you hear about a defence to rush the passer, hold the ends up and plug everyone else, you phone me back."

The passer to whom he referred is Montreal's Sam Etcheverry.

LAUDER FOURSOME UNBEATEN

City Rink Being Noticed

The Gerry Lauder rink from Victoria is beginning to attract a little bit of attention around Vancouver curling circles.

Still unbeaten today with six straight victories in the $11,500 Totem bonspiel being held on the mainland, Lauder is right up there with the best as the 'spiel enters its fourth day.

Five rinks are still undefeated along with Lauder. They are Garnet Campbell, 1955 Dominion champ; Leo Johnson, another Brier winner; Robert Wright; Bung Cartmell, former B.C. champion, and Lloyd Neff.

Lauder's rink, skipped by Tony Gutoski, defeated Mel Strickland of Prince George, 9-4, Tuesday to move into the 32's of the Totem primary, and squeezed by John French, previously undefeated, 8-7, to reach the 16's of the Evergreen primary.

TONY GUTOSKI
. . . going strong

GIANT KILLER

Another Vancouver Island foursome, skipped by Dr. A. Bowker of Ladysmith, has gained a reputation of giant-killer.

Tuesday, Bowker knocked off the Gary Thode rink of Saskatoon, two-time Canadian junior champion, 9-4, in the Totem event. He had previously eliminated former Canadian champion Billy Rose.

No other Victoria rinks were left in the primary events.

In the secondary competitions Tuesday, Glen Walkey defeated Cassidy, Vancouver, 10-5, in the Capilano; Dr. K. Moysey defeated Kirby, Vancouver, 10-4, in the Pacific, and Frank Garraway lost to Matthias, Vancouver, 10-8, also in the Pacific.

Sooke Trims Arrows

Sooke, led by John Kabatka with 20 points, downed Arrows, 48-33, at Sooke Tuesday night in a Saanich and Suburban Basketball League senior "C" men's game.

In a preliminary game, Brentwood midget girls defeated Sooke, 14-8.

Next Monday, Sooke and St. Louis College will meet in three games in the midget, bantam and juvenile boys' divisions. First game is at 7.

Snooker Standings

Britannia Branch and Tillicums were tied for first place this week in the hot Interclub Snooker League race.

Both have 43 points, followed by Elks with 40, Pro Pats 38, ANAF Vets 29 and Eagles 23.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Al Andrews, 163, St. Paul, outpointed Jimmy Martinez, 160¾, Phoenix, Ariz. (10).

Flowers and Old Lace—Esks Probe, Get Probed

By BILL RAYNER

The off-duty habits of football players usually don't include sniffing flowers, or being poked and prodded by little old ladies.

But Edmonton Eskimos, bedded down in the Empress Hotel while prepping for their Grey Cup defence in Vancouver, Saturday, were undergoing these plebeian pursuits Tuesday while waiting for their afternoon practice.

Take quarterback Jackie Parker. The shuffle-gaited, nimble-handed wizard of the Eskimo backfield was getting the fingertip routine in the lobby from a nice, but curious, old lady who had him patiently explaining all his bulky equipment to her.

Or take fullback Johnny Bright. And at six feet, 210 pounds, the opposing linemen would let you have him. Johnny was playing it safe in the hotel conservatory, padding about in his stocking feet and sweatsuit and examining the flowers.

"Sure Ah loves flowers," he drawled in the conservatory. "This one here really does smell good. What kind is it?" It was a big, yellow chrysanthemum, and Johnny took a heady whiff.

The 25-year-old negro likes other things besides flowers. He likes Victoria, its weather and its hospitality. This is Johnny's first visit to the city, and he is suitably impressed.

He also likes Edmonton, where he has been for two years with the Eskimos. He wouldn't say whether he liked it better than Calgary, where he also spent two years, but "it's always great to be with a winner."

Johnny joined the Stampeders in 1952 after a great college career with Drake University. He calls Fort Wayne, Indiana, home. And it will be recalled, he was the victim in that controversial slugging incident a few years ago, his jaw being broken in two places.

Finished with his horticultural jag, Bright padded noiselessly back into the lobby. Parker was still being prodded by the old lady, and now the usually taciturn Pop Ivy was engaged in conversation with another sweet old thing.

Asked who he thought would take the Grey Cup Saturday, Bright allowed that, if the Esks "got on the ball," they would come out on top.

"Our offense is fine," he said. All we have to worry about now is our defence. That Montreal team throws a lot of passes."

Johnny didn't mention that, along with fullback Normie Kwong, he was one of the big reasons this year why the Edmonton offence was so highly skilled.

Parker and Ivy finally tore themselves away from their elderly admirers, and the Eskimos headed for Athletic Park and their daily secret practice, where the odds are that they are concentrating on pass defence, the weapon that should beat the Alouettes.

Along with Johnny Bright on offence.

NO-FRATERNIZATION RULE PROPOSED

Bandiera Cleared Of Stamp Charges

WINNIPEG (CP) — Commissioner G. Sydney Halter of the Western Interprovincial Football Union said Tuesday night in a statement he is satisfied that no team in the league has received from a player of another team information concerning plays of his club.

However, he added that he intends "to recommend to the union at its next annual meeting that it put into effect a non-fraternization rule applicable to all players prior to games."

Halter issued the statement on completion of an investigation which he said was requested by Calgary Stampeders.

The statement made no reference to the firing of Dean Bandiera, a guard, by the Stamps last Oct. 8. At that time WIFU president Jack Rowland said "Bandiera indicated to some" Winnipeg Blue Bomber players "which plays Stampeders were going to use." Bandiera denied he had disclosed some of his team's plays.

NO DISCIPLINE NEEDED

Halter's statement:

"I have completed an investigation requested by the Stampeder football club and I am satisfied that no team in the Western Interprovincial Union has received from a player of another team, information concerning plays of his team.

"There were some contradictory and uncorroborated statements made inferring that on one accasion two players of opposing teams had exchanged information while fraternizing prior to a game, but the evidence relating thereto is not such that either demands or requires any disciplinary action being taken. Even if in fact such information was exchanged, I am satisfied that neither team received any advantage or was placed at any disadvantage thereby.

"I have concluded from the investigation that too much fraternization exists prior to games between members of competing clubs.

GOALIE FINED

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) —Gil Mayer, goalie for the American Hockey League's Pittsburgh Hornets, was fined $100 Tuesday for what coach Howie Meeker called "indifferent play."

Als Wary of Esks, Rate Champs Stronger

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes got in their last workout Tuesday—believed devoted largely to a pass defence against the split-T—before they limber up again on Thursday at Whalley, B.C.

There will be two drills—Thursday and Friday—at the town 12 miles from Vancouver where the Als will stay until they face Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup game Saturday at Empire Stadium.

All the players, including five who were injured in last Saturday's eastern final, worked out on Tuesday.

The full squad of 34 players—although only 26 can be dressed for the game — made the trip to Vancouver, leaving by chartered TCA plane this morning. They arrive tonight.

SCOUTED BOTH GAMES

The entire party is expected to number 52, including coaches, club officials and a group of newspaper men.

In workouts so far since the eastern final coach Douglas "Peahead" Walker has made use of information brought back by assistant coach Jimmy Dunn and scout Joe Zaleski from the West. Dunn watched the first game of the Edmonton-Winnipeg playoff and Zaleski the second.

Dunn goes along with the general belief hereabouts that the Eskimos are stronger than they were last year when they snatched the game out of Alouettes' hands to win 26-25.

Dunn is inclined to think that with Jackie Parker at quarterback the Eskies have a more mobile and faster backfield. Last year Bernie Faloney was the quarter and he razzle - dazzled Alouettes throughout the first half with his ball handling while working out of the split-T. Parker was the man who ran off with the game-winning touchdown.

NOT PASS-HAPPY

Zaleski said it would be "hard to tell" if the Eskimos are stronger than Toronto Argonauts, who all but snatched the eastern final from the Als.

"They play a different game," said Zaleski. "The Eskimos consider the plunge more productive than the pass. The West isn't pass-happy any more. There weren't any Etcheverrys, Dublinskis and Jacobs out there this season."

Reminded that Eskimos scored two pass touchdowns in the second game against Winnipeg, Zaleski said: "They tell me they passed more in that game than in any previous one.

"The Eskimos run option plays off the split-T. They can either run or pass off their formations. They have fine deception and their linemen are unusually fast. Normie Kwong and Johnny Bright are power hitters from the fullback spot."

ALOUETTES HEAD WEST

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes, the first eastern Canada football club to test western Grey Cup hospitality, left here by air this morning on the first leg of their trip to Vancouver.

The chartered Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star pulled away from the ramp at Dorval airport at 7.15 a.m.

Trainers, coaches, club officials and reporters accompanied the squad of 34 players.

MATCH AT OAK BAY SUNDAY

Pairings Decided For Challenge Golf

The draw has been made for the second challenge match between Royal Colwood Golf Club's picked side and the "rest."

The "rest" won the initial match at Royal Colwood this spring by a 14½-12½ score, when six-man teams represented the two teams.

On Sunday at Victoria Golf Club, eight-man teams will be the order, with the foursomes to start play at 9 in the morning and the singles at 12.30.

Some interesting matches should result.

Two-ball foursome draw follows with Colwood players first named:

Bill McColl and Ted Colgate vs. Hugh Morrison and Dr. George Bigelow.

Vic Painter and Jim Robertson vs. Bob Fleming and John Merriman.

George Andrews and Vince Clarkson vs. Bob Morrison and Frank Scroggs.

Bill Court and Harold Lineham vs. Laurie Carroll and Gordon Verley.

Singles: McColl vs. Fleming; Robertson vs. H. Morrison; Andrews vs. R. Morrison; Painter vs. Bigelow; Colgate vs. Scroggs; Clarkson vs. Merriman; Court vs. Carroll; Lineham vs. Verley.

YEAR'S FIRST BORN, ESKS' FIRST CITIZEN

By DENNY BOYD

Jackie 'Moves' When He Isn't

You'd sort of expect a person born on New Year's Day to be something explosive, colorful and unique.

Jackie Parker, born on Jan. 1, 1932, suits all those descrptions.

The Edmonton Eskimo quarterback, who will probably be remembered as one of the greatest Grey Cup heroes of all time, is an enigma of a football player.

They say he can't pass. Yet, he can roll out on the option and flutter a soft pass down the sidelines to his backfielders or he can drop straight back and drill hand-bruising bullets to his big ends.

The way his arches are broken down, he shouldn't be able to run across the street fast enough to beat a green light.

Yet he was good enough as a halfback last year with Edmonton to be named the WIFU's most valuable player and All-Canadian halfback. He runs with a peculiar flat-footed shuffle but he has a shift guided by a sixth sense and deceptive speed. Given a key block around the end, Parker can go all the way and is just as much a scoring threat as any of his illustrious backfield mates.

He is a strong tackler on defence, covers passes well and—well, he was playing defensive half last year in the Grey Cup when Chuck Hunsinger made that fumble and you remember what Parker did in that moment of opportunity.

To add to his effectiveness, Parker has been practicing kicking field goals this week, just in case anything happens to Bob Dean on Saturday.

But in spite of all his talents, it is difficult to pin-point just what it is that makes Parker so great.

Veteran guard Frankie Morris, who will be entering his sixth Grey Cup Saturday, scratches his head over Parker and says, "Well, I don't know what it is but the guy's just a helluva football player. He doesn't look like he is moving fast but he eats up that yardage something fierce. He just seems to do everything right all the time.

Parker does not look particularly like a football player. His hair is like corn-silk, he has blue eyes and he has an average physique, except for his shoulders, which are as broad as a doorway.

His hands look artistic, rather than strong, but they are priceless tools in the art of faking and passing.

He talks quietly, slowly, with a distinct drawl.

His football career, two years ago, seemed near its end because of foot trouble that almost crippled him. But special built-up fillers for his football boots restored his running ability.

Parker will talk readily about Saturday's impending clash.

"It's going to be another high-scoring game, I think," he says. Maybe not as high as last year's but I think if we can get four touchdowns we can win it. Montreal's got Etcheverry and we'll have to stop him. We'll move well along the ground but we have to keep that ball away from them. You can't throw the long pass against them because they've got that Hal Patterson and if you put the ball up in the air near him, he'll go after it and take it away from you."

"They'll probably make us under-dogs again but, in one game like this, anything can happen. Look at last Saturday, for example. Montreal had beaten Argos four times during the season and Argos had trouble with every other team in the league. But all of a sudden, Toronto gets hot. Like I say, anything can happen in a game like this."

Cougars Jarred, Mostly by Canucks

Plane Trouble, Bus Crash, Then Defeat

Saskatoon 3, Winnipeg 1
Vancouver 4, Victoria 2
Calgary 5, Regina 0

Victoria Cougars are a little groggy today after a harrowing trip to the mainland Tuesday night, and they can hardly be blamed after the evening was over.

First, their plane had internal disorders that kept the team one hour and 15 minutes late for their WHL encounter with Vancouver, then the police-escorted bus on the way to the Forum was involved in a collision with a car.

No one was injured. But in the game the Canucks, behind 2-1 at the end of the second period, tied it up early in the third and scored two goals in the last 44 seconds of play to jolt the Cougars more severely, 4-2, and move four points out in front in the western division.

Still reeling from the disastrous evening and the fifth loss in their last six starts, the Cougars will take on last-place New Westminster Royals at Memorial Arena Friday night in their next game.

In prairie division action Tuesday night, Calgary Stampeders lengthened their first place lead over Edmonton to four points by blanking Regina Regals, 5-0, while Saskatoon dumped Winnipeg, 3-1.

Rookie Bruce Carmichael tied it up for the Canucks in the second on a three-man break, but Don Chiupka's goal on Bill Davidson's rebound near the end of the frame put the Cougars out in front again, 2-1.

Canucks started off fast in the third period, with Doug Ford, on a play with Wylie and Egan, potting the equalizer at 3.15. Then the Forum roof fell in on the Cougars.

A little bit tired by their night's activities, the Cougars were willing to settle for a 2-2 tie and overtime when Wylie slapped in the winner from a face off in the Victoria zone at 19.44.

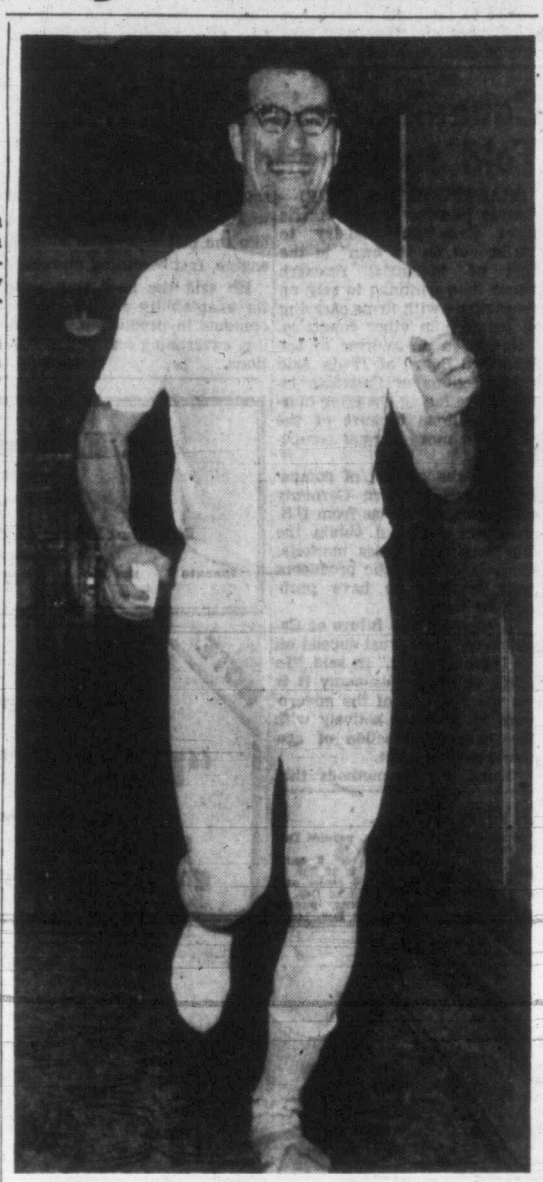
Maloney slid the puck into an empty net seconds later as the Cougars pulled goalie Marcel Pelletier in favor of the extra attacker.

To top the evening off, Paul Strasser hurt his shoulder in the game, and the extent of his injury is not yet known.

STAMPS ROMP

In Calgary, the Stampeders took a 4-0 lead in the opening two periods against Regina and took it easy in the third. Goalie Ray Fredericks had to be agile at times in the third as the Regals tried vainly to spoil his shutout. Duke with two, Finney, Hucul and Shvetz scored the goals.

In Winnipeg after a scoreless first period, Dick Lamoureux and Jackie Mcleod gave Quakers a 2-0 lead in the second and Dave Gordichuk added another in the third. Skip Burchell scored Winnipeg's lone goal late in the second period



DRAW MY BAWTH, JEEVES

The Empress Hotel is getting used to the Edmonton Eskimos now. Patrons just smile benignly when they see the Esks, in full football gear, heading for practices. Even after practice, sights such as fullback Bob Kimoff, attired in long-handled underwear, streaking for a hot shower, attract no more attention than a tweedy Englishman heading for tea. Russell Cup Rugby Scheduled Friday

Opening game of the annual Howard Russell Cup high school rugby series, between Victoria High and Oak Bay High, will be played at Vic High pitch Friday afternoon.

The game, first of a best-of-three competition, was originally scheduled for Monday afternoon but was postponed because of poor grounds.

Defending champion Vic High kept warmed up for the series by downing Shawnigan Lake Boys' School, 15-3, in an exhibition game Monday at Carnarvon Park.

See Football Game Saturday, Go Job-Hunting on Monday

VANCOUVER — Downtown Vancouver department stores expect to have full staffs on hand on Grey Cup day.

The stores have issued warnings to their employes that anyone who misses work Saturday will be fired, unless he can produce a doctor's certificate stating he was really sick.

Toronto is giving itself a gentle ribbing in its Grey Cup floats.

One of the three floats shows a Toronto subway train plunging into an open manhole. Another is a model of Varsity Stadium with a 'for rent' sign hanging on it.

Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver wants city merchants to boost the Grey Cup festival.

He suggested that merchants light up all their store windows Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. He also said the city hall will be lit up for the three nights.

* * *

Grey Cup fans from Kamloops, B.C., returning to their interior city Sunday following the gridiron game at Vancouver, will get a chance to attend church services right at the railway station.

Canon J. C. Foley of St. Paul's Cathedral church in Kamloops said he will be at the depot to hold mass for returning Roman Catholics.

* * *

Chairman John Dunsmuir of the Grey Cup committee wants Vancouver merchants to adopt the slogan "show 'em and sell 'em" for the Grey Cup weekend.

Dunsmuir said "every citizen of Vancouver should exude enthusiasm and friendliness all through Grey Cup days—Thursday, Friday and Saturday—so that our visitors may go away with only pleasant recollections and know Vancouver really is the capital of the west.

* * *

The president of the Greater Vancouver Tourist Association echoes Dunsmuir's sentiments.

George C. Bradley says "courteous treatment of visitors will do a great deal to establish the reputation of Vancouver as a friendly place and a good centre to holiday."

Vancouver's anti-litter co-ordinator says he won't be a spoilsport regarding plans to fling a half-ton of confetti on the Grey Cup parade Saturday morning.

The plan for the confetti shower was advanced by parade chairman Frank Baker yesterday. Anti-litter co-ordinator urban Nelson said he would not buck the request that office workers tear up waste paper and throw it down on the parade.

Prince Due For Thursday Mat Feature

Prince Mai Iva of Samoa will meet Don Kindred of New York at Victoria Ballroom Thursday in the main event of the weekly professional wrestling show, for sure.

The Prince, who was billed into the ballroom last week, never did reach Victoria because of the weather, so is coming here early this time in order not to disappoint the mat fans again.

Also on the bill are Tex McKenzie and Murder Mills, who meet in the semi-main, and Irish Jack Dillon and Ken Kenneth, who will trade grunts in the special event.

Esquimalt Takes Junior Rugby Title

Esquimalt High School returned to the rugby wars with a flourish Tuesday.

After dropping out of inter-high school rugby competition for a year, Esquimalt captured the Junior High School League championship Tuesday with an 8-0 victory over defending champion Oak Bay. The win, coupled with Esquimalt's previous 9-3 victory, gave them the best-of-three title series in straight games.

Grant McFarlane scored the first try for Esquimalt and Daryl McIntyre converted. McIntyre later ran over for the second try for a personal score of five points.

TWO TEAMS UNBEATEN

Farmers Share City Hoop Lead

With Gordy Jones and Don Strank supplying a two-fisted attack, Farmer Construction belted Drake Hotel, 60-40, to move into a tie for first-place in the Senior B Basketball League Tuesday night.

Farmers now have three wins and no losses and share the lead with Dickinson & Dunn, holders of an identical record.

Jones and Strank funneled in 21 and 14 points respectively to lead the Farmer attack. Farmers held a slim 27-24 lead at the half but poured on the coals in the second half to pull away from Drakes, who went down to their second loss

Gary Taylor led Drakes with a 16-point barrage.

Drakes and Nomads, both without a victory, will tangle Thursday night at Central Junior High School at 9.

In preliminary games Tuesday night, "B's" senior women defeated junior Meteors, 31-21 and St. Louis College bantams trounced Brentwood, 32-18.

GRAIN

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flax trade was quite active on the Winnipeg grain exchange today. There was good commercial demand, mostly in shipping and export purchases.

Prices were firm on light offerings. There were reports of parcel lots of flax sold to the continent.

Oats and barley trading was mostly routine and there was little feature to the rye trade.

Overnight wheat export loadings included 355,000 bushels to Poland, 340,000 to Switzerland, 300,000 to the United Kingdom, 130,000 to Norway, 70,000 to Rhodesia and small parcel lots to Malta and Hong Kong.

Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat prices were unchanged.

Canadian Wheat Supplies Show Fractional Increase

WINNIPEG (CP) — Visible stocks of Canadian wheat registered a fractional increase during the week ended Nov. 16, the board of grain commissioners reported.

Supplies in store and in transit visible positions totaled 367,100,000 bushels, compared with 355,400,000 the week previous.

Farmers' marketings were 900,000 bushels heavier at 5,700,000 and Canadian domestic shipments at 2,400,000 were also up over the previous week's volume.

Overseas exports registered a further decline, falling off to 2,400,000 bushels, compared with 3,000,000 the week before and 4,800,000 during the week of Nov. 17 last year.

Vancouver-New Westminster shipped 900,000 bushels and Montreal 1,500,000 to make up the overseas movement.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Papers, Steels Move Higher

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market consolidated its gains in most major components during mid-afternoon trading today.

Papers, steels, refining oils and miscellaneous stocks moved irregularly higher. General Dynamics gained $2.50 and Ford A $2.

Base metals were a little more lively after a dull spell. International Nickel gained $1. Anglo-Rouyn was active among the golds, adding 15 at $1.54. Uraniums were mixed.

Among western oils, most senior issues moved forward fractions.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dividend declarations and split proposals made trading lively in the stock market today at generally higher prices.

It was the second straight day of recovery, and prices were ahead 1 to 2 points in many areas.

Canadian stocks were higher. International Nickel gained ⅛, Canadian Pacific ⅜, Hiram Walker ¼ and Distillers Seagram ⅛.

Giant Yellowknife, Canadian issue on the American stock exchange, slipped 1-16.

LONDON (Reuters) — Business remained restricted and selective on the London stock market today.

Small investment buying helped British funds and dominion and colonial stocks which were fractionally harder.

Dollar stocks adjusted sharply higher following the advance of Wall Street.

The feature of oils was marked by firmness of Shell and Royal Dutch where buying was on dividend anticipation.

Stock closings: Babcock and Wilcox 78s, Canadian Pacific $56¾, General Electric 62s 3d, Hudson's Bay Co. 151s 9d, Imperial Chemical 46s 1½d, Imperial Tobacco 60s, Metal Box 55s, Mexican Eagle 23s 3d, Rand Mines 70s, Rolls-Royce 109s 9d.

Bonds: British 2½s consols £57½, British 3½s war loans £76⅞, British fundings 4s 1960-90 £91¼.

Financial Times index of stocks: 189.9, down 0.3.

MONTREAL (CP) — Prices tended to move in both directions in the industrial classifications of the stock market today.

The base metal group continued strong, and miscellaneous industrials showed a majority of improvements.

Banks were firm and papers advanced irregularly.

VANCOUVER—Sales in oils and gas were fairly active on the market this forenoon.

Calnorth sold 1,000 at 16½. Okalta moved 1,600 at $1.99. Sparmac sold 3,500 at 37. Vanalta traded 1,000 at 19. Van-Tor moved 7,200 between $1.10 and $1.15. Yankee Princess sold 3,500 at 88. Bethlehem Copper traded 3,000 at 80. Beaver Lodge sold 1,000 at 47.

Chamber of Commerce Petitions Government on Balance of Trade

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Chamber of Commerce today urged the government to re-examine Canada's foreign trade policy, including the measures that might be taken to offset large unfavorable balances of trade.

The chamber, in a brief presented to the cabinet, referred particularly to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

It said GATT could become a vital instrument in expansion of world trade.

TARIFF RATES

The tendency by some member nations to withdraw and renegotiate certain items covered by the 36-country agreement should be progressively eliminated.

A re-examination of Canada's foreign trade policies should include consideration of tariff rates, restrictive customs regulations and means of safeguarding Canada's trade relations "to the maximum extent possible."

It should include a study of counter measures that might be taken to offset large unfavorable balances of trade.

The chamber brief, presented by a group headed by Raymond Dupuis of Montreal, the chamber's national vice-president, urged wider understanding of the importance of multilateral trading among nations and broader convertibility of currencies to facilitate international payment and the freer flow of capital throughout the world.

The chamber also expressed concern over "the very serious reduction" in immigration to Canada this year and suggested government immigration policy be re-appraised.

Markets to Close Thanksgiving Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Financial and commodity markets throughout the United States will be closed Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

Canadian and European markets will be open as usual.

Canadian Industrialists Told to Expand Research

BRANTFORD, Ont. (BUP)—Finance Minister Walter Harris urges Canadian industry to "strike out on its own" in the field of industrial research rather than continue to rely on associations with firms carrying on research in other countries.

Harris, in an address to the Brantford Board of Trade, said some sections of Canadian industry are facing changing market conditions because of the return to more normal competition.

Citing the growth of competition from Western Germany and Japan, as well as from U.S. producers who can obtain the full benefits of mass markets, Harris said domestic producers "will continue to have problems to face."

"Essentially the future of Canadian industry must depend on the industry itself," he said. "In a free enterprise economy it is not the function of the government to interfere actively with the natural direction of economic development.

"Some of the methods that served Canadian enterprises well during the prewar era are, like the piston-powered aircraft engine, fast becoming obsolete."

He said the need was acute for adaptability and new developments in production, marketing, advertising and public relations.

'Fresh Charm' In New Ballet

Reborn Winnipeg Group Draws Near-Capacity Audience Here

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

There is an aura of fresh, youthful charm about the re-born Royal Winnipeg Ballet Company which invests it with a character peculiarly its own. For one at once senses the immense potentiality of the group while taking pleasure in what has already been accomplished in the direction of style and polish.

A near-capacity audience Tuesday night at the Royal Theatre brought the company back for four enthusiastic curtain calls at the conclusion of their performance.

From several points of view, the company seems to have retained all that was best of its former self but there is added, a new definition, a discipline of body, form and design that contributes to an impression of beauty through ascetism. And it is that quality which true balletomanes will have found so thrilling last night.

There were many moments when the stage composition took on a quality of inspiration. Tremendous effect was obtained with great simplicity.

COMPLETELY ABSORBED

Outstanding work by the corp-de-ballet in the three act work "Devil in the Village" gave the piece an exciting dramatic significance. The whole cast of this new work appeared completely absorbed in the performance.

The part of the young lover in the quaint fable is a tremendous challenge — a really rewarding role for the principal danseur. To it Victoria-born Bill McGrath brought quite thrilling interpretive powers to which his thorough technical command and lissome body gave complete expression.

Jill Ali as the sweetheart was delightful: Again here was full understanding and expression, particularly in the scenes depicting the love idyl of the boy and girl.

Others well worthy of mention were Marina Katronis, Alex Yenko and Ted Patterson. Paddy McIntyre was a slim and fascinating devil who danced like thistledown.

The ballet was a fascinating pattern of contrasts in mood, tempo and rhythm. Perhaps over-long, it nevertheless had scenes which will remain long in memory.

One is likely to remember the "Devil in the Village" for its sincerity, vitality and brilliant choreography, just as one remembers Sadler's Wells' "Swan Lake" for its classic perfection of style.

Some of this classic perfection was noted in the Bluebird pas de deux danced by Carlu Carter and Bill McGrath. These two dancers would surely grace any company for aside from their undoubted technical elegance, they captured in this lovely number something that is frequently missed—the delicacy, the subtle nuance which is akin to a Chinese painting on silk.

Tonight's program will include a modern ballet, Parable, danced to music of Bach, "Don Quixote," a classic number, and a second performance of "The Devil in the Village."

Frank E. Woodside Retires; Mining's Sparkplug in B.C.

Frank E. Woodside, manager of the B.C. and Yukon Chamber of Mines, Vancouver, since 1928, has retired amid a flood of tributes from miners who say he has done more for mining than anyone in the province.

Born on a farm on Prince Edward Island, Frank Woodside came to B.C. in 1896 and was among the first wave of lode miners who moved into the Trail-Rossland area that year.

He prospected through the area, once came down with pneumonia on the trail and nearly died.

But he lived to give years of valuable service to the Chamber of Mines

BBC Deluged With Protests Over Santa Claus Discussion

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corporation was accused today of undermining Santa Claus.

The row grew out of a television program called "The Brains Trust" in which leading personalities discuss questions sent in by listeners. The program Sunday came on just before the time set aside by BBC for "Children's TV Hour."

One of the questions was "at what age should children be encouraged not to believe in Father Christmas — or should they ever be allowed to start?"

Dr. Jacob Bronowski, scientist and father of four, said: "I shall let my children go on believing in Father Christmas as long as they want to."

Actress Wendy Hiller said: "When my children found there was no Father Christmas they were not disillusioned at all but took the fact quite calmly."

Commander A. B. Campbell of the Royal Navy said: "I have no children but I am not sure that I still don't believe in Father Christmas a little bit."

The BBC admitted receiving a "heavy deluge" of complaints from parents whose children were upset that anyone had any doubts on Santa. Some parents protested that "Christmas has been ruined for our children."

The BBC explanation: "Children old enough to understand The Trust should be beyond believing in Father Christmas."

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) BB (Worthwhile)
A (Don't Miss) B (For Rainy Days
C (To put in time)

(OSCAR CLASS) "GATE OF HELL" (Dominion): The connoisseur and dilettante of the art of motion picture making will be among the first to understand why the superb Japanese film "Gate of Hell" was voted 1955's top foreign film and the best in color, costume and design. Truthfully, in this respect, it is in a class by itself.

Starring ranking Japanese star Machiko Kyo, "Gate of Hell" is the story of warlords some 800 years ago and of how a faithful wife lays down her life for her husband, lord and master.

BUT IT IS THE DETAIL of "Gate of Hell" that Occidental eyes should find most fascinating. The open Japanese houses, the manner of eating, sleeping, the humility of servant before master or mistress, the place of the head of the house in contrast to the wife's. While watching the motion one feels sure that should the projector stop an exquisite Japanese print would be left suspended on the screen.

As in "Ugetsu," another extraordinary example of Japanese craftmanship, "Gate of Hell" is directed with a sureness and simpleness that is a rarity in most western produced films. The camera plays deftly with "incidents," seemingly unrelated, then equally as deftly draws them together for a finely-etched characterization or plot supplemental. When the curtain rings down the audience is in no doubt as to what has transpired and takes home an image of the characters that makes the whole seem more real than the unreal should be.

THERE IS, OF COURSE, A definite drawback to "Gate of Hell." It is the same deterrent accompanying all foreign films. This is the language barrier. Although English subtitles are supplied these definitely detract. We point this out as a duty but, at the same time, realize that this cannot be helped.

One more warning: "Gate of Hell" is not for the average theatre-goer merely bent on entertainment. This is a picture that must be admired much as one would pause to admire any object of art. It cannot be watched with one eye but with both eyes, also with both ears and whatever has been given to you inside, that indefinable thing that appreciates beauty in story and in man's timeless challenge to create and re-create the marvels of God and man.

Knowing U.S. Wins $32,000 For Ex-Czech

NEW YORK (UP)—A Czech-born naturalized citizen Tuesday night won $32,000 on the Columbia Broadcasting System's television show, "The $64,000 Question," by answering difficult questions about American history.

Steven Frolich demonstrated an amazing knowledge of the history of his adopted land by answering questions concerning amendments to the U.S. constitution.

He was asked the dates that each of the last seven amendments was adopted and the subject that each concerned. Frolich not only gave the dates and subjects, he voluntarily named the president under whose administration each was adopted.

School Lads' 'Twelfth Night' Opens Friday

University School Two-Night Stand

For the most ambitious dramatic project in their history, University School students have not only spent long hours in rehearsal but they have also built their own scenery.

The production—Shakespeare's comedy, "Twelfth Night"—will be seen this week; on Thursday evening at a private performance and on Friday and Saturday evenings when it will be open to the general public.

Christopher Berrisford who has been a master at the school for the past two years and who formerly worked in England with the Oxford Dramatic Socity, directs the play and has designed the scenery.

The production is being presented in the assembly hall and Mr. Berrisford has arrived at an ingenious way of overcoming the absence of a stage. He has incorporated into his design a variety of levels and flights of steps, adding not only to the interest of movement within the play and its dramatic effectiveness, but also, from an audience viewpoint, ease of visibility.

Elizabethan custom which decreed that boy actors take women's parts, makes Shakespearean plays and particularly the comedies, effective vehicles for all-boy casts.

Incidental music used throughout the production is by the early English composer, Henry Purcell.

'THE LAST SUPPER'

One of the 22 impressive scenes from the world famed Black Hills Passion Play featuring Josef Meier as the Christus supported by a cast of 150 is the Last Supper. Left to right is Heinrich Meier as John the Beloved Disciple, centre Josef Meier as the Christus, right Harrison Aulger as Simon Peter. The noted drama will be seen at the Memorial Arena, Dec. 8, 9 and 10, tickets for all performances go on sale tomorrow morning at Eatons Music Centre.

Catholics Crusade On 'Lax' Movie Code

WASHINGTON (UP) — American Catholic bishops today announced a crusade against immoral movies which they said have reached a record high in the United States.

The bishops accused American movie producers of laxity in applying the Hollywood production code, which is designed to eliminate objectionable films.

They said their campaign will include revitalizing the Catholic legion of decency which screens movies and other art forms.

"The crusade will reach into every one of the church's 131 archdioceses and dioceses to correct the apathy of many people and to arouse Catholics to vigorous protests over the increase in objectionable films," the National Catholic Welfare Conference said.

The NCWC, speaking for the bishops, said the Catholic leaders were aroused by a report by the Most Rev. William A. Scully, Bishop of Albany and chairman of the bishop's committee on motion pictures.

Scully told the bishops, gathered for their annual meeting here last week, that the legion of decency had listed "the largest percentage of objectionable films in its history" this year.

Coast Shipping Probe Sets Final Hearing

OTTAWA (CP)—Final hearings of the federal royal commission on coastal shipping will open at Ottawa Jan. 4. The hearings are expected to last about 10 days. The three-man commission under Mr. Justice W. F. Spence of the Ontario Supreme Court has held hearings across Canada during the last few months.

SUPER TALENT FINDER

Daring 'One-Man UN' Just Gambling Fool

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The biggest gambler in show business is not a Las Vegas plunger but a man who boasts that he has been called "a one-man United Nations."

He's impresario Sol Hurok. For more than 30 years he has been scouring the world for attractions he feels will entertain and elevate North Americans. Sometimes his choices have failed. More often they have succeeded.

At present he is shepherding one of his most successful gambles through the United States. He is here with the Sadler's Wells Ballet Company, which has drawn millions of dollars from ballet fans in the U.S. and Canada during tours for Hurok.

The talent finder was glowing over one of his recent triumphs, the Scottish Guards.

CARRIED CONTRACT

"I was working on this deal for several years," he reported. "Finally I arranged with the British army to bring them over. I had hoped they would provide planes, but it didn't work out. That meant it would cost $300,000 to bring them here.

"I carried the contract around in my pocket for two months, afraid to show it to my staff. They would have thought I was crazy, spending so much on an attraction that had never been proven."

He booked the bagpipers, dancers and marchers into Madison Square Garden for one night. It was a $40,000 sell-out. The Garden's Ned Irish offered to move a boxing date so the Scotsmen could return in December. Three more Garden dates have been set, and Hurok said they'll all sell out.

"The attraction is now doing virtual capacity business on tour,' he reported. "I expect to gross over a million dollars."

DIPPING INTO TV

Other current and upcoming Hurok gambles: The Comedie Francaise, the Spanish ballet, the Kabuki dancers of Japan, the Santa Cecilia choir, 300-year-old organization on its first journey away from Rome; and London's Old Vic, which will tour the United States starting next fall.

Hurok now is dipping into TV. He'll present the full-length "Sleeping Beauty" by the Sadler's Wells on NBC Dec. 12 and a collection of his concert stars on "Music for Millions" Jan. 30.

"I think TV has helped the concert business," he observed. "It has helped raise tastes and create an appetite for the better things. On the other hand, it keeps people home unless there is an attraction that is strong enough to draw them to theatres. Thus some of the mediocre concert attractions have suffered."

THAT'S WHAT IT'S ABOUT

This is the Grey Cup, trophy awarded to the Canadian football champions, which will be fought for in Vancouver Saturday, Nov. 26 by Edmonton Eskimos, last year's victors, and Montreal Alouettes. It is on display in a Vancouver department store. Mrs. Peggy Foster of Vancouver holds the cup. (CP photo.)

DISTRICT NOTES: The final session of the Cub leaders' preliminary training course was held on Monday evening at headquarters, 1034 Johnson Street. It was a handicraft evening, some really first-class jungle, camp, farm and waterfront scenes were made.

Allan Heath, Tillicum, was invested as a leader during the evening. The session finished with a camp-fire and mug-up.

* * *

The one night "bag-o-bulbs" blitz campaign will be held Saturday, Nov. 26. All groups are asked to get their supply of bulbs. They should contact Scout headquarters or Ted Estlin.

There will be a prize for the group selling the most bulbs based on a per capita of scouts in the group.

* * *

OAKLANDS GROUP: The Scout troop will run a "Scout Toy Shop," repairing broken toys for kiddies who perhaps would have to go without for Christmas. They have obtained a workshop on Wharf Street where the work will be carried out. This will mean a lot of hard work on the part of the boys and a real "good turn."

People who have toys that can be repaired and would like to give them to the scouts should leave them at 734 Yates Street. The scouters of this troop are Joe Murphy and Robin Kinney.

Pat George received his swimmer's badge at the last meeting of this troop.

* * *

QUALICUM GROUP: The group committee elected Albert Brooks as chairman, Basil Burgoyne as vice-chairman, George Branston treasurer, Jack Russell as secretary, and scoutmaster, W. Barnum.

* * *

CAMPBELL RIVER GROUP: A father and son banquet was held recently at which the district commissioner, Stan Jemson, and former scoutmaster, Constable Tom Foster, attended. Among the guests were Oscar Thulin, Rotary club; T. B. Hargreaves, Elk Falls Co.; Canon T. D. Proctor, Rev. C. L. Streight, scout leaders Don McIvor and R. B. Jamieson. This group is now looking for a Rover Scout leader as there are a number of scouts old enough to move on.

* * *

DUNCAN-CHEMAINUS DISTRICT held its annual meeting and dinner on Friday.

Maj.-Gen. C. A. Murison, reeve of North Cowichan, was the guest speaker. He said a good Scout will be a good leader and make a good citizen.

Col. T. V. Sandys-Wanch was re-elected president for his eighth successive term. He reported on the five leaders and 12 Scouts who attended the world jamboree, and stated that the sum of $550 was raised to help 11 Scouts from other countries to attend.

* * *

Robert Milks, executive commissioner, will show pictures of the Scout jamboree in the Legion hall, Dunford road, Langford, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m.

Scouts, Cubs, their parents and residents of Langford are invited. Refreshments will be served by the group committee to Langford Scouts and Cubs.

* * *

AT CAMPBELL RIVER a new Cub Pack was formed by district commissioner S. Jemson. Akela is Alfred Cool, with Mrs. M. Symons as assistant.

* * *

AT CARNARVON Church Hall the newly formed Wolf Cub Pack will hold its first meeting Thursday evening, when it is expected to complete the registration of the group committee.

Rolling Logs Kill B.C. Man

GREENWOOD, B.C. (CP)—Frank Thompson of Greenwood was killed near here Tuesday when he was crushed beneath logs which fell from his truck.

Mr. Thompson, born in Grand Forks, B.C., moved to nearby Greenwood in 1935.

He is survived by his widow, a son, a daughter, three brothers and a sister.

Road Contracts Hit $10 Million

100 Miles of Road Jobs Let By Gaglardi; Aid to Jobless

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi announced Tuesday that more than $10,000,000 in road contracts were let in September and October, aimed at boosting winter employment.

Contracts amount to more than 100 miles of new road.

Tenders for two additional projects were opened Tuesday.

Emil Anderson Construction Co. Ltd. submitted low bid on a three-and-a-half-mile section of the Horseshoe Bay-Squamish Highway, at $608,532.

The tender was for the last link on the 20-mile highway, which will cost an estimated $6,000,000.

P. L. Law Co., at $674,271, was low bidder on a seven-mile section of the new 50-mile route across the Cascades, a project which will take "two or three years" to complete.

T-C WORK

Contracts awarded in September and October call for: 34.81 miles of new road on the Trans-Canada Highway in the Fraser Canyon and the Interior; 14.41 miles in the Okanagan; 22.96 miles on the Northern Trans-Provincial; 15 miles on the Southern Trans-Provincial; and 12.85 miles on the Squamish highway.

Mr. Gaglardi said a number of bridges under construction, or about to start, will ease unemployment. They are the Harrison River bridge, $1,000,000; Pitt River bridge, $1,000,000, and the Robertson River bridge on the Island.

Second Narrows Bridge at Vancouver, a $16,000,000 project, is expected to be under construction in early spring. First contracts for sub-structure work will be awarded in December.

FLOATING BRIDGE

The Nelson bridge, a $3,500,000 project, is under construction. Bridges are being built at Salmo and Sheep Creek at a cost of $98,000.

The floating bridge across Lake Okanagan, estimated to cost $6,000,000, will be started early in 1956. Initial contract will be for causeway work, and is expected to total about $300,000.

Mr. Gaglardi also announced that tenders for gravel crushing totalling $475,000 will be let shortly, to allow work to be done in the winter months.

New Sanitation Levels Planned For B.C. Farms

Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan announced Tuesday he will appoint a committee of dairymen and agriculture department officials to work out standards of sanitation for B.C. milk farms.

Names of committee members have not been revealed, pending acceptance of industry members.

Chairman will be Dr. Duncan MacKenzie, assistant dean of agriculture at UBC. First meeting will be held in Vancouver next week.

Meanwhile, department officials reported they have received letters from 20 persons seeking jobs as barn inspectors. Advertisements will be posted in rural newspapers, seeking eight men for the position.

Both moves follow the reports of "deplorable" filth on Fraser Valley farms contained in the Clyne royal commission report.

Electrician Killed by Atom-Smasher

IRVINGTON, N.Y. (AP)—A young technician was electrocuted Tuesday night while checking a circuit failure in Columbia University's big atom-smashing cyclotron.

Paul S. Marks, 22, entered a door of the cyclotron building. Opening the door automatically cuts off the powerful 5,000-volt circuits used in operating the cyclotron. However, he apparently touched a lower-voltage wire not cut off by the safety device, and fell dead in the doorway.

Few Immigrants Fail Pickersgill Tells Liberals

SMOKY LAKE, Alta. (CP)—Immigration Minister Pickersgill says the federal government is trying "our best to obtain only the good citizen."

Mr. Pickersgill told the Vegreville Liberal Constituency Association Tuesday night that there have been only a few "failures" among immigrants.

"We have been most fortunate in that we have had to deport only a few of our new immigrants and I am proud to say that only a few have been failures," he said.

"There is no doubt that Canada needs more people to populate its vast area but we want the best and we are trying our best to obtain only the good citizen."

Iran Orders First Big Oil Tankers

ROTTERDAM (Reuters) — Iran has ordered two 32,000-ton oil tankers from the Verolme United Shipyards here as a start to building up her own tanker fleet.

This marks Iran's first venture into the shipping business. Until now, the millions of barrels of oil which this Middle East nation produces every year have been transported to all parts of the world aboard chartered foreign tankers.

MUNSHA SINGH
Sikh priest

Sikh Priest Deplores Racism

Despite contributions of East Indians to cultures and business throughout the world, "it is painful to find them still looked on as outsiders and intruders," priest at the Sikh temple here, Munsha Singh Dukhi, told the Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

Discrimination existed against East Indians particularly in Ceylon and South Africa, he said, and this despite the fact many East Indians were born there and were active in the professions.

In these countries "there is a definite anti-East Indian drive."

In British Columbia, where East Indians have been for 50 years, they "are coming up very nicely in every profession," the priest said. Today throughout L.C. are about 2,000 East Indians, including 1,000 on Vancouver Island.

The Sikh temple here was built in 1912.

Weather Control Long Way Off Says Bill Mackie

Forecaster Hopes 'It Never Comes'

Control of the earth's weather is still a long way off, Victoria's chief forecaster William Mackie told North Kiwanis Club Tuesday night.

The guest speaker said although meteorologists have taken huge strides in the last 100 years in forecasting and possible weather control, much remains to be learned about the mechanics of the atmosphere.

Recent study of atomic explosions in the atmosphere has indicated that weather might be controlled in a small way, but to equal the proportions of an average thunderstorm man would have to set off a blast the equivalent of 13 atom bombs, Mr. Mackie said.

WORLD CONTROL

"I hope the day never comes when we can control the weather. Control of the world would be the result," he said, "and who has the wisdom?"

"Anyway, two people could never agree as to what the weather should be."

The weatherman, whose headquarters is at Gonzales Heights observatory, explained that forecasting is a comparatively new science, and its practicability awaited development of modern communication methods such as the telegraph.

The first weather map was drawn in England in 1849 and forecasting began there in 1861. Ten years later it was started in the U.S. and by 1877 weather forecasts were being made in Canada. Victoria got into the forecasting picture in 1898.

Mr. Mackie described how discovery of the "polar front" following the First World War, and the "jet stream" during the Second World War, formed the basis of modern weather recording and forecasting.

FAMED ARCHITECT

Inigo Jones, great architect who died in 1652, was the first to introduce pure Renaissance architecture in England.

Burglar Who Looted Goering's Safe Jailed

EDINBURGH (UP)—A safecracker who turned Commando to open Hermann Goering's Luftwaffe headquarters safe in the Second World War was sent back in jail Tuesday for practicing his craft in peacetime.

The skill that brought John Ramsey, 50, the praise of Allied intelligence chiefs 10 years ago brought him a 10-year sentence in high court this time.

Ramsey parachuted behind enemy lines many times during the war to blast open safes and lift secret enemy war plans. One of his victims was Goering, the Nazi air chief.

He started his life of crime as a "cat' burglar" and progressed to the crowbar and nitroglycerine. His skill at blowing safes was so great that he became renowned in both underworld and police circles.

His arrests brought him a total of 30 years in prison. It was during one of these stretches, in 1942, that police suggested Johnny go straight and use his talents toward winning the war.

During the advance on Rome, Allied leaders wanted a look at secret Axis withdrawal plans. Johnny parachuted behind the lines, cracked the enemy commander's top secret safe and came back with the blueprint.

His real hour of triumph came, however, when he got into Luftwaffe headquarters and cracked Goering's massive safe.

But it was a different story when he was arrested for cracking a safe in Glasgow recently, taking a puny $45 in cash and $4.50 in stamps.

The war hero pleaded for leniency, but the law was firm. "From your conduct and history," the judge said, "you cannot be trusted to abstain from crime."

Atomic Energy Put to Use In Oil Plant

LINDEN, N.J. (AP) — The Esso Research and Engineering Company announced Tuesday that gasoline had been refined by the use of atomic energy in what it called the first such development.

Eger V. Murphree, company president, told reporters crude oil had been exposed to gamma radiation from a 13-inch cobalt pipe and the refining process had worked.

In effect, the gamma radiation replaced the 1,000-degree Fahrenheit temperatures needed to refine the oil.

LONDON (UP) — Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden disclosed today that Britain has approached Soviet Russia on the possibility of limiting arms deliveries to the Middle East. The move was rebuffed.

Grounded Comet Jet Passes RCAF Low-Level Test Flight

OTTAWA (CP) — One of the RCAF's two Comet jet planes, grounded for nearly two years, Tuesday made a flight from Ottawa to Downsview airport near Toronto.

After the flight of less than an hour the crew said it was uneventful.

Two British Comets were lost some two years ago when cabin pressure failed under stress.

An air force spokesman said no decision has yet been reached on whether the Comets owned by the RCAF will be modified so that they can be flown safely at high altitude. The other Comet has been in storage at Downsview.

The Comets, which cost $1,554,000 each, were taken out of service following the action of British Overseas Airways Corp. in grounding its Comet fleet pending an investigation into crashes of the plane.

Deserter Won His Bet —AWOL for 11 Years

PORT ANGLES, Wash (AP) —A man arrested here on a desertion charge told the FBI he left an air force station 11 years ago after making a bet with three friends who could stay absent without leave the longest.

Andrew Johnson, 31, arrested at Neah Bay, Wash., didn't identify the pals but said he was the last to be found.

Richard D. Auerbach, FBI agent at Seattle, said Johnson, a Makah Indian, disappeared from a U.S. air force station at Edmonton in 1944. Johnson was quoted as saying he had kept on the move as a transient laborer most of the time since then. Neah Bay is the home of the Makah Indians.

When arrested Johnson had a job as a logger at Neah Bay, where the FBI said he has a wife and three children.

Auerbach said Johnson, held in jail here, will be turned over to military authorities.

Luxembourg Princess Betrothed

LUXEMBOURG (UP) — The Grand Marshal's office today announced the bethrothal of Princess Elisabeth of the Grand Duchy of Luxembougr and Austrian Prince Ferdinand of Hohenberg.

Blonde, sport-loving and piano-playing Elisabeth is the eldest of the four princesses of Luxembourg. She is 32, born at the castle of Berg in the grand duchy on Dec. 22, 1922.

The princess devotes her spare time to social work and youth activities. During Second World War, when the grand ducal family was in exile, she worked with the British Red Cross.

Prince Ferdinand is a grandson of Austrian Archduke Francois Ferdinand, heir to the Austrian throne, whose assassination was the spark that touched off First World War.

SERIES BY HIS VALET

Hitler's Private Life

Obsessed with idea Rommel was his greatest general, Hitler publicized him into "the idol of the Germans"

By HEINZ LINGE, Hitler's Personal Valet

(World Copyright 1955)

BERLIN—When it became obvious that Mussolini's early success in North Africa would not continue, Hitler decided on German control of military operations there.

At that time he also was quite frank in saying that he wanted any fighting carried out as far from Germany as possible.

He talked about a "tongs" movement or encircling pincer movement, which after Egypt was conquered would enable the German armies in Russia to sweep down and make contact with the other German soldiers at Alexandria.

While we were at Wolfschanze, I remember Hitler saying saying, "Rommel is the man to go there to see what the Italians are doing. He fought against them in the first war and he must know their weaknesses and their strength. He will know what they are worth."

ON HIS OWN

Finally, when reports came in that the Italians were short of oil and fuel in North Africa and were having difficulty in supplying their armies by sea, Rommel was called in, promoted and sent to Africa.

Before he left, Hitler told him bluntly that as the man on the spot, he would have to carry on the campaign entirely on his own. He said he was already helping the Italians in Greece and Albania, and now he thought it wiser to send German troops to North Africa because he felt certain the British would be reinforcing their army there.

Rommel obviously was a man of action in Hitler's eyes. I remember how very pleased the Fuehrer was when he heard that immediately after Rommel arrived in North Africa he went forward in a tank to inspect the position. He then said to both German and Italian soldiers.

"You are complaining that you are short of oil and fuel. Ahead of you is the enemy with supplies of oil and fuel. Go and collect it from them."

As I look back on the events, I think it was then that Hitler made one of his greatest mistakes. He had become so obsessed with the idea that Rommel was one of his greatest generals—if not the greatest—that he sent to North Africa a writer from the Propaganda Department, Ingemar Berndt, with orders to build up Rommel in the German press until he had become an idol of the German people.

At headquarters, Hitler took the decisions to throw everything that could be spared to the assistance of Rommel. Italian shipping was being sunk by British submarines and there were great losses of supplies. Hitler decided that German crews and German ships would be used as much as possible.

To build up Rommel's public personality, Hitler brought him home to appear at the Sports Plast in Berlin after the campaign was well under way.

It was rare for Hitler to stand in the shadows, but on this occasion Rommel stood in the spotlight and Hitler remained a pace or two behind while the audience cheered and cheered.

Several times Rommel was brought to headquarters at Winniza in the Ukraine. Together he and Hitler studied the war maps and afterwards Hitler said, "He is a man standing on his own feet."

All this time the Propaganda Department was building up Rommel. Photographs appeared of him in the front line, in tanks, in conferences and so on.

After Rommel captured Tobruk, I remember Hitler said: "I promoted 12 generals to the rank of field marshal, after the fall of France, and look how they have reached a stalemate in Russia. I had made up my mind that never again would I make one of my generals a field marshal. But with Rommel victorious in North Africa I must make him a field marshal of Germany."

Rommel was ordered to headquarters, and I remember the afternoon Rommel arrived, dusty in his desert uniform, after flying straight from his headquarters outside Tobruk.

He came striding in, not very tall, but very sure of himself. He saluted formally the Fuehrer returned his salute. As the two men shook hands, Hitler became excited and clapped Rommel on the shoulder.

"You are the best man in my army," Hitler said, "and I put my whole trust in you."

Hitler then formally handed to Rommel the baton of a field marshal.

Rommel said little beyond expressing his formal thanks, but it was easy to see he was pleased and proud.

(NEXT: Linge tells of Rommel's quick downfall.)

Tuberculosis Society To Give Mobile X-Ray Unit for Island

A new $30,000 mobile X-ray unit for use in Victoria and other Vancouver Island centres will be presented soon to the B.C. government's department of health and welfare by B.C. Tuberculosis Society.

Mrs. M. A. Kimmitt, chairman of the Soroptimist Club group in charge of the society's TB Christmas seal sale which is now under way here, made the announcement today.

She said funds for the new unit, which will be used to provide free Chest X-rays, have been earmarked from proceeds of the seal sale.

Society objective in B.C. is $180,000. It is hoped $20,000 of this will be raised in Victoria, Mrs. Kimmitt said.

She stressed that success in the drive is essential as tuberculosis—a contagious disease—continues to be one of B.C.'s major health problems.

There were 1,425 new cases of TB discovered in B.C. last year and more than half of these active cases. Each of the active cases — until found and treated—was a potential source of infection to other citizens.

Health officials urge all citizens to have regular chest X-rays as a safeguard against the disease. They stress it is most easily cured when found in the early stage.

The TB Society, with funds from TB Christmas seals, helps finance free chest X-ray surveys, an education program to alert people to TBs dangers, rehabilitation work, and bursaries for nurses and other workers in the TB field.

New Technique Teaches French To Children

Ottawa Experiment Under Close Study

OTTAWA (CP) — A group of English-speaking school children in this bilingual capital are being taught French the way a baby learns to speak—by listening to the language until they are ready to try their conversational wings.

If the experiment turns out more students who can fully understand spoken and written French, the method—brought halfway around the world from Burma—may be adopted in other Ontario schools and perhaps in other provinces.

Key to the new technique is bilingual conversation designed to make a pupil understand oral and written French before he is asked to speak and write it.

Keeping close watch on the experiment, conducted in five Ottawa classrooms among about 160 grade-five pupils, is Dr. Robert Gauthier, director of French education for the Ontario education department.

THEORY FROM BURMA

A year ago, the technique was just an untried theory in the mind of Dr. Tan Gwan Leong, curriculum director of the Burmese education department.

Dr. Gauthier picked it up from Dr. Tan when the two met in Burma last year. The Canadian educationist was sent to the Asian country by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization to help revise Burma's education system.

Dr. Gauthier said the Burmese education department has declined to try the method for the present, preferring to continue with traditional teaching methods. When he reported the theory to UNESCO in Paris he was told the technique had never been tried anywhere. That aroused his interest even more, and the 53-year-old educationist suggested it to the Ontario education department which decided to try it on an experimental basis.

Education officials in other provinces also have expressed interest, said Dr. Gauthier. The method is being tried out — in reverse—to teach English to French-speaking children in two Quebec City classrooms.

SEEMS SATISFACTORY

"It's too early to say whether the experiment which started last September will be successful," he said. "But first impressions are that the technique is working as well as the traditional method."

Dr. Gauthier, who has been with the Ontario education department for 29 years, said it works on the same principle nature uses in teaching a child to speak.

"A baby spends the first couple of years of his life listening to words spoken by his parents. Then, soon, he starts saying the words himself.

"The principle of the new method is about the same. The pupils are taught to listen to French words and expressions spoken by the teacher or heard on phonographs and tape recorders.

"When the teacher asks a pupil in French 'ou est la plume?' (where is the pen?) the pupil replies in English 'the pen is on the desk'—or wherever it happens to be.

"This is where two-language conversation comes in. Pretty soon, the pupil starts using French words of his own accord as he builds his French vocabulary.

"The pupil is allowed to come along at his own pace. It's less tiring and difficult for him than the traditional method of teaching students to read, speak and write the language at the same time.

"Then, slides showing pictures and simple French sub-titles are used simultaneously with phonograph records to tell a simple nursery story. This is where the pupil learns to read French silently and continue to grasp spoken French.

"During the second stage, the pupil is required to express himself in French through oral and written tests which are simple at first and progressively more elaborate. Grammar, spelling, composition and literature come last—after the pupil understands the language.

PAT BAY HIGHWAY BRIDGE OPENED

Highways department officials have ordered the Carey Road Bridge open to traffic, despite the fact approaches have not been paved. "We wanted to hold it up until we had completed paving," said a spokesman, "but it didn't appear we were going to have any decent weather." Bridge crosses over Canadian National Railway tracks, near Saanich headquarters fire hall and the CN contributed $22,500 to the total cost of $85,000. (Times photo by Bill Halkett.)

BETWEEN TIMES

By JUDY BOOTS STREAK

Well here I am again and I bet you can't guess why I am here again in fact if you came in late you probably don't know who I am even let alone why I am here. So I better tell you again I am the female-type doggie who lives at the Old Man's house and sometimes the Old Man bullies me into filling up this space for him only this time I am not doing it because he bullied me this is a labor of love as they say in the pulp magazines.

Why I am here again is to once more heartily fervently completely and without a doubt support the mayor's toy boat pond project at Holland Point which is certainly an ideal $17,500 project if I ever saw a $17,500 project which I certainly did I saw one today.

I have been wondering for some little time how they are getting along with the toy boat pond at Holland Point because you might say I was brought up on Holland Point in a manner of speaking and I can remember it when there was nothing there but gorse bushes and long green grass and winding paths through the wild looking bushes and wild flowers sometimes and the yellow broom at the right time of the year and three seagulls strutting about on the grass.

So you can see how utterly utterly happy I was when the Old Man suggested I take him for a walk on Holland Point and see how they are getting along with the city beautification plan namely a toy boat pond.

Well as soon as we got to Holland Point which is at the foot of Government street on Dallas road in case you are a stranger here yourself I let the Old Man off the leash so he wouldn't hold me back and set about exploring.

And my! what a sight greeted my eyes instead of just green gorse bushes and long grass and three seagulls strutting around the grass there was this great big lovely long curly shaped $17,500 concrete structure, all nice and grey and concrete looking, much better than green grass.

And inside the big lovely long curly shaped $17,500 concrete structure there was water, and in the water were floating some very interesting looking large tin objects and they added a most distinctive note even nicer than the mud piles all around the concrete.

And what do you think were strutting around in the water in the concrete structure the water being only up to their knees if they have knees why the three seagulls of course.

So I dashed gaily in and they flew away just as they used to calling me the vilest names in seagull language which I don't mind at all even if I am a female type dog or perhaps because I am if you know what I mean.

So I say down with all the critics who don't appreciate the finer things of life such as the mayor's $17,500 toy boat pool at Holland Point if there is never a single toy boat sailed in it we doggies will see it is put to the fullest possible use also the seagulls so hurray for the toy boat pool at Holland Point.

City Policeman For 33 Years Leaves Force

A veteran of 33 years as a police officer, Sergeant Sydney Wilkinson, will retire from the city force Thursday at the age of 60.

Members of the force will honor the sergeant Thursday night and present him with a retirement badge.

Sergeant Wilkinson joined the force on April 13, 1922, as a constable. He was promoted to sergeant on March 1, 1935.

Sergeant Wilkinson, whose brother, Maurice, is a member of the city detective staff, served with the navy in the First World War.

He has three children, a son and two daughters, all married and living in the Greater Victoria area.

Oak Bay Fire Chief Dies at 51

The man who organized the Oak Bay fire department and has been its chief since its inception in 1938 died today after a lengthy illness.

Chief Edward G. Clayards died at his home. He was 51. He was born and educated in Victoria. He had returned to active duty Nov. 1 after a long stay in hospital.

Chief Clayards joined the Victoria fire department on May 1, 1926, and remained with the city until he resigned to form Oak Bay's municipal force.

He organized and was the chief of an 11-man department after the Oak Bay fire hall was constructed.

He inaugurated a two-platoon system of working the men.

The department has won many efficiency awards and has always maintained a low rate of fire damage.

He is survived by his wife at home, 1745 Lulie; one son, Ted, with the RCN in Halifax; one daughter, Mrs. Jean Trace at Vancouver; a sister, Mrs. Brock, Saanich; two brothers, a twin, George, Victoria and William, with the RCN at Ottawa.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Co. Ltd.

Sewer Plan Far in Future, Passmore Says

Reports that Saanich has detailed planning stage for another multi-million dollar sewerage development are very premature, Saanich councillor Leslie Passmore, chairman of the Saanich council's sewerage committee said today.

A published report saying the project will probably go to the ratepayers for a vote in December, 1956 is not correst, he said.

This report said the municipality was working with the capital regional planning board to map sewer systems for Cadboro Bay, Marigold, Colquiz and Royal Oak.

Saanich town planning commission and the capital planning board also denied the report.

Clr. Passmore said the council is aware of the need for more sewers and has discussed the long-range problem with planners, "but there certainly are no definite plans for a new project right now."

SOME DAY

"We know we will have to do something more about sewage some day," he said, "but there are no concrete plans for another project in the immediate future."

Clr. Robert Fleming said he would oppose any new sewer project at this time.

"We first must get finances of the original sewer project straightened out.

"We can't start another one when we're in a mess on the current project."

Clr. S. W. Brock could not understand why there should be talk of still another project when the present one is under investigation, and reportedly facing a deficit of anywhere from $225,000 to $1,000,000.

In city police court today Alfred R. Kresier, 442 Barnard, was fined $50 or eight days in jail when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving.

Police said the accused was driving east on Fort on Sept. 16 when in collision with a pedestrian crossing in a stop when occupied zone at Davie.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall suspended his licence.

Hit-Run Driver Pleads Guilty On 3 Counts

Pedestrian Hurt; Fines Total $115

Pleas of guilty were entered on three charges in city police court today for an 18-year-old driver charged in connection with a hit-and-run accident at Douglas and Johnson last Friday.

Fines totaling $115 or 21 days in jail were imposed on Robert E. J. Desormeaux, HMCS Naden.

The sailor was charged with failing to remain at the scene of an accident, careless driving, and driving without insurance. He was apprehended early Sunday morning in connection with an accident which sent pedestrian Robert McIntosh, 30, 3291 Albion, to hospital.

The accident occurred at about 4.45 p.m. Friday during rush-hour traffic.

THOUGHT LIGHT

Police said Desormeaux was driving north on Douglas when he went through a red traffic light at Johnson and knocked the pedestrian down.

The sailor stopped his car about 100 feet beyond he accident and went back to the scene. He told witnesses he was going to park the car, drove off and failed to return.

CONCUSSION

Mr. McIntosh sustained concussion and facial lacerations. He was reported in "good" condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Defence counsel J. G. Ruttan said the accident occurred while the accused was following behind a bus crossing the intersection. He remarked that Desormeaux was driving slowly.

Prosecutor Alan Bigelow noted that the pedestrian had walked halfway across the intersection on a green light before being struck.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall said he was of the opinion that Desormeaux "shouldn't be allowed to drive a car for a substantial period." He suspended his licence.

Danger to City In War Stressed

MONDAY, TUESDAY CLOSING FOR STORES AT CHRISTMAS

Businessmen were alerted today by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce to periods over Christmas and New Years in which stores must remain closed under the shops and factories act.

The provincial government has declared Tuesday, Dec. 27 a holiday, as Christmas falls on Sunday, Monday being Boxing Day is also a holiday. Jan. 2 has also been declared a holiday as New Years falls also on a Sunday.

A chamber spokesman said these closing periods were being stressed well in advance to enable employers to govern staffs accordingly.

Evacuation 'Only Hope'

Victoria is in an extremely dangerous position if war strikes from the air, civil defence experts at Ottawa believe.

Ald. M. H. Mooney, just returned from a course of lectures at the capital, told a Greater Victoria Civil Defence meeting today:

Victoria is on a direct air route from the north to major western U.S. cities.

Only four hours' notice of impending air raids can be expected.

Evacuation is the only hope, and it would have to be to points 100 miles from the attack area.

ONE WAY

Evacuation of Victoria is doubly difficult because there is only one way to go—north—the direction followed by prevailing winds which would carry the fall-out after an atomic explosion.

Ald. Mooney said top defence board planners are agreed the only hope for civilian populations under A or H-bomb attack is evacuation.

The U.S. government estimates a modern air raid would claim the lives of 7,000,000 in the initial attack.

Ald. Mooney said 90 per cent of the people of this area "do not realize the importance of civil defence". Federal government estimates call for participation by at least seven per cent of the population.

"We haven't one per cent in Victoria," he stated.

ARMY JOB

He also recommended all main thoroughfares in the city should be made one-way traffic avenues and that the army should accept the charge of evacuation.

Victoria CD co-ordinator Roger Peachey said 1,000 trained wardens were needed in Victoria.

"There is no hope for success unless the volunteer system of recruitment is dropped," he thought.

The board adjourned until further advice on evacuation methods is obtained from Ottawa, the province and army authorities. All have been contacted by the board in the matter.

Ald. Mooney is scheduled to give an additional report to the board in greater detail when his supply of material arrives from Ottawa. No date was set for the next meeting.

Acclamation Seen In Oak Bay Election

A familiar pattern emerged today in Oak Bay with the announcement that a full slate of candidates is assured for the December municipal election.

Coun. Fred Hawes, Oak Bay resident for 25 years and chairman of the works committee for the last two years, announced today he will stand for re-election.

With candidates named only for the reeveship and three council seats, another of the many Oak Bay elections by acclamation is in the offing.

Reeve Fred Norris seeks re-election, and the present councillors, J. V. Johnson and George Murdoch, have stated they will run again.

Coun. Murdoch will seek re-election to the single police commission vacancy, and W. C. Gelling will stand for re-election to the board of school trustees of Greater Victoria.

Filter-Tip Cigarets Reduced by Two Cents

Filter-tip cigarets are selling at two cents a package cheaper in most Victoria stores today.

The reduction, from 37 to 35 cents a package, followed an announcement by the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada of a two-cent cut in the wholesale price of filter-tip cigarets due to "technological improvements" in their manufacture.

The cut does not apply to imported cigarets, such as Craven A, which are still being sold here at 37 cents.

Du Maurier Tobacco Company has also cut the wholesale price by two cents and other filter-tip manufacturers are expected to do likewise.

An Imperial Tobacco spokesman said the cut was made at the wholesale level to enable retailers to maintain the same margin of profit by selling filter-tips at the reduced price.

In Quebec, where the tax is higher, filter-tips are now selling at 37 cents instead of 39 cents.

Victoria retailers reported little increase in trade from the new price today, but said filter-tips have been growing in popularity ever since the "scare" caused by a report that incidence of cancer is higher among cigaret smokers.

Victoria Tally-Ho Operator To Become 'Roving Ambassador'

For the next six months British Columbia will have its own roving ambassador in the United States.

Well-known operator of Victoria's Tally-Ho tourist sightseeing service, Arthur Knapp early next week will climb aboard a bus—his own—for a 16,000 mile junket to take his family as far afield as the Florida Keys.

"I've been thinking about the trip for a year or so," he said today.

With him will go his wife Phyllis and his five children, ages two to 15.

The bus is no ordinary bus, anymore. He bought it from the B.C. Electric, and remodelled the interior for family living.

The 10,620 pound vehicle, originally designed to carry about 30 passengers, will now house the Knapp family. It will sleep seven and seat seven, including the driver, Mr. Knapp.

Idea of the trip, he said, is to "try and bring more tourists to B.C."

It won't be merely a pleasure jaunt for the family. Four hours of color film, about half in sound, will be taken along with screens and projectors. These films have been supplied by the provincial government forestry department, the province's tourist department, and by large private industry.

They'll be shown at least once daily at stops en route.

At the same time addressed cards will be distributed viewers who can mail them to the B.C. Electric Travel Bureau here, which in turn will provide additional information to possible visitors to B.C. or Victoria.

Mr. Knapp said several city businessmen had put up $30 each to underwrite the trip, in the belief anything done to encourage upped tourist inroads here is worthwhile. The amount, said Mr. Knapp, who expects to use about 2,000 gallons of gas, will handle this expense, oil, and other operating costs.

He intends to "poke along and not rush it."

His children of school age will continue to study by correspondence. Of the trip itself in relation to the family "it will certainly broaden their outlook, an education in itself."

The bus will stay its original yellow color, "because it gets hot in California and Florida. The color will help keep off the heat."

One unique innovation in the bus interior is a shower, made out of the bottom of a washing machine in which the shower-ee stands. When not used for this purpose, clothes can be tossed in and the gentle movement of the bus will act like a washer. At least this is what Mr. Knapp confidently expects.

The films, of course, will be shown free of charge, at resorts, hospitals and clubs.

"Some of the neighbors think we're crazy," said Mr. Knapp, "but when he decide to do something, we do it."

"It will be quite an experience," said his wife.

Mr. Knapp, who seems to think of most things well in advance, has the seating arrangement so designed in height that his youngest ones can see out the windows behind daddy, as well as the older children.

The Knapp's expect to repeat the bus trip yearly, but in some other direction.

So within a few days, tootling along U.S. highways, will be a large yellow omnibus with this lettering on the sides:

"Visit beautiful B.C., Canada."

Motorcycle Theft Admitted By Saanich Youth

A 19-year-old Saanich resident was remanded to next Tuesday for sentence when he pleaded guilty in city police court today to a charge of stealing a motorcycle.

Police said Ronald A. Starck, 19, of 1873 Granville, was arrested Tuesday in connection with the theft which took place on Sept. 29. The motorcycle, valued at $175, was owned by George W. Reid.

Court was told the theft occurred when the motorcycle was parked at Johnson and Government Streets.

The accused took the machine home and while riding it next day day it caught fire and was destroyed. Police said he gave the engine away to a friend and dumped the frame of the vehicle in Gorge waters.

Police made the arrest after an attempt was made by another person to sell the motor.

ASK The TIMES

Q—Will you please tell me to whom I should apply at Ottawa to procure a set of 1955 series of proof Canadian coins, and also the amount I should remit to cover the cost?—G.C.

A.—You should write to the Director of the Mint, Ottawa, Ont. You will be informed as to the charge for this service, which is valued by collectors.

Q—Will you kindly tell how a fish breathes? Does it extract oxygen from free air in the water or break down the composition of the water? A.M.R.

A.—In the gills there is a thin membrane between the water and the blood. Air in solution in the water in its natural state passes through the membrane and enters the blood. At the same time carbon dioxide passes out from the blood through the membrane. Thus, it is a two-way movement.

Victoria-Made Suzie Dolls Can Be Popped Into Wash

By PENNY SAVER

These are real baby-dolls. They measure about six inches long, and are dressed in gaily printed flannelette rompers and bonnets. The faces are embroidered, with big, blue eyes and little sweetheart mouths. Pompoms, matching the color of the outfit, are attached to the feet and hands. The dolls themselves are made of white, soft jersey, so they're easy to wash, and yet stay white and soft. They are made by a Victoria woman, right in her home. Each doll is a little different, and people enjoy choosing the expressions and colors that please them. They cost $1.95 each.

Softly gathered skirts with matching belts, which are so popular this year, are in many colors and materials. I found some new arrivals in town that have soft box-pleats and a wide belt fastened with a gold metal Puritan buckle. In turquoise, wine or mustard flecked winter material, they cost $10.98. Perfect for office or school wear, they're adaptable to many occasions and can be worn with sweaters or blouses very comfortably.

Something a bit different in pearl jewelry, which everyone loves, is the larger, very faintly tinted pearl chokers. The tinted beads are alternated with pink rhinestone-studded beads. To add that spark of color, these are just the thing. Bracelets are matching, and round earrings, a mass of pearls and rhinestones come in the set, too. The necklace and earrings are $5, while earrings are $1.

Christmas parties are beginning to come around, and that means festive clothes to match the mood of the going-on. Versatile separates in skirts and blouses for evening can be given that touch of perfection with just the right belt. There are gold, embossed belts in a local store that would fit in nicely with the party time. They are gold leather, with pink or blue scroll design on them. They fasten smoothly by snaps in the back, and the front is in a slight point. With a rather plain outfit, this would be the focal point, and a very pretty one, too. Pastel blue or pink — either costs $6.95. The same belts dotted with sparkling rhinestones worked into the pattern are $7.95.

For a little girl, a tea set is something treasured, 'cause it's just like mommy's. Such are these plastic dishes. They're black with gold-pagoda design on them. Included in the set are two cups and saucers, a sugar bowl and cream jug, and two sets of knives, forks and spoons. The whole thing costs $1.75.

Where to find them? Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you the names of the stores where the articles may be bought.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Women Accept Fashion Dictates Only to a Degree

Years ago when skirt lengths changed drastically it was like being at a tennis match. You looked this way and then had to look that way in order to keep up with the game. Hemlines went up and down like shuttles.

There have been some attempts recently to dictate styles which called for just-below-the-knee-skirts or ankle length ones but they just did not catch on.

One reason women are susceptible to the dictates of fashion is because they themselves become bored with the same old styles, hairdos and hemlines. However, they have learned that the truly smart woman takes from fashion what is becoming to her. Modern woman has decided that she would rather look her best than like a Banshee, even if she does not adopt every current fad in fashion. The rather stable hemline is definite proof of this.

Speaking of hemlines makes us think of ankles. This is a difficult spot to reduce because it is influenced by bony structure and by heredity. Straight up and down legs just seem to run in some families. If your mother and aunts have this type leg it is doubtful that you can change yours much although you may be able to improve the contour some with exercise.

Regardless of whether or not Cousin Susie has shelf-like hips and Aunt Margaret has a thick waist and your mother is overweight, you can do something about these characteristics if it is more difficult when it comes to the ankle. Today I want to give you two exercises which have been helpful to many women in my classes in slimming the ankles.

Make circles with the feet, first in one direction and then in the other. This is an old reliable exercise and one of the best.

Also, try this one: Sit on a chair with your legs stretched out in front of you, heels resting on the floor. Turn you feet in until you feel the pull on the outside of your ankles. Now turn the feet out until you feel the pull on the inside of your ankles. Continue doing this slowly.

French Styles Win Favor at British Show

LONDON (CP)— At Britain's week-long national fashion fair in the Royal Albert Hall, 48 British fashion houses showed 14,000 garments made of silk, cotton, rayon and wool for next summer's styles, and competition was fierce.

Five French mannequins displayed "continental-inspired" cottons by the Berkertex group, one of Britain's couture houses. And on a boat-shaped platform — with a Paris gendarme patrolling alertly alongside — dresses, two-piece and four-piece ensembles won the day for chic and color.

Dinner Honors Woman Educator

Local branch of the Association for Childhood Education held a banquet recently in the parlor of the Oak Bay United Church, in honor of Miss Grace Dolmage, only Canadian on the executive board of the Association for Childhood Education International.

Local president, Miss G. E. Richards, introduced the guest and outlined the history of the Victoria group. It was formed in November, 1947, by primary teachers and now includes teachers, parents, a school trustee, educational supervisors and play group leaders. Main project of the group has been establishment and maintenance of a children's gallery, housed in the Art Gallery where children from 3 to 15 years, for a nominal fee, have opportunity to explore art and art materials, under guidance of skilled instructors.

Miss Dolmage addressed the gathering, her topic, the association plan of action for children. The strength of the plan, she said, lies in our recognition of the causes of what happens to children and our determination of what we can do about them.

Victoria West—Hon. Ray Williston, Minister of Education, was guest speaker at the Victoria West PTA meeting recently. A surprise visit was made by Mrs. A. B. Thompson, president of the Victoria District Parent-Teacher Council. Mrs. W. Jenkins gave a report on the recent country fair.

Tolmie—The family fair arranged by Tolmie PTA will be held next Friday evening in the Tolmie School commencing at 7 p.m. There will be a hobby display, background music, motion pictures for children, games for children and adults, bingo, raffles, fishpond, curio display, teacup reading, stalls of home cooking, candy, fruit, plants and vegetables. Refreshments will be served.

Annual Bazaar Next Saturday

Mrs. A. C. Murphy is convening the bazaar to be held Saturday by Coronation Court, Order of the Amaranth, in K of P Hall. Royal matron, Mrs. Cooke, will open the affair at 2 p.m. Members will be in charge of many stalls, including: fancywork, candy, bingo, home cooking, artificial flowers, white elephant, and handkerchiefs. Afternoon tea, convened by Mrs. W. Ward, will be served from 2.30 to 4.30 p.m.

There's no telling what a woman with imagination will think of next —even if it's with the use of her vacuum cleaner. A woman in Toledo uses her vacuum cleaner to make her five-year-old daughter's pony tail. Seems she draws ends of her child's hair into the hose of the cleaner, and then ties the hair quickly and easily. Head of a home service department, says she has compiled a list of more than 300 uses of a vacuum cleaner, but the pony tail idea is a brand new one to her.

Lieutenant-Governor on Mainland

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Frank Mackenzie Ross, with Miss Brenda Turner and Miss Ruth MacLean, left this morning by plane for Vancouver, where Mrs. Ross officially opened the new boarding home of the B.C. Cancer Institute at 2658 Heather Street in the mainland city, this afternoon.

Tonight His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be guest of honor at a dinner to be given by the Vancouver Club. Aide-de-camp in attendance will be Sqdn. Ldr. Derek Inman.

The Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Ross are expected to return to Government House on Thursday.

To Attend Ballet Tonight

The Royal Winnipeg Ballet, presenting its second performance this evening in the Royal Theatre, will be well attended by ballet enthusiasts, young and old. Major and Mrs. Keith MacDougall will be there with their two daughters, Ann and Josephine. Reservations have also been made for Mr. and Mrs. J. Olson and Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Carter. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Privett and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sievner will be together and in another party will be Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Gibson and Miss Lottie Gibson. A reservation for three has been made by Mrs. D. Kerfoot and Mr. and Mrs. Scott Finding. In a party of eight will be Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ballantyne, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ballantyne, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Miller. Miss Elizabeth M. Moore will attend with Miss C. Montgomery, Mrs. F. Morrish, Mrs. M. Burr, Miss E. Maude-Moore and Mrs. W. Maude-Moore.

Wishing Well of Gifts

Miss Theresa Tremblay was guest of honor recently when Mrs. A. Bradley was hostess at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. W. Brown, 2803 Gosworth Street. Many gifts were presented in a wishing well. The bride-elect's corsage was of pink carnations. Games were played and refreshments served the guests, who included Mrs. J. Henwry, Mrs. R. Moir, Mrs. F. Boughton, Mrs. A. O'Brien, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mrs. J. McGinnis, Mrs. R. Doore and Miss Dorothy Doore.

Vancouver Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. David Howden, and three-year-old son, Douglas, were weekend visitors in Victoria. While here they were guests of Mrs. Howden's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. H. Lort, 592 Island Road.

A Coffee Party

Mrs. R. E. Baiss entertained at her home, 668 Byng Street, this morning with a coffee party honoring her niece, Miss Diana Dorman, whose marriage to Mr. Gordon Ellis Bergevin will take place Friday. Mrs. C. C. L. Bernard assisted the hostess and Mrs. Vera McKenzie presided at the coffee table. Among the guests was Miss Gloria Caldwell, recently arrived from Yakima, Wash., who will be maid of honor. Also present were Mrs. Clarence C. Bergevin, mother of the groom-elect, and Mrs. Wade Bergevin, both of Walla Walla, Wash., and Mrs. Keith Bergevin, Seattle, all who arrived this morning.

MANITOBA'S GOVERNOR HERE

Hon. John S. McDiarmid, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and Mrs. McDiarmid, are spending a short time in Victoria, visiting their son and daughter-in-law, Lieut. Cmdr. Ross N. McDiarmid and Mrs. McDiarmid. They are staying at the Empress Hotel. En route to Government House at Winnipeg, this weekend, they will attend the Grey Cup game in Vancouver.

Civil Service Commission Needs Woman

OTTAWA (CP)—A demand that the federal government appoint a woman to fill a vacancy on the three-member Civil Service Commission was made Tuesday by Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Hamilton West.

Mrs. Fairclough said in a statement that "the large percentage of jobs in the civil service, which are occupied by women at all levels, is ample evidence of the need for consideration to be given to such an appointment."

Similar demands have been made in resolutions sent to the Canadian government this year from conventions of the National Council of Women and the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

The vacancy resulted from last month's retirement of Charles H. Bland, 69, as commission chairman. He was succeeded by Stanley G. Nelson, 60, of Ottawa, a commissioner for 10 years.

The other member of the commission is A. J. Boudreau, also of Ottawa.

Isobel Wilkinson, Douglas Peck Married in St. George's Church

Recently joined in marriage were Miss Isobel Fairley Wilkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Seaton Wilkinson, Douglas Cyrus Peck, youngest son of Col. and Mrs. C. W. Peck, Allbay Road, Sidney, B.C.

The wedding took place in St. George the Martyr Church, Saturday afternoon, with Rev. William Hills officiating.

The lovely and petite bride, gowned in white brocade, ballerina style, entered the church on the arm of her father. She wore a matching Juliet cap of white feathers and carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds interspersed with white satin ruching.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Patricia Ann Seaton Wilkinson, in a ballerina style dress of pastel pink swiss organza over matching taffeta crinoline. Her Juliet cap was pink and she carried a complementary bouquet.

The groom had his brother, Edward R. Peck as best man, while Lieut.-Col. H. W. J. Peck, Vancouver and Mr. John C. S. Wilkinson, brother of the bride acted as ushers.

Receiving guests with the bridal party were the parents of the bride and groom. For the occasion, Mrs. Wilkinson chose a charcoal grey dress with black shoes and gloves and a hat of dusky pink brushed felt. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds. Mrs. Peck wore a Julian Rose gown of beige lace with matching velvet hat with gold trim. Yellow rosebuds were in her corsage. Toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Issigonis, long time friend of the bride's family.

Following a wedding trip through Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Peck will live in Montreal, Que.

For travelling, the bride wore a Jonathan Logan two-piece ensemble of charcoal grey highlighted with copper tones and champagne colored accessories. She wore a gardenia corsage.

Refurnishing Room, Occupational Therapy Auxiliary Projects

Plans were made at meeting of the Gorge Road Hospital Auxiliary for the introduction of occupational therapy for patients and a report was given by Mrs. W. MacGregor on the project of refurnishing the board room located in the old hospital.

Mrs. C. C. Warren presided and welcomed two guests, Mrs. G. R. Beek and Mrs. G. Leeming.

It was decided to sponsor an open house and linen shower for the hospital on January 11. Announcement was also made that members will have entries in the Festival of Christmas Decorations sponsored by the Family and Children's Service Auxiliary.

Sewing convener, Mrs. L. R. Alton, reported 1,220 articles made from new materials since February, for the hospital, and Mrs. P. J. Woolley and Mrs. S. Dodgshon reported a large amount of mending done.

Mothers' Union, Thursday at 2.30 p.m., Memorial Hall. Guest speaker, Rev. G. W. Lang. Visitors may attend.

Salmon Run Helps Junior League Project

First Sunday the Solarium Junior League sold hot dogs and coffee to those going out to Goldstream to see the salmon run, a sum of $173.05 was realized, it was reported by convener, Miss Joan Bambrough, at recent meeting. Miss Bambrough said her committee will sell hot chocolate, coffee and hot dogs each Sunday until the salmon run ceases.

Mrs. H. Heighes reported the Farmerette social netted $82.46; it was announced that selling programs and ushering at the "Gay Nineties" revue realized $75. Mrs. Shirley Duncan reported on the Hallowe'en party for Solarium children when favors and treats, toffee apples and a seasonal cake added to the festivity.

Plans were made for the annual Santa Claus show at the Royal Theatre, Dec. 3, 10 and 17.

Guest speaker was Justin Harbord, chairman of the Solarium Board of Directors. Miss Margaret Munn was named Shower of Dimes convener for next year.

Christmas Party Planned At Cerebral Palsy Clinic

Plans for a Christmas party for children attending the cerebral palsy clinic were discussed at meeting of the Women's Auxiliary. Forty-five patients and their brothers and sisters will be guests of the auxiliary at the Oak Bay Scout Hall on Dec. 17. Carol singing, a magician, gifts from under a giant Christmas tree and refreshments will all be part of the program. Mrs. T. H. Carson is general convener, assisted by Mrs. S. Barker, Mrs. R. T. Copley, Mrs. W. M. Martin, Mrs. W. L. Eaton, Mrs. W. A. Johnston, Mrs. J. J. Feeley, Mrs. H. C. Taylor, Mrs. R. T. Singleton, Miss Winnie Lees and Miss Gladys Willett.

Mrs. R. Grieve, assisted by Mrs. S. Watson and Mrs. S. A. Brasher, is convening the sale of tickets for a dressed doll, complete with changes of outfit and a wardrobe for clothes, which is to be raffled at the party. Mrs. L. F. Dunn and Mrs. A. J. Meyer are in charge of a contest for a full turkey dinner with all the trimmings, to be raffled to raise funds for the clinic.

Mrs. C. H. Miller was in the chair and Mrs. C. W. Lundy, reporting for volunteer workers, announced that several additional spare volunteers could be used in the mornings.

Lady Laurier Club of Oak Bay, at Old Charming Inn, Friday at 1 p.m., luncheon meeting. Guest speaker, George Gregory, MLA.

WOMEN MEET

OTTAWA (CP)—The 1956 convention of the National Federation of Liberal Women of Canada will be held here May 1 to 3, president Mrs. C. J. Embree of Halifax announced Tuesday after a federation executive meeting.

Club Women's News

Speaks of Indians — Miss J. Bennett took devotionals at meeting of the Women's Missionary Society, Oak Bay United Church. She extended her theme into a talk on the habits and characteristics of the North American Indian as the early white explorers found him. Convener of the nominations committee, Mrs. W. Powell, presented a slate of officers for the coming year. Mrs. W. Stewart was in the chair. A solo was given by Mrs. H. Youson accompanied by Mrs. J. Ballam.

Bringing Up Baby

Hints Collected by Mrs Dan Gerber (Mother of 5)

Just because winter is on the way is no reason to skip baby's daily airing. (Unless it's a rainy or unusually cold day.) Babies thrive on cool fresh air. It rosies the complexion, makes little appetites "rise 'n shine." A few helpful reminders:

- Check weather reports before venturing out.
- Clothing should be cosy, but comfortable. Tight bundling restricts circulation.
- A smitch of baby oil, rubbed lightly over baby's face is a good chap preventive.
- A square of sheet plastic is a good carriage accessory in case you're caught in a storm.

* * *

Winter or summer baby needs a daily quota of proteins for growth, strength and the development of all body structures. Gerber protein-rich Strained Meats fill the bill. Only savory, selected cuts go into these special meats for babies. After careful trimming, they're pressure cooked with special care to preserve fine quality, delicious true-meat flavors. Most of the fat and fiber is removed, so even tiny babies can digest them as easily as milk.

P. S. There are 6 Strained Meats for little ones — 3 evenly-minced Junior Meats for tots with a few teeth.

* * *

2 tips on the same subject. How to snip baby's fingernails? Two mothers suggest these ways: (1) Run baby's fingernails through a bit of baby powder so you can see exactly where to snip. (2) Seat baby in your lap in front of a mirror. Self-reflected glory can do a lot to distract baby.

* * *

End of a meal treat that may well call for a repeat order. That's Gerber Strained Fruit Dessert—a winning combination of orange juice, pineapple juice and plump apricots—blended with a touch of tapioca for the most delightful texture ever. Gerber-Ogilvie Baby Foods, Ltd., Niagara Falls, Canada.

Christmas Cakes Mellow if Baked Early; Flavor Improves With Age

Wise housewives make their Christmas cakes early so they will have time to mellow and blend all the full flavors of the dried and candied fruits, nuts and spices. This is especially true of the larger, dark cakes that really do need a longer mellowing in order to bring out the best in them.

The two recipes below are favorites at the festive season.

FESTIVE FRUIT CAKE

1 lb. pitted dates, diced
1 lb. seeded raisins, halved
1 lb. seedless raisins
1 lb. currants
½ lb. glaced cherries, diced
½ lb. candied cherries, halved
½ lb. citron peel, sliced
½ ready-cut mixed peel
½ lb. split almonds or pecan halves
3½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon mace
3 teaspoons cinnamon
1½ cups butter
2½ cups brown sugar
9 eggs, beaten
½ cup cranberry sauce or currant jelly

Prepare all fruits and nuts, set aside. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Sprinkle about ¾ cup of this dry mixture over the prepared fruits and toss lightly to coat all and separate.

Cream butter, gradually blend in brown sugar. Add beaten eggs, beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients, blending well. Pour batter over fruits and nuts, stir until fruits and nuts are evenly distributed in batter. Break up cranberry sauce or jelly with fork, add first to mixture, blending well.

Spread in pans which have been lined with three thicknesses of brown paper, greasing inner layer next to cake. Bake in slow oven 275 F. for 2½ to 4½ hours, depending on size of pans. Makes about 10½ lbs.

Smorgasbord Holds Place In Christmas Season Fun

Should you plan to attend or give a smorgasbord, it might interest you to know that Swedish custom decrees a set order for selection of the dishes. On your first round of the table, choose the appetizers and cold fish dishes. Proceed on your second round to the cold cuts and vegetable salads. On the third go-around, you may help yourself to the hot dishes and casseroles, and on your final trip (if you are still hungry) the cheeses and/or desserts. Tea or coffee go with any course but usually a cold beverage is served with the appetizers.

The smorgasbord menu can be as simple or elaborate as you choose to make it. The following is a menu for a smorgasbord that might suitably be prepared by a women's club group:

SMORGASBORD MENU

Assorted buttered breads, pickled herring, lobster stuffed celery, devilled eggs, sardine canapes, potato salad, tossed green salad, cole slaw, smoked salmon, assorted sausages, baked ham, jellied tongue, cold sliced turkey, mustard and relishes, cranberry jelly mould.

Whole baked salmon, Mayonnaise, cucumber sauce, moulded party salad, tomato jelly, vegetable aspic, herring au gratin, meat balls, scalloped or boiled potatoes, cheese tray, crackers, fresh fruit, Danish pastry, home-made pies, coffee.

STAR OF SMORGASBORD

Turkey may be the piece de resistance of a Christmas dinner, but at a smorgasbord or buffet-style supper, the lovely salmon is supreme. Arranged on a bed of greens, this great fish is easily the centre of attraction.

Needless to say, a whole salmon offers the cook an excellent opportunity to display talent. Should you be a novice in the art of fish cookery, here is a simple and attractive method of preparing a whole salmon which is endorsed by the home economists of Canada's department of Fisheries.

OVEN STEAMED SALMON

One dressed salmon, approximately 8 pounds, salt.

Wipe the fish with a damp cloth. If frozen, chip off the glaze. It is not necessary to thaw a frozen fish. Measure thickness of fish at the thickest part. Sprinkle cavity with salt. Wrap fish in an envelope of greased aluminum foil, securing seams with a double fold and pinching them to make steam tight. Place packaged fish on a baking sheet or large pan. Bake in a hot oven preheated to 500° F, allowing about 10 minutes cooking time for each inch of thickness if the fish is fresh, and about 20 minutes cooking time for each inch of thickness if it is frozen. In addition, allow an extra 10 minutes for the period it takes the heat to fully penetrate the foil. You will know that the salmon is cooked when the flesh throughout has lost its watery look and taken on a paler, opaque hue. At this time it will flake easily on testing with a fork.

Remove the foil from the cooked fish and gently pull away the skin. Very carefully, with the aid of spatulas, transfer the salmon to the serving platter. Surround it with parsley and overlapping slices of cucumber and lemon. Serve cold with mayonnaise, or cucumber sauce.

GIVE CARROTS NEW FLAVOR

Nearly every homemaker looks for new ways to serve her family vegetables. Don't you? Here, a flavor of orange combines engagingly with canned whole carrots to give them new appeal. Mix two tablespoons of sugar with one tablespoon melted butter in a saucepan. Add drained carrots and an orange, peeled and sliced. Cook until carrots and orange are glazed.

Frozen Yuletide Angel Pie

As light as a snowflake, yet as festive as a Christmas tree—that's this Frozen Angel Pie.

The era of the traditional heavier mince pie or flaming plum pudding seems to be giving way to lighter desserts for Christmas dinner. Maybe you are of the new way of dessert thinking. If so—here's the sweetest answer.

WITH CHOCOLATE-COCONUT CRUST

Three-quarters cup sugar, ¾ cup water 1/6 teaspoon salt, 3 egg whites, 1½ cups heavy cream, 1½ teaspoons pure vanilla extract, 10-inch chocolate-coconut crust, maraschino cherries for garnish, angelica for garnish.

Boil sugar and water together until it spins a thread. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff. Gradually beat sugar syrup into beaten egg whites. Whip cream until almost stiff. Add vanilla extract and beat until stiff. Fold into egg white mixture. Turn into a 10-inch chocolate-coconut crust. Freeze until ready to serve. Decorate the top with red cherries and angelica, cut to resemble poinsettias.

Angel Christmas pie, as light as a snowflake, is practical as well as pretty. It can be frozen until ready to serve.

CHOCOLATE-COCONUT PIE CRUST

Three squares unsweetened chocolate, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, ¾ cup sifted confectioners' sugar, 3 tablespoons milk, 1½ teaspoons pure vanilla extract, 2¼ cups shredded coconut.

Melt chocolate and butter or margarine over hot water. Mix confectioners' sugar with milk and stir into the chocolate mixture. Add vanilla extract and coconut. Mix well. Turn into a 10-inch pie pan. Chill until firm. Fill with Angel Pie filling.

Yield: Eight servings.

Pre-Holiday Meals Call For Budget-Wise Planning

Where meal planning is concerned, homemakers are especially budget conscious at this time of year.

Canned foods pop into mind at once with their wide variety of fruits and vegetables, meats and ready-to-serve entrees. Meals may still be interesting and even exciting because there are so many tempting combinations for the smart cook. Here is, for instance, a very tasty vegetable dish combining canned onions and canned green beans with horseradish sauce.

BEANS AND ONIONS IN HORSERADISH SAUCE

One can (16 oz.) cut green beans, 1 tablespoon butter, or margarine, 2 teaspoons flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup light cream, or top milk, 2 tablespoons prepared horseradish, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 can (8 oz.) small whole onions.

Drain liquid from beans into a saucepan and cook down to about a fourth cup. Add butter and a mixture of flour, salt, and cream. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in horseradish and Worcestershire sauce. Add beans and drained onions, and heat. Six servings.

Clean, Freshen Refrigerator with SODA

Just sprinkle soda on a damp cloth and wipe inner surfaces. Wash ice trays in soda solution—3 tablespoons to a quart of warm water. Leaves no soapy odour. Recommended by leading refrigerator manufacturers.

SANTA SLIPS IN QUIETLY

Santa has arrived in two of Victoria's three main stores, and will show up Saturday in the third one. He's on hand in most cases, to gladden young hearts, from 10 a.m. to noon, and from 2 p.m. to about 4.30 p.m. His arrival was unheralded here as city merchants couldn't agree exactly when they wanted to entertain the old gentleman.

CHLORINE NEEDED WATER TESTS SHOW

Only One Typhoid Germ Needed To Cause Trouble Says MHO

Figures released by Victoria-Esquimalt Union Board of Health officials Tuesday showed local water supplies require chlorination.

Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, medical health officer, and Elwood Gropp, sanitary inspector, said accepted public health standards call for chlorine in water which contains intestinal bacteria in one test in ten.

Here are the results of tests conducted in Greater Victoria main supply areas in the last three months:

One typhoid germ is all that is needed to start trouble, said Dr. Mahaffy.

Mayor Claude Harrison said Monday that he supported removal of chlorine from local water supplies. Other members of the intermunicipal water board have opposed his suggestion however and the mayor's statement that chlorination might be ended next spring received no board support.

Power Chiefs Evaluate New Clearing Tenders

$5 Million May Be Slashed From Cost Of Upper Campbell Lake Project

B.C. Power Commission engineers today started evaluation of tenders for clearing and grubbing around Upper Campbell lake, which could cut over $5,000,000 from the original cost.

Nine firms submitted bids on the clearing Tuesday.

The contract area was split into 11 divisions, with separate bids on each division.

Commission officials said they are empowered by the specifications to accept the lowest tender on each of the 11 parcels, although some contractors submitted bids on an "all or nothing" basis.

Lowest combined total for the project was $4,470,703. This compares with the low bid of $9,534,795 submitted when the project was first up for tender, in September. Commission threw out the bid, changed the specifications, and recalled tenders.

Main reason for the cost cut is that deadline for completion of the job was set back 13 months, to Dec. 31, 1957.

Only two firms submitted bids on the entire 11 parcels. A combine of Campbell-Bennett, Mannix Ltd., and Wixson & Crowe bid $6,510,766, with the stipulation of "all or nothing."

Dawson & Wade Ltd. asked $7,284,782 for the project.

INSIDE STORIES OF DOOMED FLIGHT NO. 629

His Try To Outrace Death Failed When Plane Exploded in the Sky

By ART EVERETT

NEW YORK (AP) — This is drama of a kind Hollywood feeds on.

Forty - four persons are thrown together by chance in a four-engined airliner high above mid-America. Mostly strangers to one another, each is concerned with his or her own affairs. Among them are:

A man trying to outrace death . . .

A woman with a strange, gripping premonition . . .

A mother taking a baby to a father who has never seen him . . .

A couple whose lives have just become worth a small fortune . . .

A girl engrossed in her approaching marriage . . .

An executive whose signature is still fresh on his will . . .

A physician marking his 72nd —and final—birthday . . .

A widow serene beneath the weight of 80 years . . .

Unbeknown to each of them, the 44 are winging together to a common destination—violent death aboard United Airlines flight 629 that exploded and crashed in the early evening of Nov. 1 in Colorado.

DENVER STOPOVER

In her luggage, the FBI said later, he secreted 25 sticks of dynamite tied together to make a bomb.

Flight 629 took off from Denver at 6:52 p.m. on its 1,075-mile hop to Portland, Ore. Eleven minutes later, the bomb went off and scattered the plane and its human cargo for two miles over a flat sugar beet field six miles from Longmont in northeast Colorado.

What whim of destiny put 43 other persons aboard flight 629 with the pitiful mother who allegedly was the target of a son's greed?

ANTICIPATED REUNION

Among them were Mr. and Mrs. James Dorey of Whitman, Mass. They were making their first flight in order to visit their son, George, in Portland. They hadn't seen him in nine years. Anticipation held them taut as they sped toward the reunion.

But there was a cloud over the 56-year-old Mrs. Dorey's happiness. The day before she left on the flight, she told her family:

"Of course I'm glad we're going out to visit George but somehow or other I've got a premonition that something's going to happen."

Her 58-year-old husband had a problem, too. His heart was so bad that he was resigned to death. He was racing against time to see his son once more before his heart gave out.

JOHN GRAHAM
. . . denies confession

MRS. GRAHAM
. . . stands by husband

Mrs. Dorey's premonition came true. And James Dorey found himself outraced by a form of death he least expected.

Seated near the Doreys was Mrs. Helen Fitzpatrick of Batavia, N.Y., with her 14-month-old son, James II, in her arms. The boy's father, Lt.-Col. James Fitzpatrick, was an army officer stationed in Okinawa. He had gone overseas before the child was born and had never seen him.

Thus Lt.-Col. James Fitzpatrick on his Pacific isle lost forever a son he had never seen.

FORMER STEWARDESS

One of the passengers who settled down in the dimly-lit cabin of flight 629 that evening was a pretty young girl, Sally Sann Scofield of Denver. She had been an airline stewardess for United for two years. But she was not in uniform this trip.

Sally's head was full of dreams, for she was about to be married to a pilot.

But she died unmarried.

Side by side on flight 629 that night were Dr. R. W. Van Valin and his wife, Minnie. They were flying back to their home in Newburg, Ore., after a month's visit with his brother in Philadelphia.

Dr. Van Valin had cause for contentment as the drone of engines set him to nodding. It was his 72nd birthday, another of those sentimental milestones that mark men's lives. It also was his last.

OLDEST PASSENGER

In another seat aboard Flight 629 that night was Mrs. Lewis L. MacClain, at 80 the oldest passenger aboard. She was no stranger to flight, and her age imparted a serenity that others lacked.

A widow, she was on her way home to Portland after a three-week visit with her son at Glastonbury, Conn. But danger was Mrs. MacClain's seatmate that night and disaster kept her from ever reaching home.

These were a few of the 44 passengers aboard Flight 629 out of Denver Nov. 1—alive and full of thoughts and plans at 7.02 p.m., dead 60 seconds later.

Britain Starts Probing Foreign Office Security

LONDON (UP)—The government today announced formation of a non-partisan committee to investigate security in the foreign office as a result of the disappearance of diplomats Donald Maclean and Guy Burgess behind the Iron Curtain.

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden scheduled an appearance in the House of Commons today to inform members of the establishment of the top-level committee and list its members.

It was believed all would be ministers or former ministers of the government, representing both the Conservative and Labor parties.

Demands for the investigation arose after government admissions that there had been blunders in the handling of the case of the two diplomats who disappeared on May 25, 1951, the very day they were to be questioned as suspected spies.

Both now are reported in Moscow.

SWAM FOR SEVEN HOURS

Million-to-One Shot Saves Skipper From Sea

CAPETOWN, South Africa (UP)—A Norwegian whaling skipper fell overboard in the darkness and swam more than seven hours while his ship backtracked 55 miles to find him, it was disclosed today.

The story of the million-to-one shot rescue of Capt. Roe Hansen was told here by the crew of the Setter IX although the skipper himself refused to discuss the incident.

According to the crew, the whaling ship was two days out of Dakar, French West Africa, last week when it lost its skipper. Apparently he went overboard about 10 p.m., but was not missed until 11.30 p.m.

The ship immediately turned back through choppy seas to begin the hunt. With searchlights and radar sweeping the sea the ship searched 29 miles to the north and then wheeled 16 miles southward.

After 10 more miles of searching the lights picked up the captain swimming through the sea toward the ship.

The 36-year-old whaling skipper ignored a line tossed to him and clambered aboard unaided. He was wearing shirt and trousers which afforded little protection in the choppy sea.

MERCHANTS OF THE 700 BLOCK YATES STREET OFFER EVERY FACILITY FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS

From gay decorations inside and out of stores . . . to free parking facilities, the friendly merchants of the 700 Block Yates Street have surpassed themselves in providing their customers with the finest service this holiday season.

In this Yuletide setting, the eager shopper may round out a Christmas list with just about any type of gift purchase . . . from a box of candy to a mink coat or tickets for a world cruise!

The first undertaking of this kind was last year, when the merchants of this section joined in the new venture, enjoyed themselves so much and found customers flocking to look and to shop. Soon it became the talk of the town.

Now, the enlarged and improved shopping centre of last year offers the services of no less than 55 stores and businesses . . . with a "shopping centre" selection plus personalized service and many added attentions.

In this single block on Yates Street the busy shopper will find five restaurants and coffee bars, four ladies' ready to wear stores, three shoe stores, three jewelers and three candy stores. Four hotels are also in this block, two men's clothing stores, two beauty parlors and barber shops, two banks, two millinery shops and two sewing machine shops.

Also available are two furniture stores, a ladies' lingerie shop, shoe repair shop, a drug store, picture and greeting shop, gift shop, sporting goods store and fur shop.

Adding variety is a travel bureau with nearby florist and theatre. Also in the 700 Block Yates, you will find a paint shop, dry cleaners, a camera shop, curio shop, two magazine and smoke shops, a mail order office, library, a hearing aid service and lastly and most important — TWO PARKING LOTS, with one hour's FREE PARKING while shopping in the 700 Block Yates. Tickets stamped in the store.

BRIDGE LESSON

By Oswald Jacoby

When today's hand was played, South lost his contract before he had begun to think. The chances are that most bridges players would have made his mistake.

West led the queen of clubs, and declarer hopefully put up dummy's king. East won with the ace of clubs and returned his low club. West won the second trick and led a third club, allowing East to overruff the dummy.

By this time the defenders had gathered in three tricks. South played the rest of the hand with perspiring care, but it was too late. West was sure to get the king of spades, defeating the contract.

South made his mistake when he put up the king of clubs at the first trick. It was unthinkable that West, an experienced player, would be leading the queen of clubs if he held the ace of that suit. In other words, South should have known that the ace of clubs was held by East. This being so, there was no point in playing dummy's king.

Opening lead—♣Q

South is pretty sure to make his contract if he does not play the king of clubs from the dummy at the first trick. West continued with the jack of clubs, and East wins the second trick with the ace.

If East now returns a trump (the best defence) South must step right up with the ace. Declarer cashes the ace of diamonds, enters dummy with the ace of hearts in order to discard a club on the king of diamonds, and then leads another trump. The rest is, of course, easy.

ANYONE WHO has owned a television set for any length of time doubtless will have realized by now that there is simply no comparison between a play produced for TV and a play produced for the giant screens of the movie houses.

The way we look at it is this: A good motion picture is still a topnotch show when it is run over the small screens of the home sets. But how would the finest play produced for television you can imagine look if it were hoisted "as is" to the motion picture screen. Rather sketchy, we would think; a mere outline for a play, a synopsis.

Whereas several topnotch TV plays have been bought by Hollywood to be made into full-length feature films, such as "Marty," Rod Serling's "The Rack" (movie name will be "Court Martial"), and "Patterns," and "No Time for Sergeants," it will be noted that the TV plays have had to be expanded, given more all-important "small stuff" so as to build up characterization and plot structure.

* * *

ALL THIS, of course, is quite understandable when one stops to consider that a "long" TV play lasts only from 40 to 50 minutes—60 minutes, less time out for advertising plugs. In contrast the average movie you see at a motion picture house lasts approximately an hour and 40 minute' solid running time—or almost an hour longer than the longest (excluding "spectaculars") television play.

This difference in time could quite easily account for the fact that so many television plays appear to end abruptly, often without what the average viewer would consider to be a "satisfactory" or fully-explained ending. This admitted weakness of most TV scripts is currently getting a thorough lambasting by the critics.

Nonetheless, entertainment is entertainment. And if a TV play entertains those watching at home, then, in its own way, it is equally as entertaining as the wide-screened play running at a movie house.

After all, even the enjoyment of entertainment is relative.

Headliners

7.00

Channel 11: One of TV's finest young (30) playwrights, Rod ("Patterns") Serling is the author of Steel Hour's hour-long "Incident in an Alley." The play, starring Farley Granger, is about a policeman who is tortured with guilt after shooting down a boy who refused to obey his warning to halt.

Channel 4: People's Choice sees Sock Miller getting into difficulties with girl friend Mandy just because he offered aid to a young school teacher.

Channel 13: The Pendulum tells the story of how a gay blade and his girl friend intend to defraud an insurance company.

8.00

Channel 4: Directors Playhouse stars Walter Brennan in "The Brush Roper." A retired cowpoke tries to live up to his tales of how good he was in his youth.

Channel 5: Disneyland reruns the magnificent nature short, "Olympic Elk."

Channels 11 and 12: Arthur Godfrey and Friends.

Channel 4: In Father Knows Best the Anderson family salutes Thanksgiving Day with Kathy's prize poem.

8.30

Channel 2: Lucy tries to get Ricky to ask for a raise and in the end hardly anyone loves Lucy.

9.00

Channel 4: Kraft Theatre presents Lydia St. Clair in a play about what happens to a Nazi collaborator when her French village is freed by the Allies.

Channel 2: Cross Canada Hit Parade.

Channel 5: MGM Parade shows film clips from the film, "I'll Cry Tomorrow." This is the Lillian Roth book, wherein Susan Hayward stars and is already being spoken about for Academy Award nomination. Pete Smith is expected to give his annual instruction on "How to Carve a Turkey."

Channel 11: The Millionaire's cheque comes in handy for a mother in her search for her child.

9.30

Channel 12: Stories of the Century deals with "Chief Crazy Horse."

Channel 2: The Jackie Rae show.

10.00

Channel 2: Canadian Labor Minister Hon. Milton F. Gregg will be heard on Big Town, which deals with the labor problem of employing men "over 45."

Channel 4: Ralph Edwards' excellent This Is Your Life.

Channel 12: Damon Runyon Theatre stars Brian Donlevy in "Barbecue." Things get rambunctious in a roadside barbecue when two race track touts and a couple of holdup men seek shelter.

10.30

Channel 2: On Press Conference, Senator Alexander Wiley, minority leader of the U.S. Senate foreign relations committee, will be the target of questioning by Pierre Berton, Maclean's magazine; Bill Boss, Canadian Press correspondent; Dennis Wrong, lecturer in political economy at the University of Toronto.

CARROLL RIGHTER'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

THURSDAY, NOV. 24, 1955

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—This is your day to actually put into execution that arrangement with others that you feel will give you the private backing, funds, material and emotional rewards toward which you have long channeled your efforts. Expand.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—Get together with all toward whom you are drawn, have usual contacts or who can be helpful in gaining you approval in public work or private partnerships. Come to exact meeting of minds, now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Keeping your attention pleasantly focused upon those occupations, outlets you enjoy, especially where influential individuals will catch glimpse of your charm, efficiency releases all kinds of worthwhile support, backing. Be adroit.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—This is your day to get together with newcomers in your life at some charming site where you can learn to know, understand, appreciate each other better. Exchange information that can aid each in your separate fields. P.M., be happy.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Listening at last to some good suggestions made by one of your household about ways to increase your financial or personal relations is the answer to that deep-seated wondering, perplexity within you. Follow, and right results follow.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Letting all associates know just what is in your mind in huddles at usual haunts, over coffee or pleasant meal, at office, brings you support you've long missed. Be direct for gaining right result.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22)—This is wonderful day for you to make all your possessions, home, apparel, office, car, pets, garden more attractive, artistic. It will be very easy. You are loaded with good ideas now. Put them in expression.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)—This is certainly your day to howl. Spend daytime at constructive, interesting work, creative ideas, getting yourself at peak of perfection, charm. P.M. then fine for social and general prosperity, popularity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)—Thinking out how your own clan really likes you to be, their surroundings to exude, brings all kinds of good ideas for ways to quietly fix, surprise them by your thoughtfulness. Then you get undreamed support, appreciation to please all.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)—Friends, relatives, neighbors, close contacts of all types are willing to go along with whatever you want. Just let them know reasons for your decisions. Then you open wide all kinds of interesting, fascinating, enlightening new avenues.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)—Being very exact about money, property, possessions, bills, statements, reports and accounts brings approval from one who has considerable control over your affairs. Be sure to put your best foot forward now.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)—This is your day to be open-minded and search out whatever will be of benefit in aiding you to express the deep-seated principles and convictions that you strongly believe in. Be happy. Make new friends. Expand in all worthwhile.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY . . .

Thursday's child is one of those very fortunate youngsters who has it in his, or her, power to reach any height to which he, or she, aspires. It is only necessary that you early indicate that what one gets by one's own efforts is limited only by the scope of the imagination, ability to clearly picture that ambition which is his, or hers. Fine chart for work connected with real estate and property matters as well as the artistic and musical. Give fine training early for fine basis of truth upon which your child can operate.

WANTED
KILLER OF THE COUNTRY

RECORD: During the three-day Christmas holiday 717 people died by accident. The "Killer" was responsible for 523 of them!

WEAPON USED: While the killer uses a variety of weapons, his favorite one is tires that are worn.

DESCRIPTION: Has four wheels, plenty of speed, and a driver who says "I'll take care of it tomorrow"—But never does until it's too late.

REWARD: Bring him in alive and let us give him a "FREE" examination. Won't cost you a thin dime—May safe another life! YOURS!

58 WANTED TO BUY—HOUSES

FOUR AND FIVE-ROOM BUNGALOWS from $5,000 to $8,000 are always in demand. If these properties are properly priced at fair terms, selling should be no difficulty. Although an owner may know this, he might sometimes feel the need for the frank advice of a man who knows the market sufficiently to help place the home in its proper classification. Then, too, the fully-qualified salesman should be in a position to closely assess the financing possibilities that will often give the owner all cash, although the home is sold on low terms. There is a saying in the real estate profession: "A home properly listed is half-sold." Add to that a good knowledge of financing on the part of the realtor, and it is more like "90%-sold." If you are about to put your home on the market, or perhaps your listed property has only had a dull reaction on the public, may I offer my services? Kindly call Mr. Douglas Hawkes at Harry Foster Ltd., 1732 Douglas Street. Phone 2-2101 (after hours, 2-4494 or 2-2101).

When Trouble Hits Idyllic Isles Flying Boats Bring Aid Quickly

By J.C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Life in the South Sea islands of romance may not be as idyllic as in novels, but it is still pretty carefree by the standards of the modern world.

It's not much effort to grow food, or to catch it from the sea. Housing is little problem—the materials for a thatched hut grow in abundance. So life, love and laughter go on as always.

But always there have been darker moments. Illness, accidents, hurricanes find these isolated communities with few resources. That has been the case in the past anyway. Infrequent and slow communications have meant that people struck by disaster have struggled through or have died before help could come.

Now, however, the natives of the South Pacific have an ever-present help in time of trouble—a maid of all work which can render help at short notice. It is the flying boat squadron of the Royal New Zealand Air Force, stationed at Lauthala bay, Fiji.

DEFENCE NETWORK

The squadron is part of the free nations' defence network in the Pacific. Equipped with long-range Sunderland flying boats, its task is reconnaissance and tracking down submarines and other enemy craft. Since 1953 it has been stationed in Fiji as part of New Zealand's effort to relieve Britain of some of her defence burden.

But the squadron operates widely outside this official defence sphere. The flying boats are ideal of linking islands with no airfields. They can land anywhere there is a smooth stretch of water—and this covers the large numbers of islands and atolls with a coral reef sheltering a lagoon near the shore.

Its tasks range from dropping supplies to castaways to helping to pacify natives engaged in tribal wars. Recently a feud between two villages in the Lau group led to fist fights, then clashes with sticks and stones, and finally to a pitched battle in which a man was killed and others wounded. A Sunderland flying boat was hastily loaded up with police and officials and in a matter of hours peace was restored.

On isolated Niue island a young man was badly hurt in a blasting accident. The only way to save his sight was to get him quickly to hospital for complicated medical treatment. A Sunderland battled through storms to Niue and took the man nearly 3,000 miles to hospital at Auckland.

When a hurricane swept several island groups and scattered fishing craft and island schooners, the Sunderlands were out again searching for disabled craft and spotting survivors cast ashore on uninhabited islets.

Little League Founder Loses Executive Post

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UP) —Carl E. Stotz, founder of little league baseball, retained his seat on the board of directors today but was out as commissioner.

John M. Lindemuth was named acting commissioner of the Little League Baseball, Inc., Tuesday after Stotz was "relieved of all duties" in the wake of his $300,000 damage suit against the organization.

Stotz claimed his contract with the league included provisions that would enable him to "safeguard the original concepts of the movement." He charged the contract "over a period of time . . . has been breached to the point of endangering the Little League in that the commissioner and volunteer field personnel no longer have a representative voice in policy decisions."

Live Pigskin

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP) — Wide-eyed Nancy Roland, 16-year-old Miss Montreal Alouette, today received a "real live pigskin," replete with real live pig.

Mayor Henry Veiner of Medicine Hat presented the pig to Miss Roland during a brief stop-over here by Miss Alouette and 16 Montreal majorettes who are en route to the Grey Cup football game at Vancouver Saturday. The three-month-old porker, quit alive, will become the official mascot of the majorettes, Miss Roland said.

Sand-Testing May Be Dropped In Moulding VC

LONDON (CP) — The Victoria Cross, the Commonwealth's highest award for military valor, celebrates its 100th birthday in January.

And just possibly the centenary year may see the end of the delicate art of casting the medals in fine sand. Only a few craftsmen are left who can do it.

For the last 100 years, using a master mould made in 1856 and approved by Queen Victoria, each VC has been cast from the heavy bronze of Russian guns captured at Sebastopol during the Crimean War of 1855-56.

In sand - casting, the molten bronze is kept at a constant 2,000 degrees while it is being poured into a sand mould.

New methods, which are replacing time-honored sand-casting techniques, won't work on the coarse bronze of the Russian artillery pieces.

It was found the coarse bronze breaks the ordinary wax mould. Another method tried by the Royal Mint was to cut a die. But the die broke and the attempt was abandoned.

TENDERS

SEALED TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned and marked "TENDER FOR SINGLE DWELLING AT ALERT BAY," will be received up to 12 o'clock noon, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1955, for the construction of one single staff dwelling and related work at Alert Bay, B.C.

Plans, specifications, labour conditions, contract form, form of tender and return tender envelope may be obtained on application to the District Airway Engineer, Department of Transport, 401 Winch Building, Vancouver, B.C., upon receipt of an accepted cheque made payable to the Receiver General of Canada for the sum of $25.00. This cheque will be returned upon the return of the plans and specifications in good condition. Additional information required with regard to interpretation of plans and specifications may be obtained from the aforementioned District Airway Engineer.

Plans and specifications will also be on display at the Victoria Builders Exchange, 816 Wharf Street, Victoria, B.C.

Each tender must be accompanied by a security deposit equal to ten per cent (10%) of the tender price which security deposit will be forfeited in the event of a tenderer refusing to enter into a contract on the basis of his tender if called upon to do so, or failing to satisfactorily complete such a contract. Cheques of unsuccessful tenderers will be returned.

Any tender not accompanied by a security deposit as described will not be considered.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

UEI Descendants Working On Plans for Frontier Museum

MORRISBURG, Ont. (CP)—Rare United Empire Loyalist relics—tools and furnishings used by the first settlers on the north shore of the upper St. Lawrence river—are being gathered for a frontier museum.

The museum will be one of the main features of a parkway to be built between Iroquois, Ont., and Cornwall when flooding of the valley is completed after construction of the seaway-power project.

George Challies, chairman of the St. Lawrence development commission, said most of the early settlers had to make their own possessions out of materials they found here." And those are the possessions we want to feature in our museum program."

Residents of the 30,000 acres to go under water are searching their family attics and barn lofts to unearth the relics of a frontier era along the riverfront.

Experts who viewed an old wooden plow uncovered recently said it could not be duplicated in Canada.

The museum will be built on the Crysler Farm battlefield, site of Fenian raids east of here.

Mr. Challies also said four Ontario artists have been commissioned to paint well known views of the St. Lawrence river.

"This project is a great thing, but we don't want the next generation not to know the river the way God made it," he said.

School Leaders Hit Conduct at Student Parties

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The heads of 35 leading private schools in New South Wales have issued a warning to parents about undesirable behavior and influences which have become evident at parties and dances attended by schoolchildren.

They said:

There is a lack of modesty and good manners.

Children are allowed to have strong drink and to smoke.

Lights are turned out during dances.

Dances and parties go on too late.

In an open letter sent to more than 5,000 parents the school headmasters and headmistresses have appealed for immediate and strict adult supervision to end the bad influences.

The appeal is the result of a number of unpleasant and unseemly incidents at dances and parties which have been brought to the notice of the authorities.

The letter emphasized that boys and girls needed to be taught to change partners at dances, rather than dance with the one person all evening. Strict supervision of dancing partners would help prevent the calf-love affairs common to school children when they start party-going.

LONDON (CP) — Gordon Wallace, 26-year-old Brantford, Ont., fighter, who knocked out Randy Turpin in October, will fight an ex-middleweight boxer, Terance Murphy, of London, in a 10-round contest Dec. 6 at Harringay Arena.

James Turns To Hockey

WINNIPEG (CP)—Bill Boivin, manager of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, said Tuesday night he hopes the signing of Gerry James by the Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League will not mean the end of a great football career.

"We're willing to talk with James next year after he has had his taste of hockey," Boivin said. "This still doesn't mean the end of football for James—he has to make the Toronto team first."

Cassady Gets Canadian Offer

CLEVELAND, O. (UP) — Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, Ohio State's ace halfback, reported today he's received "substantial offers" to play professional football in Canada

Cassady said he was "tempted" by the offers, but has made no decision. The halfback said he had heard nothing official about another rumored offer: to make a movie short with cowboy star of similar name, William (Hopalong) Cassidy) Boyd.

Regarding the professional football offers, the red-headed romper confessed, "I'd like to play for the Cleveland Browns—but then, who wouldn't?"

AEC CHAIRMAN WARNS

Reds Outstrip U.S. In Science Training

WEST GRANGE, N.J. (UP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission has warned that the United States faces possible disaster because Russia is winning the "cold war of the classrooms."

Strauss called for immediate action to match Russia's stepped-up program of training engineers and scientists. The "already dangerous" situation could become "disastrous" within less than a decade, he said.

In a speech prepared for the sixth Institute of the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation, Strauss said: "Between 1950 and 1960, which may be the most critical decade of our national existence, Russia is expected to produce 1,200,000 trained engineers and scientists, against our 900,000."

He said the United States currently is about even with the Soviets in the number of trained scientists and engineers and probably has more top-notch men.

But, he said, "the emphasis which the Soviets are placing on science . . . presents a real and growing challenge to us, and to the free world."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy?

Andy, who is a pixie, not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive as prizes, for the main question, either a 16-volume set of "The Children's Hour" or a 20-volume set of "The American People's Encyclopedia." Prizes for the secondary question will be an "American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Trails" plus "Andy's Everyday Encyclopedia."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy", Victoria Daily Times, Victoria.

Andy sends a complete 20-volume set of The American Peoples Encyclopedia to Jimmie Miller, aged 11, of Albany, N.Y., for his question:

Was Aesop a Real Person?

Those wonderful Greeks of long age were great talkers. They had plenty of thoughtful things to say. And they said them well. To them, conversation and story telling were great arts. They were interested in the facts about everyday things. They spoke of nature, science and most especially of how people could get along well together. Some of their ideas of government still live in our own form of government.

And the Greeks loved beauty. They admired it in every form —art, athletic games and bodily health. Above all they admired intelligent and beautiful thoughts. This is mostly what they talked about. Strange to say, two of their most beautiful talkers were squat and ugly little men. After over 200 centuries, the ideas of these two men are still remembered. Yet neither of them wrote down their ideas.

The great Socrates talked of philosophy — a study which means love of wisdom. And people listened. His words were recorded by his pupil, Plato. Socrates helped people to understand themselves in order to get along together. His words were straightforward and often sharp.

Aesop was the other unattractive Greek who used beautiful words. He lived a hundred years or so before the great Socrates. Unlike Socrates, Aesop could not speak out his words of correction and criticism directly. For he was a slave. And people did not want their slaves to tell them better ways to live.

So Aesop wrapped his critical lessons in stories — stories of animals. He told tales of silly frogs who came to grief. He told of cunning foxes who outsmarted themselves. He told of powerful lions who used their strength selfishly. And no one minded hearing tales of foolish and crafty animals.

Often they got the point of the story later. Why, I'm acting just like that crafty fox, they would think. Or, I don't want to be like that cruel lion or that silly frog. And Aesop had got his fable, his lesson in the story, across. When you read or hear one of his fables, you may well find yourself thinking afterwards, that could mean me!

Aesop's master was a wise and fair man. He heard his slave tell his fables to the children and members of his household. This man, he thought, should not be a slave. And Aesop was given his freedom. He went to live at a king's court. There a great many important people listened to his fables and learned from them.

We know for sure that Aesop was a real person. We are not too certain about the years of his birth and death. He is thought to have lived about eighty years.

* * *

Andy sends a copy of The American Peoples Encyclopedia Yearbook to Louis Lelyveld, aged 11, of Rockland, Mass., for his question:

How did house cats live before they became pets?

Cats, we are told, first became pets in ancient Egypt. The people there had a very good reason for wanting them around. They noticed that certain plagues never struck the cities that had lots of cats. We know that this is because cats catch rats, and those terrible plagues were carried by rats. So, plagues were less common because the rat population was kept low by the cats.

These untamed cats probably lived like many alley cats live today. They fed themselves from rats, mice and whatever scraps they could find in the cities. Farm cats often live in this way. They keep the barnyards free of rats and mice. Sometimes they also hunt for a snack in the woods.

Cats make lovely house pets and may not seem to miss their freedom outdoors. But they are very capable animals. They can look after themselves under all sorts of conditions. If necessary, the tamest house cat can fend for herself and return to half wild state outdoors—though she prefers to be adopted by a good human family.

OUT OUR WAY.

KOOTENAY TAXPAYERS IRKED

Village Funds Short —Too Many IOUs

KINNAIRD, B.C. (CP)—A shortage of $1,576 in village funds has been disclosed at this Kootenay valley community with the formation of a ratepayers' association.

The association was formed Monday night and immediately drafted a list of questions to put to the village commission.

Topping the list was a request for information concerning the shortage.

Following the meeting, A. A Lambert, commission chairman, said the shortage amounted to $1,576 and was discovered by a newly-appointed auditor.

The shortage is covered by a promissory note, signed by R. J. Morice, former clerk, Mr. Lambert said.

The chairman said the bulk of the shortage resulted from bad cheques and IOU's cashed while Mr. Morice was village clerk. Although Mr. Morice did not receive any of the money himself, Mr. Lambert said, he "has taken on the responsibility of making good the loss."

The association asked the commission why the village paid $3,750 for a subdivision water system one month after the same system had been offered for sale for $2,500 and refused by the village.

Ratepayers also asked why no chlorination plant was built after taxes were raised to cover the cost of one.

The questions will be sent to the commission with a request that they be answered at a public forum two days prior to the Dec. 8 elections.

Gerald Rust was elected head of the ratepayers' association; Frank Watkin is vice-president and Mrs. Beulah Wright secretary-treasurer.

CO-PILOT OF PLANE which crashed shortly after taking off from Seattle, killing 27 of 74 aboard, was Fred Hall, seen recovering from injuries. Pilot has blamed crash on defective propeller.

MAN HELD, SHOT SISTER

SMITHERS (CP) — Mrs. Marvin Paul, 24, of Telkwa, B.C., is in critical condition with a bullet wound, and her brother, David Robert Alec, 35, is charged with criminal negligence.

Police said Alec fired one shot over her home and one through it from a home-made 6.5 mm rifle. The second bullet passed through the victim's body from one side to the other after piercing the wall of her home.

Piece of Pie Provokes Ontario Racialism Charge

TORONTO (CP)—A piece of apple pie led today to the launching of a charge of color discrimination in a Dresden, Ont., restaurant. Dresden is 10 miles north of Chatham.

Two University of Toronto Negro students filed complaints alleging they were refused service in the restaurant because of their color.

Their charges were submitted to the provincial labor department, which will decide whether the attorney-general should seek prosecution under the province's Fair Accommodation Practices Act.

Percy Bruce and Jake Alleyne, both 26, said they were unable to buy milk shakes and apple pie at the restaurant although they asked a waitress, cook and the proprietor for service.

Five minutes later, they said, a white student, Robert Van Alstyne, ordered pie and got it.

ACCIDENT-FREE DEC. 1 URGED BY RCMP HEAD

Citizens of this area have been asked to pledge support of police chiefs backing an accident-free 24 hours, Dec. 1, as part of a nation-wide campaign for one day without death or disaster.

Public co-operation, said RCMP Assistant Commissioner C. E. Rivett-Carnac, is of first importance, as "85 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents are due to human behavior."

He urged both motorists and pedestrians to observe "the spirit" of all traffic regulations.

"They must be courteous and give full attention to driving and walking," he said.

Church Service Set For Grey Cup Fans

KAMLOOPS, B. C. (CP) — Grey Cup supporters, returning to the East Sunday morning by special train, will have the opportunity to attend church services here.

Canon J. C. Jolley of St. Paul's Anglican Cathedral will be at the depot to hold services for the travellers. The special train is due at 7:55 a.m.

DISTEMPER EPIDEMIC KILLS 30 SPCA DOGS

Highly contagious distemper of near-epidemic proportions has hit dogs of this area, SPCA inspector Edward Heywood said today.

At the SPCA kennels alone more than 30 dogs had to be destroyed within the last week.

Symptoms are general listlesness and loss of appetite by dogs affected.

The inspector urged all dog owners to get their animals inoculated. Without inoculation, distemper kills. There is no cure.

The disease is not infectious for humans.

Grey Cup Jinks Hit Vancouver

Traffic Snarled as City Welcomes Montreal Majorettes

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fifteen high-stepping majorettes from Montreal snarled morning traffic today as they twirled their way through downtown Vancouver streets.

The girls, part of the Montreal Alouette contingent attending the Grey Cup festivities, arrived as Vancouver swung into step with the celebration.

Trucks, buses and cars ground to a quiet halt as the majorettes marched from the CPR station to their hotel.

Nancy Roland, Miss Alouette in the Miss Grey Cup contest, held her usual spot in the ranks of the majorettes.

Also aboard the train bringing the majorettes to Vancouver was Miss Edmonton Eskimo—Barbara Beddome, 18.

Loudly dressed Montreal and Edmonton fans were first to pile off the train and be greeted with cheers from the near-thousand spectators gathered at the station.

Miss Eskimo, 36-25-36, was wearing a full-length white nylon parka. Miss Alouette, by contrast, was wearing her official costume of a short white skirt and red majorette jacket.

PIG STEALS SHOW

Majorettes arrived with a mascot—a young pig—in tow. The pig, Miss Ella Wetta, stole the show momentarily as it snuggled in Miss Alouette's arms.

A close Edmonton victory over Montreal was predicted by Miss Eskimo. Miss Alouette made no comment.

J. C. Carrique, chairman of the Montreal football council and in charge of special events and the band, arrived with the 15 girls. Mrs. Carrique is head chaperone of the group.

The majorettes performed at all major stops on the way out.

Mayor Fred Hume, scheduled to be at the reception, did not appear. A desk set, sent by Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal to be presented at the station, was held for presentation later.

Meanwhile, football fanatics began queueing up for standing-room tickets seven hours before the ducats were scheduled to go on sale.

A light snow and a heavy rain didn't discourage the several blocks long lineup.

TORONTO (CP)—As far as Bill Earley is concerned, put your money on Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup classic.

Earley, assistant coach of Toronto Argonauts in the Big Four football union, says Eskimos will tear Montreal Alouettes' line apart.

"I honestly think the Edmonton line will rip Montreal to shreds," Earley said at a Quarterback Club meeting.

FANS LINE UP ALL NIGHT FOR GRID TICKETS

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—Some 3,500 standing-room tickets to Saturday's Grey Cup game were on sale here today, and several hundred die-hard football fans stood up in an all-night downpour to buy them. At dawn the queue was more than a block long.

Several fans brought folding chairs to wait out the night, while others played cards to pass the time.

Everybody In Act on Cup Weather

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forecasters from one side of the continent to the other have been calling the signals for Grey Cup day weather.

"It won't be too unpleasant," said the public weather office forecaster here.

From Washington, D.C., a long-range weatherman said "almost no chance of fog."

In Montreal, a businessman with an interest in such things says it looks like rain Saturday.

Bernard Power, vice-president of a rain-making company, expects two minor storms to affect Vancouver for the rest of the week.

A watery snowshower fell on the coast city Tuesday and more rain mixed with snow was predicted Tuesday night.

Light winds are expected Saturday with the temperature in the high 30s or low 40s.

Communist Kicked Out Of Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (UP)—France today kicked the leader of the outlawed Communist party out of Morocco.

Police nabbed party secretary General Ali Yata when he got off a plane at Casablanca airport Tuesday night while demonstrators roamed the streets of the great port city they shut down with a general strike.

Yata was held overnight in the airport police station and authorities put him back aboard a plane this morning for France. He has been barred from Morocco since 1952.

Violence was widespread in the protectorate. French troops and planes battled a punitive expedition by extreme nationalists

Men 'Cherry-Picked' Off Radar Tower

BOSTON (UP)—A sea-going tug arrived here today with a cheering group of air force officers and technicians who were marooned six days aboard a storm-lashed Texas tower radar island, the nation's first off-shore radar warning station.

The men had gone to the steel island-on-legs last Thursday for a "brief" inspection trip. The storm marooned them till Tuesday.

Transfer of the men for the Texas tower to the tug turned out to be a slick piece of seamanship. Heavy seas Tuesday made it rugged for the lumbering vessel.

The marooned men were lifted by crane from the "deck" of the triangle-shaped tower and set on the heaving El Sol, where even experienced seamen had difficulty keeping their footing.

They were transferred six at a time in a specially-constructed basket. A big, grinning New Yorker, Tom Barrett, swung the crane with the accuracy of a man threading a needle to the deck of the El Sol.

Several times the basket overturned, spilling the occupants to the deck, but there were no injuries. Tug captain Patrick Carlough of Seattle said that it was "a pretty tricky operation."

Three Quit Campbell River Commission

Up-Island Town Lacks Government

CAMPBELL RIVER — Jack W. Baikie, chairman of the Campbell River village commission, today followed the lead of two other commissioners and resigned his post because a firm with which he is connected did business with the village.

On Tuesday, Commissioners Sidney Waterfield and Carl Thulin resigned, saying they were "being unjustly accused of irregularities." Their firms also dealt with the village, it was charged here.

They could be held liable for heavy penalties.

Mr. Baikie resigned, fearing disqualification because of dealings of Baikie Lumber Co. with the village.

NO GOVERNMENT

The mass resignation has left the village without a government, since the two remaining commissioners, John Lambie and Charles Granholm, do not constitute a quorum.

Department of municipal affairs officials have not yet made a decision on immediate administration of the village because they have not received Mr. Baikie's resignation, nor have they checked on the commission seats that would be open in the normal course of events in the December elections.

The two-year terms of Mr. Waterfield and Mr. Thulin were due to expire in December, and elections would be held to fill their seats. Mr. Baikie had another year to serve.

A disqualified office-holder faces heavy penalties if the corporation or any ratepayer brings suit. Under the Municipal Act, he can be fined $2,500 if the court finds they were conducting dealings with themselves, and can be fined $50 per day for every day he sits or votes as a member of the commission after having disqualified himself.

The matter was discussed on Tuesday night at a well-attended meeting in the village hall when commissioner John Lambie discussed the situation.

CAST VOTES

He said the two commissioners had voted Aug. 8 as members of the finance committee for payment of village accounts to private firms. They called for payment of $477.68 to Van-Isle Logging Equipment Co. Ltd., of which Mr. Waterfield is a partner, and Pioneer Hardware, of which Mr. Thulin is a partner.

It is understood Mr. Baikie's resignation followed a meeting Tuesday with J. E. Brown, deputy municipal affairs minister.

Mr. Lambie said he also had conferred with Mr. Brown, and had been instructed to "give them the works."

CHIEF DEAD

Chief of Oak Bay Fire Department for over 17 years, Edward G. Clayards died at his home today. Mr. Clayards had been chief of the department since it was organized in 1938. (See story Page 21.)

Nurse Acquitted On Drug Count

LILLOOET (CP)—Joyce Babcock, 29, was acquitted Tuesday in County Court of a charge of illegal possession of narcotics.

Trial of the nurse, formerly on the staff of Lillooet Hospital, lasted five days, two days of which were taken up by argument over the admission of two signed confessions, said by police to have been made by the accused at the time of her arrest.

The prosecution conceded the confessions had been obtained while she was being held on a charge of vagrancy, and that she was later charged with illegal possession.

Drugs missing from the hospital dispensary were found buried in a sawdust bin in the hospital furnace room.

Judge Henry Castillou ruled there was insufficient evidence to convict Miss Babcock.

WREXHAM, Wales (AP)—Austria defeated Wales 2-1 today in an international soccer game.

Foreign Office Probes Action Against Britons

LONDON (UP)—Chinese Communist troops seized two British mountain climbers and their Sherpa guide high in the Himalayas along the Nepal-Tibet border, the expedition's sponsors reported today.

The foreign office confirmed that it has ordered urgent inquiries into the fate of the three men.

Their capture was reported in the Liverpool Daily Post, co-sponsor of the Himalayan expedition with the Mountaineering Club of North Wales.

HELD SINCE OCT. 22

An emergency dispatch from the remaining four members of the party reported the three were seized Oct. 22 near Urai Langa pass on the largely uncharted Tibetan-Nepalese border, the paper said.

Tibet is claimed by Red China as an "autonomous region." Red Chinese troops occupy the relatively inaccessible nation.

The foreign office said it has asked the governments of Nepal and neighboring India for information on the arrests.

A spokesman said there would be no diplomatic representations to Red China, although Britain maintains diplomatic relations with China, pending reports from Nepal.

15-Year-Old Girl 19th Polio Case

City health authorities today announced the 19th case of polio in the Victoria-Esquimalt area this year.

Admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital Tuesday was a 15-year-old Esquimalt girl. This brings to almost 40 the number of cases admitted in 1955 by the hospital, treatment centre for all of Vancouver Island.

ABANDON HOPE FOR 24 MEN ON FREIGHTER

BOSTON (UP)—Hope was abandoned for 24 crew men today when a Coastguard plane failed to spot any trace of the Liberian freighter Daytona, which has been missing three days in the stormy Atlantic.

Soviet Chiefs Get Big Hand At Bombay

BOMBAY (Reuters) — Huge crowds today raised thunderous cheers as Soviet Premier Bulganin and Russia's Communist party chief, Nikita Khrushchev, arrived by air for a two-day visit during their tour of India.

Thousands of children, waving Soviet and Indian flags, threw flowers at the Russians, and a flock of white doves was released over the airport.

Bulganin inspected a guard of honor provided by the Indian navy and mounted a platform where Indian officials made welcoming speeches. The Soviet premier replied by extending to the people of Bombay "the friendly and warm greetings from the people of the Soviet Union."

CROWD SHOUTS SLOGANS

Throughout the welcoming ceremony, the crowd kept shouting slogans for Indian-Soviet friendship.

The scenes were similar to those upon the Russian leaders' arrival in New Delhi last Friday, and contrasted with violence in Bombay only two days ago.

That city was the scene of riots Sunday and Monday. Twelve persons were killed and 250 injured as Communists and other left-wing groups demonstrated against government proposals to divide Bombay state into three parts.

State of Siege Nears In Brazilian Crisis

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Provisional President Nereu Ramos Tuesday night asked congress to declare a state of siege—modified martial law—throughout Brazil.

In a message delivered to the lawmakers as the country apparently weathered its second grave political crisis in two days, Ramos asked that the state of siege be set for a 30-day period — the maximum allowed by the constitution.

The message was read first to the Chamber of Deputies and then sent to the Senate. Although such declarations are limited to 30 days each, Congress can extend state-of-siege laws indefinitely.

The provisional president's request came just a day after Joao Cafe Filho precipitated the latest crisis by attempting to end his sick leave and return to the presidency.

His demands for reinstatement in a message to Congress Monday night were met by prompt military action. The army under Gen. Henrique Lott, war minister in the provisional cabinet which was installed in a coup last week, seized control of the capital.

SUPPORT RAMOS

Both houses of Congress then passed a formal resolution rejecting Cafe's claim that he could resume presidential functions. The resolution said Cafe's leave of absence could be ended only by congressional decision.

In a joint statement Tuesday night, the army, navy and air force ministers pledged their backing to Ramos and said the "armed forces maintain their firm decision to assure the public tranquility and stability of the regime."

City Tug, Tow Battle Through Gale, Blizzard

The Victoria tug Sudbury, towing the Greek freighter Makedonia, fought her way through a blizzard and easterly gale overnight in the Bering Sea, and early this morning cleared Unimak Strait. Tug and tow are now in the north Pacific, headed for Vancouver.

Capt. Harley Blagborne of Sudbury reported to the owners, Island Tug & Barge, by radiophone that the blizzard was "a real dandy." He did not give wind velocity.

Despite adverse winds, the tow is averaging six knots, because temporary repairs are enabling Makedonia to turn her damaged propeller slowly. If all goes well, Vancouver will be reached in about 10 days.

Temperatures To Dip But Snow Unlikely

A storm immediately off the B.C. coast is drawing cold Arctic air from the mainland to launch a "minor league" cold snap, weatherman William Mackie said today.

"We are heading for lower temperatures, but nothing like the cold spell that started Nov 11," he said.

He expects precipitation tonight, with some snow mixed with rain early Thursday morning. Precipitation on higher levels will be snow, he said, adding that "it's too warm here—40 degrees—for snow."

Snow was reported today at Port Alberni, Campbell River, Comox, and Nanaimo.

Temperature range tonight and Thursday will be from 28 to 38 degrees, Mr. Mackie said.

MONTREAL LOVELIES WELCOMED

When Montreal Alouettes battle Edmonton Esks at Vancouver Saturday for Grey Cup this group of majorettes will be rooting for eastern champs. Girls received royal welcome on arrival today in mainland city. The girls perform at all home games of Montreal squad.

Soviet Chiefs Get Big Hand At Bombay

BOMBAY (Reuters) — Huge crowds today raised thunderous cheers as Soviet Premier Bulganin and Russia's Communist party chief, Nikita Khrushchev, arrived by air for a two-day visit during their tour of India.

Thousands of children, waving Soviet and Indian flags, threw flowers at the Russians, and a flock of white doves was released over the airport.

Bulganin inspected a guard of honor provided by the Indian navy and mounted a platform where Indian officials made welcoming speeches. The Soviet premier replied by extending to the people of Bombay "the friendly and warm greetings from the people of the Soviet Union."

CROWD SHOUTS SLOGANS

Throughout the welcoming ceremony, the crowd kept shouting slogans for Indian-Soviet friendship.

The scenes were similar to those upon the Russian leaders' arrival in New Delhi last Friday, and contrasted with violence in Bombay only two days ago.

That city was the scene of riots Sunday and Monday. Twelve persons were killed and 250 injured as Communists and other left-wing groups demonstrated against government proposals to divide Bombay state into three parts.

Chinese Reds Seize Himalaya Climbers

Foreign Office Probes Action Against Britishers Month Ago

LONDON (UP)—Chinese Communist troops seized two British mountain climbers and their Sherpa guide high in the Himalayas along the Nepal-Tibet border, the expedition's sponsors reported today.

The foreign office confirmed that it has ordered urgent inquiries into the fate of the three men.

Their capture was reported in the Liverpool Daily Post, co-sponsor of the Himalayan expedition with the Mountaineering Club of North Wales.

The Post identified the missing climbers as Sidney Wignal, leader of the expedition, and John Harrop. The third man was a Sherpa, one of the Himalayan tribesmen who specialize in helping climbing expeditions

HELD SINCE OCT. 22

An emergency dispatch from the remaining four members of the party reported the three were seized Oct. 22 near Urai Langa pass on the largely uncharted Tibetan-Nepalese border, the paper said.

Tibet is claimed by Red China as an "autonomous region." Red Chinese troops occupy the relatively inaccessible nation.

The foreign office said it has asked the governments of Nepal and neighboring India for information on the arrests.

A spokesman said there would be no diplomatic representations to Red China, although Britain maintains diplomatic relations with China, pending reports from Nepal.

Political Parley

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—President Eisenhower today called Republican national chairman Leonard W. Hall to a political conference here Nov. 28. Press secretary James C. Hagerty said the president wants to talk to Hall about "matters dealing with the Republican party."

ABANDON HOPE FOR 24 MEN ON FREIGHTER

BOSTON (UP)—Hope was abandoned for 24 crew men today when a Coastguard plane failed to spot any trace of the Liberian freighter Daytona, which has been missing three days in the stormy Atlantic.

Nurse Acquitted On Drug Count

LILLOOET (CP)—Joyce Babcock, 29, was acquitted Tuesday in County Court of a charge of illegal possession of narcotics.

Trial of the nurse, formerly on the staff of Lillooet Hospital, lasted five days, two days of which were taken up by argument over the admission of two signed confessions, said by police to have been made by the accused at the time of her arrest.

The prosecution conceded the confessions had been obtained while she was being held on a charge of vagrancy, and that she was later charged with illegal possession.

Drugs missing from the hospital dispensary were found buried in a sawdust bin in the hospital furnace room.

Judge Henry Castillou ruled there was insufficient evidence to convict Miss Babcock.

15-Year-Old Girl 19th Polio Case

City health authorities today announced the 19th case of polio in the Victoria-Esquimalt area this year.

Admitted to Royal Jubilee Hospital Tuesday was a 15-year-old Esquimalt girl. This brings to almost 40 the number of cases admitted in 1955 by the hospital, treatment centre for all of Vancouver Island.

Lithe Majorettes Snarl Traffic; Team Delayed

WINNIPEG (CP)—The chartered plane carrying Montreal Alouettes to Vancouver and the Grey Cup final was delayed in Winnipeg for more than two hours today due to mechanical trouble. It is due to arrive in Vancouver at 7.10 p.m.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fifteen high-stepping majorettes from Montreal snarled morning traffic today as they twirled their way through downtown Vancouver streets.

The girls, part of the Montreal Alouette contingent attending the Grey Cup festivities, arrived as Vancouver swung into step with the celebration.

Trucks, buses and cars ground to a quiet halt as the majorettes marched from the CPR station to their hotel.

Nancy Roland, Miss Alouette in the Miss Grey Cup contest, held her usual spot in the ranks of the majorettes. (See page 3.)

Also aboard the train bringing the majorettes to Vancouver was Miss Edmonton Eskimo—Barbara Beddome, 18.

Loudly dressed Montreal and Edmonton fans were first to pile off the train and be greeted with cheers from the near-thousand spectators gathered at the station.

Miss Eskimo, 36-25-36, was wearing a full-length white nylon parka. Miss Alouette, by contrast, was wearing her official costume of a short white skirt and red majorette jacket.

PIG STEALS SHOW

Majorettes arrived with a mascot—a young pig—in tow. The pig, Miss Ella Wetta, stole the show momentarily as it snuggled in Miss Alouette's arms.

A close Edmonton victory over Montreal was predicted by Miss Eskimo. Miss Alouette made no comment.

J. C. Carrique, chairman of the Montreal football council and in charge of special events and the band, arrived with the 15 girls. Mrs. Carrique is head chaperone of the group.

The majorettes performed at all major stops on the way out.

Mayor Fred Hume, scheduled to be at the reception, did not appear. A desk set, sent by Mayor Jean Drapeau of Montreal to be presented at the station, was held for presentation later.

TORONTO (CP)—As far as Bill Earley is concerned, put your money on Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup classic.

FANS LINE UP ALL NIGHT FOR GRID TICKETS

VANCOUVER, B.C. (BUP)—Some 3,500 standing-room tickets to Saturday's Grey Cup game were on sale here today, and several hundred die-hard football fans stood up in an all-night downpour to buy them. At dawn the queue was more than a block long.

Several fans brought folding chairs to wait out the night, while others played cards to pass the time.

Everybody In Act on Cup Weather

VANCOUVER (CP) — Forecasters from one side of the continent to the other have been calling the signals for Grey Cup day weather.

"It won't be too unpleasant," said the public weather office forecaster here.

From Washington, D.C., a long-range weatherman said "almost no chance of fog."

In Montreal, a businessman with an interest in such things says it looks like rain Saturday.

Bernard Power, vice-president of a rain-making company, expects two minor storms to affect Vancouver for the rest of the week.

A watery snowshower fell on the coast city Tuesday and more rain mixed with snow was predicted Tuesday night.

Light winds are expected Saturday with the temperature in the high 30s or low 40s.

'Hot-Rod' Bandit

VANCOUVER (CP) — An armed bandit fled in an old model "hot-rod" coupe after slugging cafe operator George Leong today and robbing him of $260.

State of Siege Nears In Brazilian Crisis

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Provisional President Nereu Ramos Tuesday night asked congress to declare a state of siege—modified martial law—throughout Brazil.

In a message delivered to the lawmakers as the country apparently weathered its second grave political crisis in two days, Ramos asked that the state of siege be set for a 30-day period — the maximum allowed by the constitution.

The message was read first to the Chamber of Deputies and then sent to the Senate. Although such declarations are limited to 30 days each, Congress can extend state-of-siege laws indefinitely.

The provisional president's request came just a day after Joao Cafe Filho precipitated the latest crisis by attempting to end his sick leave and return to the presidency.

His demands for reinstatement in a message to Congress Monday night were met by prompt military action. The army under Gen. Henrique Lott, war minister in the provisional cabinet which was installed in a coup last week, seized control of the capital.

SUPPORT RAMOS

Both houses of Congress then passed a formal resolution rejecting Cafe's claim that he could resume presidential functions. The resolution said Cafe's leave of absence could be ended only by congressional decision.

In a joint statement Tuesday night, the army, navy and air force ministers pledged their backing to Ramos and said the "armed forces maintain their firm decision to assure the public tranquility and stability of the regime."
